Former Mayor Of Havana Said To Be Heading 2000 Followers

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Aug. 13.—Cuba was seething with revolt today and, with thousands taking to the woods to join isolated bands of insurrectionists, it appeared that the situation faced by President Machado was growing more serious.

What government sources described as a decisive action against the rebels began at Ceja Del Rio and Tubirio in the Province of Pinar Del Rio where loyal troops used machine guns, killing ten and taking numerous prisoners. Planes with gas bombs were on the way to this province to assist ground forces.

Ready For Battle

Rebels and loyalists at Ceja Del Rio were facing each other on the historic battlefield where the Cuban national hero, Maceo, defeated superior Spanish forces in 1896.

An official communique said that ten rebels were killed in fighting at Lomas Del Toro. Guerilla fighting was reported from various places and a rebel attack was said to be in progress at Colon, Province of Matanzas.

Havana citizens acquainted with the rebel chieftain, General Menocal, discounted the report that he had been cornered near Mantua, Pinar Del Rio. They pointed out that the wily former "Tyrant President" was an experienced revolutionist and had himself suppressed a revolt during his administration. They said that developments indicated that the revolutionary plot

Greek Priest Accepts Detroit Call To Church

It is with much regret that the Greek population of the city accepted the resignation of Rev. Joakim Papichristou, D. D. from the St. George Greek Orthodox church, corner Agnew and Reynolds street.

Fr. Papichriston has been in charge of the parish here for the past two years and in that time has made great progress in the upbuilding of the church and ideals of the Greek residents of the city.

During his pastorate the congregation bought and remodeled the St George's church.

Fr. Papichriston has been called to Detroit, Mich., where he will have a larger field for carrying on his spiritual work and the best wishes of his entire congregation go with him as he enters upon this work.

'Dream Murderess' In West Virginia Held In Custody

Mrs. Evelyn Harader, 42, Mother Of Young Girl, Kills Postmaster

IS ARRESTED, AND CONFESSES CRIME

Tells Police She Was Guided By Hallucination To Kill Young Man

(International News Service)

CLIFTON MILLS, W. Va., Aug. 13—A "dream murder" in which the murderess, an attractive matron of Uniontown, Pa., was urged by hallucinations to take the life of the postmaster of this little village, was revealed today with the capture of Mrs. Evelyn Harader, 42, mother of a 10-year-old school girl.

Mrs. Harader, sobbing hysterically, was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff W. C. Roth, who drove from Kingwood to Clifton Mills on receipt of word of the tragedy.

The victim was Cecil R. Michael 25, married and the father of three children.

Received "Message".

Mrs. Harader was quoted by Deputy Roth as saying she received a "message" to kill Michael. Roth said she told him she arose from bed, and clad only in scanty night clothing walked to Michael's little confectionery store and postoffice and fired one shot. Michael died almost instantly.

Before dying, he gasped out the name of Mrs. Harader as his assailant.

Roth said:

"Mrs. Harader said she had been guided by a 'code message' received while she slept. She had no ill feeling for Michael. She even showed me the gun with one bullet missing."

Roth took Mrs. Harader to a state hospital for examination by alienists. He said murder charges already have been preferred.

Philly Leader Dies Suddenly

Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham Stricken While In Atlantic City, N. J.

WAS A POWER IN VARE ORGANIZATION

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. Aug. 13—Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham, 72, of Philadelphia, died in the Atlantic City hospital here at 8:35 a. m. today. He had been ill for a few days of a general breakdown and heart attack.

For years Cunningham had been a close associate of Wm. S. Vare, G. O. P. leader of Philadelphia, and had played a prominent part in Philadelphia politics. Only a few months ago he was feted by his followers and termed the "noblest Roman of them all," in reference to his work during the last Pennsylvania General Assembly, in opposition to the policies of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, bitter enemy of Vare and his followers.

Only One Setback

It is believed by many of his followers that Cunningham's death was hastened by his failure recently to "put across" George H. Biles as the Republican organization's choice for mayor. It was the worst political setback he ever received and caused a rift in the friendship of Vare and Cunningham.

Long a close ally of Vare, Cunningham showed his loyality to his friend in 1926 when he was hailed twice before the Senate a investigating committee headed by ex-Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri.

Although persistently interrogated as to where he had obtained the $50,000 he had contributed to the Vare Senatorial campaign fund, he DETROIT, Aug. 13.—Planned and orderly development of national resources and organization to take care of the unemployed of the nation during the coming winter today were advocated as the two chief necessities of the country by Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, in an address to the mayor's unemployment committee here.

"The nation," declared the Pennsylvania governor, "is in the grip of a great depression, from Point Barrow to Key West. A depression like this is not merely an economic calamity. It is a threat to our institutions. It supplies the soil for growth of ideas of government hostile to our own.

Texas Governor In Oil Battle

STERLING WILL SIGN MEASURE

(International News Service)

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 13.—Governor Ross Sterling of Texas, was today allied with Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma in the fight to raise the price of oil.

The Texas executive was expected to sign a bill passed by the house and senate late yesterday, designed to curtail production of oil in the state 20 per cent.

Broadening the definition of waste as it is referred to in the present conservation act, the bill provides for proration of individual pools. The railroad commission is charged with administration of the law.

There was little doubt that Governor Sterling would approve the measure. Before its passage, he threatened to follow Governor Murray's example of using the militia to close down the oil wells.

Special Session Threat Is Made

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot Says "Governor Intends Calling Special Session"

HOPES TO GET UTILITY ACTION

(International News Service)

BENTON, Pa., Aug. 13.—Excitement over the reported "boom" for Mrs. Gifford Pinchot as a candidate for congress from the 15th district today was dissipated and political leaders turned to the prospect of a reopening of the battle between the Governor and public utilities in 1932.

Speaking at a grange meeting here the wife of the Governor avoided all mention of reports that she would be a congressional candidate, but told her hearers "there's going to be a special session of the legislature at which time the governor hopes to get through his public utility legislation."

Promise Recalled

The statement recalled the promise of the Governor, made shortly after the last session of the legislature adjourned, that he would summon the assembly in special session early in 1932 to take up questions of public utility regulation again, his program having been substantially defeated at the last session.

In her address, Mrs. Pinchot reviewed the governor's record of utility and conservation work and said the "public has to get behind the Governor for the success of his project."

Congressman and Mrs. J. Howard Swick, of Beaver Falls, were in New Castle Wednesday. They attended the reunion at Cascade Park.

Some Of The High Spots Touched At The Reunion Of Old Timers

It was James K. Kelley, of Gary, Indiana who was in the center of that one particular circle of Old Timers on the Cascade Park dance pavilion yesterday. They hadn't seen old Jim for many a year and they were eating up every word he uttered. And Jim hadn't been in New Castle for 20 years. "I have been in New Castle exactly five hours now," he was telling the old friends, "And I have got more thrills in those five hours than I have had the past five years."

"Why, you wouldn't believe me when I tell you I wouldn't have known this was New Castle if that monument on the public square had been removed. It is about the only thing that is the same. I half expected Cascade Park to look the same, I thought maybe I would see the same houses—but it is a different place," Jim continued. Every minute or so he would see another old friend and bring him into the circle of long ago.

There was so much comment about the little black dog running around in the pavilion, that the writer caught up with it's owner and inquired as to the ancestry of the pup. "It is a Japanese Peke" she explained. Everywhere the little ball of black fur went, it attracted such remarks as, "Oh, the dear little thing!" and "Isn't it just the most adorable!" The tinkle, tinkle effect was caused by a bell on it's dainty little neck.

"They are old timers, alright, but you would think they were of the latest generation—the way they do the square dances," Ralph Johnston of Erie, remarked in a disgusted manner while watching a crowd of pioneer citizens swirling and jump-

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ORDERS AUTOPSY

(BULLETIN 2 P. M.)

Mrs. Elizabeth Spagnola of North Rochester, Pa., this afternoon identified the man burned to death in an explosion at the Dominick Pagley house at 2 a. m. today, as that of her husband, Tony Spagnola, aged 42. Mrs. Spagnola was located by Sheriff Frank Johnston, County Detective A. Martin Lee and assistant, Bernard Rocks.

Mrs. Spagnola says that she and her husband went to Beaver Falls yesterday on a bus. About 12 o'clock she gave her husband $5 to deposit in the Peoples National Bank of Rochester for her sister. When her husband left her, Mrs. Spagnola says that he told her that he was going to Pittsburgh by train. He wanted to see a relative there about getting a job as a traveling salesman.

Mrs. Spagnola says that she did not see or hear from her husband afterwards. She says that she does not know anybody in New Castle and so far as she knows, her husband did not know anybody. Mrs. Spagnola was accompanied by her sister, Mabel Farina, and another woman, when she was brought to this city by officials. She is almost prostrated by the shock.

Inflammable Cement Gas Causes Fire And Explosion In Pagley Home

Man First Identified As Henry Pagley But Identification Proves False

Mystery surrounds the death of an unidentified man, who was burned in a terrific explosion at a house owned by Dominick Pagley on Highland avenue extension about 2 o'clock this morning. The house had been saturated inside with liquid rubber cement. The explosion blew out the windows and set it on fire. The body of the man who was burned was found slumped on a sofa in the front room.

Coroner J. P. Caldwell was called on the case at 2 o'clock this morning. He found Fire Chief Charles Lynn, and firemen Craig and Zeitler with a fire truck, and Policeman Robert Dukes and Ray Showalter. The fire was out, having been extinguished by Arthur Lang and Fred Koch, neighbors.

Hears Explosion

Lang stated that he had been awakened by an explosion, and the sound of shattered glass, about 2 o'clock this morning. Looking out, he saw a small light in the lower part of the Pagley house. He called Fred Koch and together they kicked in the back door of the house. There was a fire in the stairway. Police and firemen were called. Lang and Koch then got a garden hose with which they extinguished the fire.

By that time a fire truck and the police had arrived. They found the windows of the house blown out, and the walls of two upstairs rooms, hallway and dining room badly charred by an explosion. In the front room, which was not much damaged, except at a doorway leading from the dining room, the body of a man was found. The body was slumped over on the end of a sofa, which was not burned. Nearly all of the man's clothing was burned off, and he was badly burned about the face, chest and legs. Upon the discovery of the body Coroner Caldwell and an ambulance were called.

Explosive Is Used

Meanwhile Chief Lynn had been conducting an investigation of the premises. He found that the floors of the upstairs rooms had been saturated with a rubber cement, such as is used in fixing tires and shoes. The drawers of a bureau in an upstairs room had been pulled out and the cement poured over the contents. There was also cement on the stairway and on the floor of the dining room.

A half dozen gallon cans, two of them full and four empty, were found. Two of the cans had evidently been empty for some time. Two of them indicated that the con-

Wife Identifies Explosion Victim As Tony Spagnola

(BULLETIN 2 P. M.)

Mrs. Elizabeth Spagnola of North Rochester, Pa., this afternoon identified the man burned to death in an explosion at the Dominick Pagley house at 2 a. m. today, as that of her husband, Tony Spagnola, aged 42. Mrs. Spaghola was located by Sheriff Frank Johnston, County Detective A. Martin Lee and assistant, Bernard Rocks.

Mrs. Spagnola says that she and her husband went to Beaver Falls yesterday on a bus. About 12 o'clock she gave her husband $5 to deposit in the Peoples National Bank of Rochester for her sister. When her husband left her, Mrs. Spagnola says that he told her that he was going to Pittsburgh by train. He wanted to see a relative there about getting a job as a traveling salesman.

Mrs. Spagnola says that she did not see or hear from her husband afterwards. She says that she does not know anybody in New Castle and so far as she knows, her husband did not know anybody. Mrs. Spagnola was accompanied by her sister, Mabel Farina, and another woman, when she was brought to this city by officials. She is almost prostrated by the shock.

Inflammable Cement Gas Causes Fire And Explosion In Pagley Home

Man First Identified As Henry Pagley But Identification Proves False

Mystery surrounds the death of an unidentified man, who was burned in a terrific explosion at a house owned by Dominick Pagley on Highland avenue extension about 2 o'clock this morning. The house had been saturated inside with liquid rubber cement. The explosion blew out the windows and set it on fire. The body of the man who was burned was found slumped on a sofa in the front room.

Coroner J. P. Caldwell was called on the case at 2 o'clock this morning. He found Fire Chief Charles Lynn, and firemen Craig and Zeitler with a fire truck, and Policeman Robert Dukes and Ray Showalter. The fire was out, having been extinguished by Arthur Lang and Fred Koch, neighbors.

Hears Explosion

Lang stated that he had been awakened by an explosion, and the sound of shattered glass, about 2 o'clock this morning. Looking out, he saw a small light in the lower part of the Pagley house. He called Fred Koch and together they kicked in the back door of the house. There was a fire in the stairway. Police and firemen were called. Lang and Koch then got a garden hose with which they extinguished the fire.

By that time a fire truck and the police had arrived. They found the windows of the house blown out, and the walls of two upstairs rooms, hallway and dining room badly charred by an explosion. In the front room, which was not much damaged, except at a doorway leading from the dining room, the body of a man was found. The body was slumped over on the end of a sofa, which was not burned. Nearly all of the man's clothing was burned off, and he was badly burned about the face, chest and legs. Upon the discovery of the body Coroner Caldwell and an ambulance were called.

Explosive Is Used

Meanwhile Chief Lynn had been conducting an investigation of the premises. He found that the floors of the upstairs rooms had been saturated with a rubber cement, such as is used in fixing tires and shoes. The drawers of a bureau in an upsairs room had been pulled out and the cement poured over the contents. There was also cement on the sairway and on the floor of the dining room.

A half dozen gallon cans, two of them full and four empty, were found. Two of the cans had evidently been empty for some time. Two of them indicated that the con-

When the nights are cool and the air is fresh, and the mornings arrive to soon oh its then I would ask for a simple thing, that'd I'd crave for a minor boon. It's simply this, when I'm sleeping sound, with perhaps now and then a snore, just hold the clock for a little bit, till I snooze about ten minutes more. Just a minor boon but a heap of fun, to take just a little more hay, and let the alarm ring itself to sleep it's seventy nine today.

Some Of The High Spots Touched At The Reunion Of Old Timers

It was James K. Kelley, of Gary, Indiana who was in the center of that one particular circle of Old Timers on the Cascade Park dance pavilion yesterday. They hadn't seen old Jim for many a year and they were eating up every word he uttered. And Jim hadn't been in New Castle for 20 years. "I have been in New Castle exactly five hours now," he was telling the old friends, "And I have got more thrills in those five hours than I have had the past five years."

"Why, you wouldn't believe me when I tell you I wouldn't have known this was New Castle if that monument on the public square had been removed. It is about the only thing that is the same. I half expected Cascade Park to look the same, I thought maybe I would see the same houses—but it is a different place," Jim continued. Every minute or so he would see another old friend and bring him into the circle of long ago.

There was so much comment about the little black dog running around in the pavilion, that the writer caught up with it's owner and inquired as to the ancestry of the pup. "It is a Japanese Peke" she explained. Everywhere the little ball of black fur went, it attracted such remarks as, "Oh, the dear little thing!" and "Isn't it just the most adorable!" The tinkle, tinkle effect was caused by a bell on it's dainty little neck.

"They are old timers, alright, but you would think they were of the latest generation—the way they do the square dances," Ralph Johnston of Erie, remarked in a disgusted manner while watching a crowd of pioneer citizens swirling and jump-

Report Convicts Near Death From Stabbing Wounds

Bitter Gang Warfare Breaks Out In Corridors Of Eastern Penitentiary

PRISON GUARDS HALT ACTIVITIES

Disorders Took Place Last Sunday Public Informed Of Riot Today

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—Bitter gang warfare wedged its way into the grim corridors of the Eastern Penitentiary here it was learned today as two men were reported near death of stab wounds inflicted with prison-made knives by members of a rival gang.

The outbreak is believed to have grown out of the slaying last July of Tony Massino, alias Eddie Lenny, in the swamplands of South Jersey. The assailants of the wounded men were all former associates of Massino.

Two Are Critical

The wounded men are Chunk Rothman and Lewis "Fat" Barish, who is serving a life sentence for the Belmont bank robbery here. The former was stabbed five times in the chest and abdomen while Barish was stabbed twice. Both are in a critical condition in the prison hospital.

According to the reports emanating from behind the high stone walls. Five prisoners are known to have engaged in the fray which threw the prison into an uproar. William "Blackie" Zupkosky, notorious Philadelphia gangster, was the ring leader in the uprising according to Warren Herbert Smith. He also revealed the disorders took place on Sunday.

Guards Are Active

Other attackers were Edward Comedico, alias Hays Francis Smith, Harry Ratz, Charles Flocco, and Benjamin Murgie. The five, it was charged, urged Zupkosky to attack the pair of rival gangsters in retaliation for the killing of Massino while they were exercising outside a cell block. A guard aroused by the noise rushed back in time to prevent the slaying of the two men.

Gambling Slayers

PITTSBURGH, Aug 13.—Benjamin Murgie, named as one of the rioters in the Eastern Penitentiary outbreak Sunday, was sentenced with his brother, Mike, to life imprisonment for the murder of Thomas C. Clynes.

They were convicted May 26, 1927, in criminal court here of slaying Clynes during the holdup of an alleged gambling house in Homestead.

Benjamin was transferred from Western Penitentiary here to the Philadelphia Penal Institution in 1928.

Menocal In Oriente

General Menocal, they believed, was at present in the Province of Oriente, where he has many friends. This province has been quietest of all since the beginning of the revolt.

Ironically enough, one of chief lieutenants of Menocal, a member of the Conservative Party, is Colonel Carlos Mendieta, who as a liberal, revolted against him when he was President. Both are now united against the Liberal President Machado. Colonel Mendieta now belongs to the Nationalist group.

Four heavily equipped troop trains left Havana today under the command of Colonel Caspar Betancourt for Santa Clara. Another departed for an unannounced destination.

Colon was reported to have been set on fire by rebels but this had not been confirmed. Two bridges between the Provinces of Santa Clara and Camaguey were said to have been blown up.

Havana was interested today in the rumor that Miguel Mariano Gomez, former Mayor of Havana, was marching with 2,000 followers from Cienfuegos to Sancti Spiritus, both in the Province of Santa Clara.

Havana Quiet

The city remained quiet but apprehensive today. Her firemen became potential warriors when arms were distributed to them and they were instructed to supplement the police in maintaining order.

Another street car was bombed by strikers last night but no one was injured.

New York, Aug. 13.—The man who would become the government head in Cuba if the revolution there succeeded, today calmly established headquarters in a New York hotel and awaited developments. He is Dr. Domingo Mendez Campote, who was chosen as presidential designate in Cuba by all factions, it was claimed, just before he sailed for New York a few days ago.

"Everything is going according to schedule and our prospects are most optimistic," Dr. Campote said today.

Dr. Campote, who belong to no political party, has the title of Professor of Political Law at the University of Havana and is counsel for many American firms in Cuba.

At a meeting of Cuban revolutionary representatives here the New York Kunta was formally organized under the name of the Republican Delegation of Cuba.

Governor Pinchot In Detroit Today

Unemployment Is To Be Theme Of Address In Detroit Of Pennsylvania Executive

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 13. — Gov. Gifford Pinchot, in Detroit today to address the mayor's committee on unemployment, was expected to link his attitude on unemployment relief with that on public utility regulation, according to political dopesters here.

Definite announcement of his intention to summon a special session of the assembly, sometime in the fore part of 1932, to consider his utility program which went by the boards at the last legislative session was to be made by the governor in the Michigan city, it was announced here. The report was strengthened, in the opinion of political observers, by the address of Mrs. Pinchot at Benton yesterday in which she flatly declared "there's going to be a special session of the legislature at which the governor hopes to get through his public utility legislation."

Aged Man Trapped In Burning Home—Wife And Four Sons Escape Death

FIREMEN PROBE BLAZE IN HOME

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 13.—Frank Fillipowski, 60, was burned to death today when fire destroyed his home in Greenfield township, about 16 miles east of here. His wife and four sons escaped.

The body of the aged man was burned beyond recognition. Other members of the family were unable to rescue him from his room on the second floor of the home when they were blinded by smoke.

Firemen said the blaze may have resulted from either a defective chimney flue or faulty wiring.

the committee, to look next winter "squarely in the face and begin to get ready for it."

All forces of the nation, the "Tall Forester" from Pennsylvania warned, must be mustered for relief of the unemployed and economically distressed if the nation is to avert serious consequences, lawlessness and growing disrespect for government.

"Already," said he, "we have seen the pregnant signs that men whose families lack the bare necessities of living are likely to regard it as their right to take food where they find it."

For alleviation of suffering among the unemployed, the Pennsylvania governor recommended that private charity "be made to carry all it can" but warned that too much reliance should not be placed on that agency. Increase in appropriations for public works, both by state and federal governments, must be made on greater scale than ever before, he said.

National Problem

Pennsylvania, its governor told the committee, will spend about one hundred million dollars in public works in the next two years but even such a program will do comparatively little to alleviate unemployment distress. He deplored the fact that it was impossible, under the Pennsylvania constitution, to appropriate directly for relief of the economically distress and for the state to contract more than a million dollars indebtedness without a constitutional amendment, which would take years.

The only power strong enough, Gov. Pinchot declared, to meet the situation is that of the National government.

YEARS FALL AWAY AS OLD TIMERS FROLIC AT PARK

ervision of Ralph M. Campbell, started at two o'clock and was one of the pleasant features of the day. It was headed by W. T. Butz, secretary and treasurer of Old Timers Day Association and Mrs. Joseph B. Pyle. Eighty-two couple, including many who have passed the allotted three score and ten, participated and the scene was very beautiful as these couple marched about the pavilion by twos, then by fours, then eights and finally sixteens.

Following the grand march, Shoaf's Old Time Orchestra assumed charge of the dance music and made merry for the balance of the afternoon with Turkey-in-Straw and other old time and familiar tunes of thirty, forty and fifty years ago. The orchestra consisted of Francis Shoaf, Henry Jenkins, Perry Frye, Clara Hawk and Harry Hare.

Quadrilles and all kinds of old time square dances, also the old fashioned waltz and Schottische were on the program and the manner in which the older people enjoyed themselves in these dances, was of interest to all. John Booher of Ellwood City, and Charles Eskew of this city, seemed unable to keep their feet still and the manner in which they swung them about in the old time dances was a sight to behold. And it must be remembered that they were boys some fifty or sixty years ago. J. B. Sankey, of Crafton, 85 years old, was another of the older boys who took an active part. Youth mixed with age in these dances but the Old Timers could all show the younger generation how it was done. Hugh Hannon was caller and he did his work satisfactorily and with energy.

When the call was made in the late afternoon for those who had attended the first reunion twenty five years ago, to come forward, 115 persons passed in view. They had all been at the first one. Some were old, some were young, but everyone had be nthere twenty-five years ago.

The Prize Winners

Distribution of the old prizes offered by the Old Timers Association was a feature of the late afternoon. It was found that Mrs. E. J. Patterson of the Youngstown road, was the oldest lady, resident of Lawrence county to be present, being 93 years of age. She was presented with five dollars in gold by W. T. Butz, the secretary, who presided in the presentation of the prizes. She was 93 last Friday and has resided in her present location for 71 years. She was born at Rose Point.

Mrs. Margaret McAnlis of Wampum, almost won, being 89. Other close competitors were Mrs. Hannah Waddington 87 and Mrs. Annie Stockburger 87.

The five dollars in gold for the oldest man resident of Lawrence county went again this year to Jos. Bestler of East Washington street, who is 94 years of age. Thomas D. Wilson of Rock Point, 91 was his nearest competitor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kitch, East Washington street, who had been married 64 years, won the ten dollars in gold for the Lawrence county couple married the greatest number of years. Competition was keen in this class, with Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kerr being married 63½ years: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sankey married 62 years and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Reiber married 57 years. There were quite a number married fifty years of more.

H. S. Fisher of San Diego, Cal., was awarded the prize for coming the greatest distance, it being five dollars in gold. There were people present from Los Angeles, Cal., Dade City, Fla., Port Arthur, Texas, Lynnbrook, Long Island, Hartford Conn., and many other points.

The five dollars in gold for the youngest descendant of an old timer residing in the county prior to 1865 went to Carol Mae Zeigler aged 5 weeks, the great grand daughter of D. N. Mathews, who has lived in Lawrence county for 82 years and was himself present. Eugene Hammond, aged ten months, the great grandson of I. S. Schweinburger, who has resided in the county for 72 years was second and Harry Stevens Kennedy, aged 1 month was the youngest present but his grandmother had only been a resident of the county for forty years.

Step Dancing

In the late afternoon, the vast crowd was really thrilled when the strain of Turkey in the straw sounded and Charles Eskew, 68 started to step them off just like he used to forty years ago. It was fifteen years since he had done anything of the kind but he did good work.

Then came John Book of Ellwood City, who admitted to 79 years, and who really had the edge on Eskew in spite of the fact that he was at least ten years older. Mrs. Alice Briggs, 66 of New Castle, also stepped in on the scene and did some fancy steps with Mr. Booher. Then followed some of the younger generations, Frank Kernan of Youngstown and Hughie Hannon of this city.

Girl Scouts Make Progress In Work Undertaken In Camp

Unit Campfire Meetings Are Features Of The Camp Routine

Weather conditions have been continuing to interfere to some extent with the routine of the camp, but all the girls are having a fine time and some real work is being accomplished in spite of the weather.

Tuesday morning at the troop meetings, the girls did some mapping, nature or some project work. Unit courts of honor were held after dinner. Because of the rain, it was impossible to have unit campfires but a general campfire was held in the lodge.

An impromptu program was the order of the campfire and included camp songs, both new and old, Donna Jean Beall gave a reading and Miss Alice Schuster, whose camp name is Peter Pan, unit leader of the Never-Never-Land told a most interesting story. After several short poems by the camp director, the girls sang taps and went off to bed.

On Wednesday each troop was able to meet at its campfire circle for a troop meeting. After dinner the camp directors held camp council, which is the meeting of the courts of honor of all the units Betty Pearson of Ellwood City is secretary of the camp council. Plans were made for supper hikes Thursday evening.

The campfire was a general one held in the Cathedral. Each unit dramatized something from a story from which the unit was named.

Sunday is the only day on which visiting is permitted at the camp. This is necessary in order to maintain the camp discipline and enable the girls to get the most out of their time at camp and the special training that is afforded them. Parents and friends of the girls will be made welcome on Sunday, when there will be an opportunity for them to be with the girls in which they are interested.

Deaths of the Day

Simon Hofmeister.

Simon Hofmeister, aged 76, 225 Chattel Place, Youngstown, Ohio, died Wednesday, August 12 at 12:15 p. m. in the North Side Unit of the City Hospital, after a two weeks illness.

Mr. Hofmeister was born in Columbiana county, Ohio, and had been a funeral director at Mt. Jackson and Grove City for a number of years before going to Youngstown, Ohio, where he had been connected with the Shriver-Allison Company the past eight years.

His wife, Mrs. Minnie Henry Hofmeister died in 1915 and a son, Wilbur, died in 1915.

He is survived by a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wilbur Hofmeister; three grandchildren: Juan, Martin and Richard Hofmeister of New Castle; two sisters: Mrs. Lenora Franklin of Pittsburgh and Sadie Hofmeister of Youngstown, Ohio; three brothers: Joe Hofmeister of Columbiana, Ohio; Ezra of East Palestine, Ohio; and Ira of Bessemer, and a sister-in-law, Jane Henry of Kentucky.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3:30 E. S. T. from the South Side Shriver-Allison Funeral Home in Youngstown and interment will be made in the Todd Mausoleum.

Friends are asked to omit flowers.

Mrs. Martha Jane Hitchen.

Mrs. Martha Jane Hitchen, aged 51, wife of John Hitchen, 523½ Lyndal street, died at 8:55 this morning in the New Castle hospital, following an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Hitchen has been a resident of this city since May 16, 1914, when she and her daughter, Anne, came here to join her husband. She is survived by her husband and three children, Anne, Jack and Florence; and her parents, John and Anne Bennett, in England.

Mrs. Hitchen was a member of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, East Long avenue, from where funeral services will be held Saturday, August 15, at 2:30 p. m. with Rt. Rev. John C. Ward of Erie officiating, assisted by Rev. Samuel Black of Ellwood City, who is now minister in charge at St. Andrew's.

Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

David Gaghagan.

David Gaghagan, aged 76, a retired mill worker, died Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Daisy Dilks, 1907 Hamilton street, after a short illness.

Mr. Gaghagan was a member of the Central Christian church. He was the son of John and Christina Peppley Gaghagan and had been a resident of this city many years. He was preceded in death seven years ago by his wife.

He is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Lila Dutcher of Painesville, O., Mrs. Nina Grant and Mrs. Grace Grant of Parkersburg, W. Va., Mrs. Neil Patterson and Mrs. Daisy Dilks of this city; four sons, James and Cecil of New Castle, John of Sandusky, O., and Clarence of Cleveland, O.; two sisters, Mrs. Ella Thorn of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. Jane Steel of Johnstown; a brother, James of Cleveland, and 36 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from the Central Christian church Saturday at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. Jesse B. Porter officiating. Interment will be made in Valley View cemetery.

Robert S. Clark.

One of the largest funerals ever held in the county was that of Robert Sherer Clark, which took place Wednesday afternoon from the residence in North Beaver township. The home would not hold all the relatives and friends who were paying their last respects to one who had been held in such high esteem during his life time and the gorgeousness of the floral tributes further attested to his popularity.

Rev. Ross M. Haverfield pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church of which the deceased was a member, was assisted by Rev. George Neill of the Bethel U. P. church and Dr. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland U. P. church.

Interment was made in the Westfield cemetery and the body was lovingly borne to its last resting place by David Woods, Clifford Wallace, Dale Fullerton, Joseph Davis, Henry Ehle, Joseph Gibson, Earl Cox and Harry McCurley.

Time of Funeral.

Funeral services for Maurice Donnelan, who died in McKeesport on Wednesday morning, will be held from St. Mary's church Friday morning at 10 o'clock and interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

The Knights of Columbus will attend in a body.

Mrs. Lyons Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Davis Lyons were held Wednesday afternoon from the Edmiston home, 613 County Line street, with Rev. Oscar Woods, pastor of the Bethany Lutheran church, officiating.

Pallbearers were William Lyons, Samuel Lyons, Perry McCune, William McElwain, Willard Hood and Stephen Whetstone. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Domenico Antonio DiCerbo.

Domenico Antonio DiCerbo, aged 82, died at 9:30 this morning at his home, 808 South Jefferson street.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Conchetti DiCerbo, and a step-son, Anthony Vitch, Sharon.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Raymond Smith Funeral.

Funeral services for Raymond O. Smith were held from the Offutt funeral home this morning at 11 o'clock with Rev. G. M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery with W. H. Butler, B. G. Coates, W. C. Porter, J. M. Rae J. A. Sanford and J. R. Teets acting as pallbearers.

Mrs. Claudine B. Logan.

Mrs. Claudine Barnes Logan, aged 54, wife of John J. Logan, died Thursday, August 13, 1931, at 6:30 a. m. at the family residence, 812 Highland avenue, after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Logan was born in Parkers Landing, May 22, 1877, the daughter of David Reed and Martha Davis Barnes. She has resided here for some time and was well known and highly respected. She was a member of the Highland United Presbyterian church, and the Eastern Star of McKeesport, Pa.

She leaves her husband and the following children, James M. Logan of McKeesport, Pa., Ford E. Logan of Pittsburgh, and W. Claude Logan at home, also a sister, Mrs. Hannah Rider of Westfield, N. J.

Funeral services will be held Friday, August 14, 1931 at 2 p. m. D. S. T. at the residence, 812 Highland avenue, with Dr. C. J. Williamson, her pastor, in charge. With him when he passed away were his only son, Thos. W. Cunningham, Jr., and his personal physician, Dr. George Pennington. A number of personal friends had spent the night in the corridor outside the sheriff's room. He had shown a slight improvement during the early morning hours, but suddenly relapsed and quietly passed away.

Enters Politics Late

Although he did not enter actively into politics until he was 35 years old, Cunningham rose rapidly to prominence Republican organization circles in Pennsylvania and his judgement was sought after party leaders throughout the state.

Born in Philadelphia, Cunningham, after graduating from school, entered the employ of the Philadelphia Galvanizing Co., it was while he was superintendent of the company, and in a fair way to industrial success, that he received his first political offer.

He was approached by William Leeds, then leader of the 10th ward, and was asked if the latter might use his name for magistrate in a coming election. Cunningham agreed and was elected to the monor judiciary.

He held the post for 10 years.

In his earlier years Cunningham was a familiar figure in the life of the Central City. It was in those days he first made the acquaintance of former United States Senator Boise Penrose, who liked the big fellow and took him into his fold.

Fire In Clothes Closet Is Cause Of Big Excitement

Hundreds milled about the North street bridge shortly after 1 p. m. today following the arrival of fire apparatus to the Allen apartments at the bridge approach when smoke was discovered in the rooms occupied by Harry Johnson.

Firemen under Fire Chief Lynn traced the smoke to a clothes closet where the fire had originated in an unknown manner and damaged clothing and other belongings valued at $25.

Report Convicts Near Death From Stabbing Wounds

PRISON GUARDS HALT ACTIVITIES

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—Bitter gang warfare wedged its way into the grim corridors of the Eastern Penitentiary here it was learned today as two men were reported near death of stab wounds inflicted with prison-made knives by members of a rival gang.

The outbreak is believed to have grown out of the slaying last July of Tony Massino, alias Eddie Lenny, in the swamplands of South Jersey. The assailants of the wounded men were all former associates of Massino.

Two Are Critical

The wounded men are Chunk Rothman and Lewis "Fat" Barish, who is serving a life sentence for the Belmont bank robbery here. The former was stabbed five times in the chest and abdomen while Barish was stabbed twice. Both are in a critical condition in the prison hospital.

According to the reports emanating from behind the high stone walls. Five prisoners are known to have engaged in the fray which threw the prison into an uproar. William "Blackie" Zupkosky, notorious Philadelphia gangster, was the ring leader in the uprising according to Warren Herbert Smith. He also revealed the disorders took place on Sunday.

Guards Are Active

Other attackers were Edward Comedico, alias Hays, Francis Smith, Harry Ratz, Charles Flocco, and Benjamin Murgie. The five, it was charged, urged Zupkosky to attack the pair of rival gangsters in retaliation for the killing of Massino while they were exercising outside a cell block. A guard aroused by the noise rushed back in time to prevent the slaying of the two men.

Gambling Slayers

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13.—Benjamin Murgie, named as one of the rioters in the Eastern Penitentiary outbreak Sunday, was sentenced with his brother, Mike, to life imprisonment for the murder of Thomas C. Clynes.

They were convicted May 26, 1927, in criminal court here of slaying Clynes during the holdup of an alleged gambling house in Homestead.

Benjamin was transferred from Western Penitentiary here to the Philadelphia Penal Institution in 1928.

Menocal In Oriente

General Menocal, they believed, was at present in the Province of Oriente, where he has many friends. This province has been quietest of all since the beginning of the revolt.

Ironically enough, one of chief lieutenants of Menocal, a member of the Conservative Party, is Colonel Carlos Mendieta, who as a liberal, revolted against him when he was President. Both are now united against the Liberal President Machado. Colonel Mendieta now belongs to the Nationalist group.

Four heavily equipped troop trains left Havana today under the command of Colonel Caspar Betancourt for Santa Clara. Another departed for an unannounced destination.

Colon was reported to have been set on fire by rebels but this had not been confirmed. Two bridges between the Provinces of Santa Clara and Camaguey were said to have been blown up.

Havana was interested today in the rumor that Miguel Mariano Gomez, former Mayor of Havana, was marching with 2,000 followers from Cienfuegos to Sancti Spiritus, both in the Province of Santa Clara.

Havana Quiet

The city remained quiet but apprehensive today. Her firemen became potential warriors when arms were distributed to them and they were instructed to supplement the police in maintaining order.

Another street car was bombed by strikers last night but no one was injured.

New York, Aug. 13.—The man who would become the government head in Cuba if the revolution there succeeded, today calmly established headquarters in a New York hotel and awaited developments. He is Dr. Domingo Mendez Campote, who was chosen as presidential designate in Cuba by all factions, it was claimed, just before he sailed for New York a few days ago.

"Everything is going according to schedule and our prospects are most optimistic," Dr. Campote said today.

Dr. Campote, who belong to no political party, has the title of Professor of Political Law at the University of Havana and is counsel for many American firms in Cuba.

At a meeting of Cuban revolutionary representatives here the New York Kunta was formally organized under the name of the Republican Delegation of Cuba.

Governor Pinchot In Detroit Today

Unemployment Is To Be Theme Of Address In Detroit Of Pennsylvania Executive

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 13. — Gov. Gifford Pinchot, in Detroit today to address the mayor's committee on unemployment, was expected to link his attitude on unemployment relief with that on public utility regulation, according to political dopesters here.

Definite announcement of his intention to summon a special session of the assembly, sometime in the fore part of 1932, to consider his utility program which went by the boards at the last legislative session was to be made by the governor in the Michigan city, it was announced here. The report was strengthened, in the opinion of political observers, by the address of Mrs. Pinchot at Benton yesterday in which she flatly declared "there's going to be a special session of the legislature at which the governor hopes to get through his public utility legislation."

Aged Man Trapped In Burning Home—Wife And Four Sons Escape Death

FIREMEN PROBE BLAZE IN HOME

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 13.—Frank Fillipowski, 60, was burned to death today when fire destroyed his home in Greenfield township, about 16 miles east of here. His wife and four sons escaped.

The body of the aged man was burned beyond recognition. Other members of the family were unable to rescue him from his room on the second floor of the home when they were blinded by smoke.

Firemen said the blaze may have resulted from either a defective chimney flue or faulty wiring.

PINCHOT URGES NATIONAL HELP TO AID NEEDY

the committee, to look next winter "squarely in the face and begin to get ready for it."

All forces of the nation, the "Tall Forester" from Pennsylvania warned, must be mustered for relief of the unemployed and economically distressed if the nation is to avert serious consequences, lawlessness and growing disrespect for government.

"Already," said he, "we have seen the pregnant signs that men whose families lack the bare necessities of living are likely to regard it as their right to take food where they find it."

For alleviation of suffering among the unemployed, the Pennsylvania governor recommended that private charity "be made to carry all it can" but warned that too much reliance should not be placed on that agency. Increase in appropriations for public works, both by state and federal governments, must be made on greater scale than ever before, he said.

National Problem

Pennsylvania, its governor told the committee, will spend about one hundred million dollars in public works in the next two years but even such a program will do comparatively little to alleviate unemployment distress. He deplored the fact that it was impossible, under the Pennsylvania constitution, to appropriate directly for relief of the economically distress and for the state to contract more than a million dollars indebtedness without a constitutional amendment, which would take years.

The only power strong enough, Gov. Pinchot declared, to meet the situation is that of the National government.

ervision of Ralph M. Campbell, started at two o'clock and was one of the pleasant features of the day. It was headed by W. T. Butz, secretary and treasurer of Old Timers Day Association and Mrs. Joseph B. Pyle. Eighty-two couple, including many who have passed the allotted three score and ten, participated and the scene was very beautiful as these couple marched about the pavilion by twos, then by fours, then eights and finally sixteens.

Following the grand march, Shoaf's Old Time Orchestra assumed charge of the dance music and made merry for the balance of the afternoon with Turkey-in-Straw and other old time and familiar tunes of thirty, forty and fifty years ago. The orchestra consisted of Francis Shoaf, Henry Jenkins, Perry Frye, Clara Hawk and Harry Hare.

Quadrilles and all kinds of old time square dances, also the old fashioned waltz and Schottische were on the program and the manner in which the older people enjoyed themselves in these dances, was of interest to all. John Booher of Ellwood City, and Charles Eskew of this city, seemed unable to keep their feet still and the manner in which they swung them about in the old time dances was a sight to behold. And it must be remembered that they were boys some fifty or sixty years ago. J. B. Sankey, of Crafton, 85 years old, was another of the older boys who took an active part. Youth mixed with age in these dances but the Old Timers could all show the younger generation how it was done. Hugh Hannon was caller and he did his work satisfactorily and with energy.

When the call was made in the late afternoon for those who had attended the first reunion twenty five years ago, to come forward, 115 persons passed in view. They had all been at the first one. Some were old, some were young, but everyone had be nthere twenty-five years ago.

The Prize Winners

Distribution of the old prizes offered by the Old Timers Association was a feature of the late afternoon. It was found that Mrs. E. J. Patterson of the Youngstown road, was the oldest lady, resident of Lawrence county to be present, being 93 years of age. She was presented with five dollars in gold by W. T. Butz, the secretary, who presided in the presentation of the prizes. She was 93 last Friday and has resided in her present location for 71 years. She was born at Rose Point.

Mrs. Margaret McAnlis of Wampum, almost won, being 89. Other close competitors were Mrs. Hannah Waddington 87 and Mrs. Annie Stockburger 87.

The five dollars in gold for the oldest man resident of Lawrence county went again this year to Jos. Bestler of East Washington street, who is 94 years of age. Thomas D. Wilson of Rock Point, 91 was his nearest competitor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kitch, East Washington street, who had been married 64 years, won the ten dollars in gold for the Lawrence county couple married the greatest number of years. Competition was keen in this class, with Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kerr being married 63½ years: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sankey married 62 years and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Reiber married 57 years. There were quite a number married fifty years of more.

H. S. Fisher of San Diego, Cal., was awarded the prize for coming the greatest distance, it being five dollars in gold. There were people present from Los Angeles, Cal., Dade City, Fla., Port Arthur, Texas, Lynnbrook, Long Island, Hartford Conn., and many other points.

The five dollars in gold for the youngest descendant of an old timer residing in the county prior to 1865 went to Carol Mae Zeigler aged 5 weeks, the great grand daughter of D. N. Mathews, who has lived in Lawrence county for 82 years and was himself present. Eugene Hammond, aged ten months, the great grandson of I. S. Schweinburger, who has resided in the county for 72 years was second and Harry Stevens Kennedy, aged 1 month was the youngest present but his grandmother had only been a resident of the county for forty years.

Step Dancing

In the late afternoon, the vast crowd was really thrilled when the strain of Turkey in the straw sounded and Charles Eskew, 68 started to step them off just like he used to forty years ago. It was fifteen years since he had done anything of the kind but he did good work.

Then came John Book of Ellwood City, who admitted to 79 years, and who really had the edge on Eskew in spite of the fact that he was at least ten years older. Mrs. Alice Briggs, 66 of New Castle, also stepped in on the scene and did some fancy steps with Mr. Booher. Then followed some of the younger generations, Frank Kernan of Youngstown and Hughie Hannon of this city.

Girl Scouts Make Progress In Work Undertaken In Camp

Unit Campfire Meetings Are Features Of The Camp Routine

Weather conditions have been continuing to interfere to some extent with the routine of the camp, but all the girls are having a fine time and some real work is being accomplished in spite of the weather.

Tuesday morning at the troop meetings, the girls did some mapping, nature or some project work. Unit courts of honor were held after dinner. Because of the rain, it was impossible to have unit campfires but a general campfire was held in the lodge.

An impromptu program was the order of the campfire and included camp songs, both new and old, Donna Jean Beall gave a reading and Miss Alice Schuster, whose camp name is Peter Pan, unit leader of the Never-Never-Land told a most interesting story. After several short poems by the camp director, the girls sang taps and went off to bed.

On Wednesday each troop was able to meet at its campfire circle for a troop meeting. After dinner the camp directors held camp council, which is the meeting of the courts of honor of all the units Betty Pearson of Ellwood City is secretary of the camp council. Plans were made for supper hikes Thursday evening.

The campfire was a general one held in the Cathedral. Each unit dramatized something from a story from which the unit was named.

Sunday is the only day on which visiting is permitted at the camp. This is necessary in order to maintain the camp discipline and enable the girls to get the most out of their time at camp and the special training that is afforded them. Parents and friends of the girls will be made welcome on Sunday, when there will be an opportunity for them to be with the girls in which they are interested.

refused to answer maintaining it was his own affair. The case was carried twice through the court of appeals and the decision twice overruled by the supreme court. It was still pending when he died.

With him when he passed away were his only son, Thos. W. Cunningham, Jr., and his personal physician, Dr. George Pennington. A number of personal friends had spent the night in the corridor outside the sheriff's room. He had shown a slight improvement during the early morning hours, but suddenly relapsed and quietly passed away.

Enters Politics Late

Although he did not enter actively into politics until he was 35 years old, Cunningham rose rapidly to prominence Republican organization circles in Pennsylvania and his judgement was sought after party leaders throughout the state.

Born in Philadelphia, Cunningham, after graduating from school, entered the employ of the Philadelphia Galvanizing Co., it was while he was superintendent of the company, and in a fair way to industrial success, that he received his first political offer.

He was approached by William Leeds, then leader of the 10th ward, and was asked if the latter might use his name for magistrate in a coming election. Cunningham agreed and was elected to the monor judiciary.

He held the post for 10 years.

In his earlier years Cunningham was a familiar figure in the life of the Central City. It was in those days he first made the acquaintance of former United States Senator Boise Penrose, who liked the big fellow and took him into his fold.

Fire In Clothes Closet Is Cause Of Big Excitement

Hundreds milled about the North street bridge shortly after 1 p. m. today following the arrival of fire apparatus to the Allen apartments at the bridge approach when smoke was discovered in the rooms occupied by Harry Johnson.

Firemen under Fire Chief Lynn traced the smoke to a clothes closet where the fire had originated in an unknown manner and damaged clothing and other belongings valued at $25.

BATTLE ROW SCHOOL REUNION WEDNESDAY

An event of social interest that took place Wednesday was the reunion of the students of the old Battle Row school near West Middlesex, with over 200 being in attendance.

At noon a sumptuous menu was served at tables prettily arranged in the season's tones, and at the conclusion of this feature comments were made, and Tom Shingledecker, who taught in 1884, called the roll of his class, with the following responding, Emma Buckholder Garrett, John Garrett, Ross Bell, Willie Bell, Becky Bell McConnell, the latter who now lives at Canonsburg, Walter Porter, Bert Sweesy, Mae Swresy Green, Mattie McConnell Anderson, Sadie McConnell Johnston, Clyde Campbell, Benny Cannon, Tommy Cannon and Edna Cannon.

Happenings in the "long ago" were related to and some humorous incidents were revealed, as well as the renewing of friendships.

This marked the first reunion of this group in five years, and it will be held regularly each year from now on.

Campbell Reunion

Descendants of T. J. Campbell met at Memorial Park, Grove City on August 8, for their annual reunion. Guests were present from Butler, New Castle, Mercer, New Brighton, DuBois, Grove City, Cleveland, O., Sharon and other places, totaling 135.

Dinner was served at noon, followed by a short business session, when reports and remarks were heard. The election of officers took place with the following results: president, C. A. Campbell, Grove City; vice-president, Leon T. Foster, Grove City; secretary, Florence Neely, New Castle.

Games, swimming and various sports formed the afternoon diversions as well as the renewing of many old acquaintances.

The reunion will be held next year at the same place on the second Saturday in August.

Party For Granddaughters

Mrs. Annie McFarland and Mrs. Gladys Gettings entertained Tuesday evening at the home of the former on Brinton avenue, a group of boys and girls, in honor of Virginia Anderson and June Ruth Gettings, the granddaughters of Mrs. McFarland. These honored girls are the fourth generation in the family. They received a number of lovely gifts.

A program of games and stunts filled the hours and a dainty lunch was served to Virginia E. Anderson, Weirton, W. Va., Maxine Bigley, Mt. Jackson, Billie Bates, Charlie Collins, Marie Hennon, Jack Mitchell, Agnes McMullen, Roy Scarazza, Arthur Scarazza, Billie Scarazza, Mary Ellen Gettings, Della Collins and the Collins family.

E. N. C. Club Breakfast.

Members of the E. N. C. Club enjoyed a breakfast at Cascade Park on Wednesday morning. After the serving of an appetizing menu, the hours were spent most informally about the park. In the afternoon, they attended the activities in progress at the dance pavilion which were put on by the Old Timers.

Plans were completed for a dinner to be held on Thursday, August 20, at Cascade Park. The menu will be served at 6 o'clock.

Dinner Guests

Mrs. W. J. Beiersmith, North Cedar street, entertained at a family dinner Wednesday evening in her home, and a most splendid menu was served at a table prettily centered with summer flowers.

Special guests were F. W. Clark and Mrs. Jessie Callender of Jamestown and J. P. Clark of this city.

G. A. T. 1914 Club.

Members of the G. A. T. 1914 club will have their picnic outing at Cascade Park on Thursday, August 20, instead of this week as previously planned.

Mission Band Party

The Mission Band of the Westfield Presbyterian church will have a party Friday afternoon at the home of Frances Fullerton, when the mothers of the children will be guests.

A program has been arranged, which will be presented by the young folks, and refreshments will be served.

Jolly Jokers Club.

The Jolly Jokers Club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Reeher of the Youngstown line. Tables of 500 formed the main diversion and prizes went to Mrs. Nora Vogan and Mrs. Margaret Fee at the close of play for honors.

Lunch was served at an appropriate hour by the hostess, assisted by Mildred Vogan.

In two weeks, Mrs. Elizabeth Frazier will entertain at the home of her sister, Mrs. Edith McLaughlin, on West North street.

Class Picnic

The Rose of Sharon class of the Croton avenue Methodist Episcopal church will have their annual picnic Friday at Neshannock Falls.

LIFE MORE HAZARDOUS

READERS of newspapers must certainly have been impressed by the unusually large number of catastrophes resulting in much loss of life which have occupied front page space during the last year. It may be imaginary—great events are soon forgotten—but it seems to many that the last 12 months have witnessed more than a normal year's share of disasters.

Looking back over the months the average citizen can recall upwards of a dozen disastrous wind storms and floods, a horrifying number of mine disasters, much loss of life in wrecks on sea and railroad, considerable havoc by fire, earthquakes and many other calamities. Every day seems to have brought its own disaster.

If there has been more loss of life and property through abnormal atmospheric conditions in the past twelve months than in the average year that is readily explained by the variable climatic conditions and as for the other disasters the natural advance of civilization may account for them. There are more people, more mines, more trains, more ships and therefore more possibility of accident and more potential victims of accident.

But while life has been in greater hazard and more uncertain during the past year than in the normal year there has been no panic among mankind nor any frantic struggle to prevent the inevitable. The government and the individual have gone about their affairs as serenely and deliberately as in the most uneventful years of the past. For this there is only one explanation. Hope and confidence in life. Although death is always around the corner man is ever oblivious to it. When disaster wipes out a town it never occurs to the natives of a town ten miles away that it might have been their own town.

LAWS AND CRIME

A New York magistrate says that the gravity of the crime situation is due to two things. The first is that our laws relating to the trial of criminals were formulated in remote days when innocence was in constant danger from tyranny of the great and powerful, and now serve as a protection for the guilty by putting many and often insuperable difficulties in the way of the prosecuting officials.

The second reason given by this judge for the disturbing prevalence of crime is frequent failure of juries to convict, even when the evidence warrants and demands a verdict of guilty. This trend in the jury box, if it amounts to that, he attributes to the same disregard for law that is responsible for the "crime wave."

These are phrases of the crime situation if they are not contributing factors. Many reasonable heads will question the statement that men and women commit crimes because of an inherent "disregard for law" or in the hope of beating the law. The criminal's chance of escape is smaller today than ever in the past, and yet one hears it said crime was never more prevalent. The threat of arrest and punishment has always existed, but so has crime.

Suppose there are some laws which afford the criminal undue protection. Would the public voluntarily surrender them? Knowing that the idea of changing these laws is blasphemy to many judges and lawyers one would answer that the law-abiding will cling to these statutory and constitutional protections as jealously as will the criminal. It is not impossible in this civilized age for the life or liberty of innocent people to be placed in jeopardy. Better that two guilty men be at large than that one innocent person be behind cold gray walls.

THE AGE OF PICTURES

The relentless and daring manner in which a reporter is supposed to follow out his assignment has been the subject of story, song, play and movie. The characterization is often as much of a surprise to the flesh and blood newspaper man as it is to the public. In fiction and on the stage his powers of deduction, his bravery and his effrontery are astonishing, whereas if the truth be known he is very often a prosaic enough individual bent on doing his duty and making a living, just like his neighbors.

Journalism in recent years has produced a parallel type, without a Boswell as yet—the news photographer. The demand from newspaper editors and readers for pictures has made him a most important agency of the Fourth Estate. He goes where the reporter does and very often where the latter does not, for the camera can often get a story that the printed word cannot tell.

The policy of tabloid newspapers under which pictures predominate over printed news has inspired the observation that the masses can no longer understand the written word and must be given their news in pictures. This is good vaudeville humor but diverts attention from the real purpose of newspaper photographs.

The picture is to augment, not to supplant, the printed story. It emphasizes the reporter's story and gives a more graphic presentation of the news. Wider use of pictures increases the scope of the newspaper besides enabling it to better serve its readers. Perfection of the radio photograph was one of the greatest boons to journalism.

How Do You Ride a Bicycle? No One Can Tell You And What's The Secret of Living?

My MARSHALL MASLIN

You sit on the seat, you grasp the handle bars, you set your feet on the pedals you give yourself a start—and away you go, riding a bicycle.

Keep pedaling and you will keep going. Lean inward when you make a turn. If you fall off, get up and get on and try again. The secret of the thing is Confidence. If you're afraid, you'll never learn to ride a bicycle.

When you ride a bicycle, you are using some law of motion. I ought to know what it is, but I've forgotten. But you don't need to know that the law exists in order to use it. You ride the bicycle and that's enough. . .In the beginning it seems like a very difficult and rather terrifying thing to do—to ride a bicycle. But after you learn how, you can't understand why it ever seemed difficult. And you couldn't UNLEARN it if you tried.

Living must be something like that.

Some people have a bad time from the start and never seem to be at ease in life. They go at it awkwardly, as if they would conquer life by main strength and determination. Or they are timid and uncertain and they look upon life as a sort of diabolic machine contrived to make them ridiculous.

There are certain laws about living, but the fortunate people can use them without hardly knowing they exist. Laws about getting along with people, laws about winning your way and accepting victory and reconciling defeat, all kinds of laws about big and little things, about trivial or magnificent affairs. And some people who have never been to school at all know instinctively, it seems, how to use these laws of life: while other people who are packed with learning and noisy with theory never do seem to learn how to live and are like fumbling children to the end of their days.

Wise living is like riding a bicycle. A good deal of faith must go into it. A good deal of natural wisdom. A good deal of confidence that even if you do fall off you'll not be hurt very much and you can get up and get on again and keep going until you conquer the thing you are trying to do.

THE SPOILER

There's an old man who dropped
All the working tools and stopped
Doing every useful task
In his chair he'll sit and bask
All the pleasant mornings through,
Or he'll walk an hour or two
When the children of the street
Rush to follow at his feet,
For they know that soon he'll stop
At the nearest candy shop.

Once I put it to him straight:
"I believe you lie in wait
For our youngsters to appear,
For you're always lurking near;
And the sweets which we deny
They've discovered you will buy.
I don't like to make a fuss
But you're spoiling them for us."
Then he smiled and said: "That's true,
But I've nothing else to do.

"It were wrong, of course, for you
Such a reckless thing to do,
But it's all that's left for me,
Who have grown so old to be.
Now my sun is nearly set;
It's the only fun I get!"
So I grinned and said to him:
"Keep your last remaining whim.
If I live as long as you
I shall spoil the children, too."

MORE SWIMMING POOL
Three Oaks,
New Wilmington, Pa.
August 11, 1931.

Mr. Rentz.
New Castle News.
Dear Sir:

My sister and myself have been very much interested in some letters appearing in your paper lately, especially the one from Miss Hale today, about swimming pools, and we are especially interested, because she referred to the new swimming pool which has just been finished in New Wilmington, and which is being used by the young folks and others, from here and the surrounding country.

It is true that it is being used freely, but at what a cost. My sister and I tremble at the evil effect which this pool is bound to have on the growing generation, when we think of the time wasted, which could be spent on more serious things.

And everywhere one looks, one can see children running to the pool, and many grown folks too, clad only in swimming suits, and with only a dressing gown, or some other flimsy garment to hide their nakedness from the gaze of the passers by. At night, when the lights turn the surroundings as light as day, the swimmers can be plainly seen shamelessly posing on the edges of the pool, before they dive, and all this can not help but have a demoralizing effect. If they must have a public pool, surely there should be a screen put so that passers by could not see this kind of a display. Night after night my sister and I have sat back in the shadows outside the fence and blushed as we worried over what the outcome would be.

The members of council seem to feel that they have done something specially fine, because the children in their innocence, hang on their coats as they walk through town and thank them for the pool, and because older persons who are blind to the effect of this thing are also foolish enough to compliment them about it.

It certainly is terrible, the time wasted at the pool. My sister and I were brought up to take our baths on Saturday night, except during the winter, in the privacy of the kitchen, using the wash tub, and thank goodness we have not been swept awa, by these new fangled notions. What has been good enough for us these many years ought to be good enough for anybody else, and good money should not be thrown away providing bathing places for public display.

It is said that before these public pools became common, the boys and girls used to go after dark, to quiet places on the rivers to swim, and that surely was a much better plan than this public bathing under bright electric lights. So I and my sister hope that your city will not allow itself to make the same mistake which has been made here.

Sincerely,
Matilda Ellen Hollisday.

Regarding Wills: Where There's A Will There's A Wait.

Frequently I discovered some person, usually young, who is painfully embarrased and self-conscious in public. The cause is a state of mind commonly called an "inferiority complex." The cure is swellhead. That may have the sound of a joke, but I am quite serious. The captain isn't embarrassed in the presence of privates. He feels superior to them and cares no whit for their opinion. Therefore he feels at ease. If you would develop the good opinion of yourself and the cock-sureness called "poise," make it a point to associate much with people who are obviously your inferiors. Knowing you are above them, you will feel at ease; and in time that feeling will become a habit. You will feel cock-sure everywhere. You will think well of yourself everywhere. You will have swellhead. Look at school teachers—not the girls who expect to get married, but old-maid teachers who are aware of having minds. They have associated with dumb kids until they feel brilliant. They may scarcely know what is going on in the world; they may get their history and geography and poetry sadly mixed; they may be near the moron level. But long comparison with child minds has given them a blessed assurance. They feel intellectual. They like to make remarks they fondly believe to be highbrow. They feel smarter than almost everybody because they are smarter than their pupils. That's the trick. Find some inferiors to afford flattering comparison and in a little while your complex will be gone

Baker Optimism Impresses Observers Of World Events

Former Secretary Of War Wins Public Attention In Address Expressing Faith In Public Opinion In Economic And Disarmament Problems

The optimism expressed by Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in President Wilson's Cabinet, in a discussion of foreign affairs in his speech opening the sessions of the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., impresses the country, which recognizes the worth of his opinions as those of an outstanding statesman and student of world problems. His statements that economic planning on a world scale could be made effective and that the peoples of the world, rather than their governments, will work out the world's salvation, are held as worthy of consideration and comment.

"He verifies amply his claim to high-minded statesmanship," declares the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, with the tribute that the address "breathes vision, patriotism and sagacity," which "are qualities of which the nation has enduring need, and in this day more than ever." The Star holds that "doubtless, with no intention of tearing a page out of Herbert Hoover's note-book, yet doing so, Mr. Baker advocates 'soundly formed public opinion' as the strongest weapon with which to bring about international economic readjustment as well as disarmament."

"There was not a trace of personal or partisan politics in the address," according to the WORCESTER TELEGRAM. The SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION, observing that "much loose thinking and speaking goes with the professional pessimism of the day," adds that "In refreshing contrast to this sort of thing was the speech by Mr. Baker." The paper continues: "He is not simply a man of practical affairs. His official experience as well as his studies have given him a detached perspective and wide vision. He is probably the most outstanding example of an internationalist within his party. His was the keenest mind, probably, in the Wilson cabinet." The Union quotes his statement as to "the achievement of a helpful internationalism," and adds: "He ably outlined some of the outstanding features of this progress, with the optimistic conclusion that, as severely as the world has been rocked in a great storm and grave as are some of the immediate problems, 'lights are already appearing which indicate that at the end of a great striving we may hope for a safe port'."

"He looked out upon the world and found it good," says the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, quoting his statement that "the hope of the disarmament conference lies not in the statesmen of the world, but in the peoples of the world, and the strength of the peoples of the world at that conference depends not upon the knowledge or good will of a few elect and thoughtful spirits, but in the extent to which popular knowledge is thorough and deep, and so fortifies the representatives of the people with the support of an informed and resolute public opinion." The Bulletin continues: "There is a lot in that sentence. It leads to an explanation of the situation which has struck Mr. Baker, even in his view of the United States, where, in his mind, the people 'have gone far ahead of their government'. . . . Most governments are representative and are dependent upon popular will. They cannot go far ahead of their people, with safety. They cannot always follow the majority, even if it be wise in its purpose, least a minority form a bloc to displace them. The governments of the world, of the leading powers, are to be credited with striving for peace, and there is not one of them that is not going ahead, as fast as popular opinion in its constituencies will sanction."

Mr. Baker's proposal for world tariff reductions over successive periods of years is considered by the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, with the statement: "Each nation would control its own policy, but instead of considering only its narrow, selfish interests, it would take into account the effect of its action on foreign nations with which it must do business and which must themselves be prosperous if trade is to be mutually advantageous. One commentator, pointing out that the Brussels international conference of economic and financial experts more than five years warned the world and stressed the danger which has now eventuated in a general economic collapse, remarks that Mr. Baker's discussion of the subject 'reveals the statesman rather than the politician'."

The proposal to refuse to trade with an aggressor nation in war is held by the WHEELING INTELLIGENCER to promise suffering for innocent persons, and that paper concludes: "In the long run, perhaps the most effective force in preventing war is and will continue to be public opinion." The HARTFORD TIMES, however, avers that "Mr. Baker moves with a firm step in international matters, and his fundamental faith in the capacity of peoples to work out their own salvation if given a fair chance, gives to his utterances a hopeful ring, utterly unmarred by cynicism." The NEWARK EVENING NEWS comments: "Mr. Baker adds his voice to the chorus that the disarmament congress in Geneva next year must not fail. It will be the test of our civilization. He offers no revolutionary ideas, and in fact believes that revolutionary methods aimed at reforming the world would defeat their own purpose by lacking the qualification of education. In the circumstances that surround international affairs today, Mr. Baker's address assumes the importance of a state paper."

The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS describes the address as "a masterly effort to the extent, at least, that its purpose was to outline problems for thought and discussion," and refers to his comment on Russia as "recognizing the character of the Russian government, courageously and correctly, when he describes it as 'a tyrannous political control' of the Russian people."

The MANCHESTER UNION offers the judgment: "When he turns to his theme, his sole contribution to the promotion of economic progress is two proposals which, whatever value they may possess in themselves, it will be conceded are of little immediate practical value. These proposals are the strengthening of the ties of world peace, and a general reduction of tariffs."

"Yes sir," said the barber meekly, "but will you have some lather on your face, sir?"

SEE A DOCTOR!

You know that you are not in as good physical condition as you should be but you fear to go to a physician and get his verdict.

Many years ago you began to have symptoms fast becoming worse of late.

And yet you hesitate to take advantage of scientific help.

Perhaps it is because you cannot spare the money.

You would rather have other members of the family enjoy certain benefits which would be lessened if you put yourself in a doctor's care.

Then you fear an operation might be suggested.

You have a morbid fear of hospitals and surgeons.

Yet you are less and less able to do what is expected of you.

All these dreads chase in and out of your mind and you want to keep yourself in ignorance of a full conception of your condition.

LIFE MORE HAZARDOUS

READERS of newspapers must certainly have been impressed by the unusually large number of catastrophes resulting in much loss of life which have occupied front page space during the last year. It may be imaginary—great events are soon forgotten—but it seems to many that the last 12 months have witnessed more than a normal year's share of disasters.

Looking back over the months the average citizen can recall upwards of a dozen disastrous wind storms and floods, a horrifying number of mine disasters, much loss of life in wrecks on sea and railroad, considerable havoc by fire, earthquakes and many other calamities. Every day seems to have brought its own disaster.

If there has been more loss of life and property through abnormal atmospheric conditions in the past twelve months than in the average year that is readily explained by the variable climatic conditions and as for the other disasters the natural advance of civilization may account for them. There are more people, more mines, more trains, more ships and therefore more possibility of accident and more potential victims of accident.

But while life has been in greater hazard and more uncertain during the past year than in the normal year there has been no panic among mankind nor any frantic struggle to prevent the inevitable. The government and the individual have gone about their affairs as serenely and deliberately as in the most uneventful years of the past. For this there is only one explanation. Hope and confidence in life. Although death is always around the corner man is ever oblivious to it. When disaster wipes out a town it never occurs to the natives of a town ten miles away that it might have been their own town.

LAWS AND CRIME

A New York magistrate says that the gravity of the crime situation is due to two things. The first is that our laws relating to the trial of criminals were formulated in remote days when innocence was in constant danger from tyranny of the great and powerful, and now serve as a protection for the guilty by putting many and often insuperable difficulties in the way of the prosecuting officials.

The second reason given by this judge for the disturbing prevalence of crime is frequent failure of juries to convict, even when the evidence warrants and demands a verdict of guilty. This trend in the jury box, if it amounts to that, he attributes to the same disregard for law that is responsible for the "crime wave."

These are phrases of the crime situation if they are not contributing factors. Many reasonable heads will question the statement that men and women commit crimes because of an inherent "disregard for law" or in the hope of beating the law. The criminal's chance of escape is smaller today than ever in the past, and yet one hears it said crime was never more prevalent. The threat of arrest and punishment has always existed, but so has crime.

Suppose there are some laws which afford the criminal undue protection. Would the public voluntarily surrender them? Knowing that the idea of changing these laws is blasphemy to many judges and lawyers one would answer that the law-abiding will cling to these statutory and constitutional protections as jealously as will the criminal. It is not impossible in this civilized age for the life or liberty of innocent people to be placed in jeopardy. Better that two guilty men be at large than that one innocent person be behind cold gray walls.

THE AGE OF PICTURES

The relentless and daring manner in which a reporter is supposed to follow out his assignment has been the subject of story, song, play and movie. The characterization is often as much of a surprise to the flesh and blood newspaper man as it is to the public. In fiction and on the stage his powers of deduction, his bravery and his effrontery are astonishing, whereas if the truth be known he is very often a prosaic enough individual bent on doing his duty and making a living, just like his neighbors.

Journalism in recent years has produced a parallel type, without a Boswell as yet—the news photographer. The demand from newspaper editors and readers for pictures has made him a most important agency of the Fourth Estate. He goes where the reporter does and very often where the latter does not, for the camera can ofter get a story that the printed word cannot tell.

The policy of tabloid newspapers under which pictures predominate over printed news has inspired the observation that the masses can no longer understand the written word and must be given their news in pictures. This is good vaudeville humor but diverts attention from the real purpose of newspaper photographs.

The picture is to augment, not to supplant, the printed story. It emphasizes the reporter's story and gives a more graphic presentation of the news. Wider use of pictures increases the scope of the newspaper besides enabling it to better serve its readers. Perfection of the radio photograph was one of the greatest boons to journalism.

How Do You Ride a Bicycle? No One Can Tell You And What's The Secret of Living?

My MARSHALL MASLIN

You sit on the seat, you grasp the handle bars, you set your feet on the pedals you give yourself a start—and away you go, riding a bicycle.

Keep pedaling and you will keep going. Lean inward when you make a turn. If you fall off, get up and get on and try again. The secret of the thing is Confidence. If you're afraid, you'll never learn to ride a bicycle.

When you ride a bicycle, you are using some law of motion. I ought to know what it is, but I've forgotten. But you don't need to know that the law exists in order to use it. You ride the bicycle and that's enough. . .In the beginning it seems like a very difficult and rather terrifying thing to do—to ride a bicycle. But after you learn how, you can't understand why it ever seemed difficult. And you couldn't UNLEARN it if you tried.

Living must be something like that.

Some people have a bad time from the start and never seem to be at ease in life. They go at it awkwardly, as if they would conquer life by main strength and determination. Or they are timid and uncertain and they look upon life as a sort of diabolic machine contrived to make them ridiculous.

There are certain laws about living, but the fortunate people can use them without hardly knowing they exist. Laws about getting along with people, laws about winning your way and accepting victory and reconciling defeat, all kinds of laws about big and little things, about trivial or magnificent affairs. And some people who have never been to school at all know instinctively, it seems, how to use these laws of life: while other people who are packed with learning and noisy with theory never do seem to learn how to live and are like fumbling children to the end of their days.

Wise living is like riding a bicycle. A good deal of faith must go into it. A good deal of natural wisdom. A good deal of confidence that even if you do fall off you'll not be hurt very much and you can get up and get on again and keep going until you conquer the thing you are trying to do.

THE SPOILER

There's an old man who dropped
All the working tools and stopped
Doing every useful task
In his chair he'll sit and bask
All the pleasant mornings through,
Or he'll walk an hour or two
When the children of the street
Rush to follow at his feet,
For they know that soon he'll stop
At the nearest candy shop.

Once I put it to him straight:
"I believe you lie in wait
For our youngsters to appear,
For you're always lurking near;
And the sweets which we deny
They've discovered you will buy.
I don't like to make a fuss
But you're spoiling them for us."
Then he smiled and said: "That's true,
But I've nothing else to do.

"It were wrong, of course, for you
Such a reckless thing to do,
But it's all that's left for me,
Who have grown so old to be.
Now my sun is nearly set;
It's the only fun I get!"
So I grinned and said to him:
"Keep your last remaining whim.
If I live as long as you
I shall spoil the children, too."

MORE SWIMMING POOL

Three Oaks,
New Wilmington, Pa.
August 11, 1931.

Mr. Rentz,
New Castle News.
Dear Sir:

My sister and myself have been very much interested in some letters appearing in your paper lately, especially the one from Miss Hale today, about swimming pools, and we are especially interested, because she referred to the new swimming pool which has just been finished in New Wilmington, and which is being used by the young folks and others, from here and the surrounding country.

It is true that it is being used freely, but at what a cost. My sister and I tremble at the evil effect which this pool is bound to have on the growing generation, when we think of the time wasted, which could be spent on more serious things.

And everywhere one looks, one can see children running to the pool, and many grown folks too, clad only in swimming suits, and with only a dressing gown, or some other flimsy garment to hide their nakedness from the gaze of the passers by. At night, when the lights turn the surroundings as light as day, the swimmers can be plainly seen shamelessly posing on the edges of the pool, before they dive, and all this can not help but have a demoralizing effect. If they must have a public pool, surely there should be a screen put so that passers by could not see this kind of a display. Night after night my sister and I have sat back in the shadows outside the fence and blushed as we worried over what the outcome would be.

The members of council seem to feel that they have done something specially fine, because the children in their innocence, hang on their coats as they walk through town and thank them for the pool, and because older persons who are blind to the effect of this thing are also foolish enough to compliment them about it.

It certainly is terrible, the time wasted at the pool. My sister and I were brought up to take our baths on Saturday night, except during the winter, in the privacy of the kitchen, using the wash tub, and thank goodness we have not been swept awa by these new fangled notions. What has been good enough for us these many years ought to be good enough for anybody else, and good money should not be thrown away providing bathing places for public display.

It is said that before these public pools became common, the boys and girls used to go after dark, to quiet places on the rivers to swim, and that surely was a much better plan than this public bathing under bright electric lights. So I and my sister hope that your city will not allow itself to make the same mistake which has been made here.

Sincerely,
Matilda Ellen Hollisday.

Regarding Wills: Where There's A Will There's A Wait.

Frequently I discovered some person, usually young, who is painfully embarrased and self-conscious in public. The cause is a state of mind commonly called an "inferiority complex." The cure is swellhead. That may have the sound of a joke, but I am quite serious. The captain isn't embarrassed in the presence of privates. He feels superior to them and cares no whit for their opinion. Therefore he feels at ease. If you would develop the good opinion of yourself and the cock-sureness called "poise," make it a point to associate much with people who are obviously your inferiors. Knowing you are above them, you will feel at ease; and in time that feeling will become a habit. You will feel cock-sure everywhere. You will think well of yourself everywhere. You will have swellhead. Look at school teachers—not the girls who expect to get married, but old-maid teachers who are aware of having minds. They have associated with dumb kids until they feel brilliant. They may scarcely know what is going on in the world; they may get their history and geography and poetry sadly mixed; they may be near the moron level. But long comparison with child minds has given them a blessed assurance. They feel intellectual. They like to make remarks they fondly believe to be highbrow. They feel smarter than almost everybody because they are smarter than their pupils. That's the trick. Find some inferiors to afford flattering comparison and in a little while your complex will be gone

Baker Optimism Impresses Observers Of World Events

Former Secretary Of War Wins Public Attention In Address Expressing Faith In Public Opinion In Economic And Disarmament Problems

The optimism expressed by Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in President Wilson's Cabinet, in a discussion of foreign affairs in his speech opening the sessions of the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., impresses the country, which recognizes the worth of his opinions as those of an outstanding statesman and student of world problems. His statements that economic planning on a world scale could be made effective and that the peoples of the world, rather than their governments, will work out the world's salvation, are held as worthy of consideration and comment.

"He verifies amply his claim to high-minded statesmanship," declares the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, with the tribute that the address "breathes vision, patriotism and sagacity," which "are qualities of which the nation has enduring need, and in this day more than ever." The Star holds that "doubtless, with no intention of tearing a page out of Herbert Hoover's note-book, yet doing so, Mr. Baker advocates 'soundly formed public opinion' as the strongest weapon with which to bring about international economic readjustment as well as disarmament."

"There was not a trace of personal or partisan politics in the address," according to the WORCESTER TELEGRAM. The SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION, observing that "much loose thinking and speaking goes with the professional pessimism of the day," adds that "in refreshing contrast to this sort of thing was the speech by Mr. Baker." The paper continues: "He is not simply a man of practical affairs. His official experience as well as his studies have given him a detached perspective and wide vision. He is probably the most outstanding example of an internationalist within his party. His was the keenest mind, probably, in the Wilson cabinet." The Union quotes his statement as to "the achievement of a helpful internationalism," and adds: "He ably outlined some of the outstanding features of this progress, with the optimistic conclusion that, as severely as the world has been rocked in a great storm and grave as are some of the immediate problems, 'lights are already appearing which indicate that at the end of a great striving we may hope for a safe port'."

"He looked out upon the world and found it good," says the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, quoting his statement that "the hope of the disarmament conference lies not in the statesmen of the world, but in the peoples of the world, and the strength of the peoples of the world at that conference depends not upon the knowledge or good will of a few elect and thoughtful spirits, but in the extent to which popular knowledge is thorough and deep, and so fortifies the representatives of the people with the support of an informed and resolute public opinion." The Bulletin continues: "There is a lot in that sentence. It leads to an explanation of the situation which has struck Mr. Baker, even in his view of the United States, where, in his mind, the people 'have gone far ahead of their government'. * * * * Most governments are representative and are dependent upon popular will. They cannot go far ahead of their people, with safety. They cannot always follow the majority, even if it be wise in its purpose, least a minority form a bloc to displace them. The governments of the world, of the leading powers, are to be credited with striving for peace, and there is not one of them that is not going ahead, as fast as popular opinion in its constituencies will sanction."

Mr. Baker's proposal for world tariff reductions over successive periods of years is considered by the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, with the statement: "Each nation would control its own policy, but instead of considering only its narrow, selfish interests, it would take into account the effect of its action on foreign nations with which it must do business and which must themselves be properous if trade is to be mutually advantageous. One commentator, pointing out that the Brussels international conference of economic and financial experts more than five years warned the world and stressed the danger which has now eventuated in a general economic collapse, remarks that Mr. Baker's discussion of the subject 'reveals the statesman rather than the politician'."

The proposal to refuse to trade with an aggressor nation in war is held by the WHEELING INTELLIGENCER to promise suffering for innocent persons, and that paper concludes: "In the long run, perhaps the most effective force in preventing war is and will continue to be public opinion." The HARTFORD TIMES, however, avers that "Mr. Baker moves with a firm step in international matters, and his fundamental faith in the capacity of peoples to work out their own salvation, if given a fair chance, gives to his utterances a hopeful ring, utterly unmarred by cynicism." The NEWARK EVENING NEWS comments: "Mr. Baker adds his voice to the chorus that the disarmament congress in Geneva next year must not fail. It will be the test of our civilization. He offers no revolutionary ideas, and in fact believes that revolutionary methods aimed at reforming the world would defeat their own purpose by lacking the qualification of education. In the circumstances that surround international affairs today, Mr. Baker's address assumes the importance of a state paper."

The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS describes the address as "a masterly effort to the extent, at least, that its purpose was to outline problems for thought and discussion," and refers to his comment on Russia as "recognizing the character of the Russian government, courageously and correctly, when he describes it as 'a tyrannous political control' of the Russian people."

The MANCHESTER UNION offers the judgment: "When he turns to his theme, his sole contribution to the promotion of economic progress is two proposals which, whatever value they may possess in themselves, it will be conceded are of little immediate practical value. These proposals are the strengthening of the ties of world peace, and a general reduction of tariffs."

Hope To Hold G. O. P. Convention In East

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Republican organization leaders in the east are preparing a long and strenuous campaign to place the Republican National Convention of 1932 on the Atlantic Seaboard.

Ten eastern cities, Philadelphia and Atlantic City already have bid for the convention, but the plea of the organization leaders goes beyond the claims of any particular city.

The east, they hold, will be the battle ground of the 1932 campaign which President Hoover is expected to wage as the standard bearer of the Republicans. And say these eastern leaders, every means must be used by the republicans to capture the east.

The republican national committee, with its eyes glued on the mid-west, has not allowed a national convention to come east since President McKinley was nominated.

With dissatisfaction reported as a result of the depression, with the east for the most part wet and with Sen. George Moses (R) of New Hampshire already conceding Massachusetts and Rhode Island to the democrats again, the plea of the eastern organization men has become something of a demand.

Several mid-western cities, including Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis and Kansas City, already have been suggested for the convention, and San Francisco stands to pay handsomely for the honors.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The fortune left by the late Elbert H. Gary, United States Steel Corporation president, Wednesday, was estimated to be worth $22,579,521.48.

When the New York Trust Company, executor and trustee of the estate took over the Gary finances in 1927 the value was set at $16,233,418.83. Since that time personal property, including the noted Gary art collection, has been sold, bringing the value to in excess of $22,000,000.

Merkle is to be given a hearing before the justice.

$5,460,716,620 IN AUTOS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The 26,523,779 motor vehicles in the United States had an approximate valuation of $5,460,716,620, on which were levied $1,000,388,270 in registration fees, personal property and gasoline taxes the American Automobile association said today. "This tax levy on motor vehicles," said Col. Sidney D. Waldon of Detroit, chairman of the A. A. A. committee, "is equivalent to 18.3 per cent of their valuation and demonstrates clearly the heavy burden imposed on this form of property."

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

First concern in this district, referring in this case to New Castle and the immediate vicinity, organized to engage in the manufacture of cement, and also a number of kindred or allied products, was the New Castle Portland Cement company. It was the successor of the Marquis Limestone and Glray company, a very prosperous company in its day. The New Castle Portland Cement company was organized in 1901 with a capital of $800,000. It also carried on an extensive business in the manufacture of fire brick, red and paving brick, ground fire clay, and crushed limestone. The concern also carried on a wholesale and retail coal business at one time. It eventually became a part of the Lehigh Portland Cement company, which concern expanded the cement end of the business to such an extent that there was at one time three cement plants east of the city. The Lehigh Company continues today to operate a cement plant here, which represents in a way a continuation of the business inaugurated by the New Castle Portland Cement company. The officers of this concern when it was organized were Edwin N. Ohl, president; Charles Greer, vice president and Edwin F. Norris, secretary and treasurer.

Media Will Save Shiny Police Car

MEDIA, Pa., Aug. 13.—"Drunks" will pay for taxicab rides which they will take involuntarily in Media, because the borough has a new shiny police car, George W. Hinkson, president of the borough council, has ruled.

"In order to spare the new police car," Hinkson said, "a new plan will be tried. When a person is arrested for being drunk he will be driven to the station in a taxicab hailed by the officer making the arrest. When the prisoner is arraigned for a hearing the next morning he will pay a fine and the taxicab bill added to the fine and costs in his case."

Hinkson said the prisoners' feeling against riding in police cars had nothing to do with the proposed taxi plan. Only the new police car was considered.

If all the bootleggers would pay their income tax we might not have any public debt.—The South Bend Tribune.

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia, and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for fruits, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Hope To Hold G. O. P. Convention In East

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Republican organization leaders in the east are preparing a long and strenuous campaign to place the Republican National Convention of 1932 on the Atlantic Seaboard.

Two eatsern cities, Philadelphia and Atlantic City, already have bid for the convention, but the plea of the organization leaders goes beyond the claims of any particular city.

The east, they hold, will be the battle ground of the 1932 campaign which President Hoover is expected to wage as the standard bearer of the Republicans. And, say these eastern leaders, every means must be used by the republicans to capture the east.

The republican national committee, with its eyes glued on the mid-west, has not allowed a national convention to come east since President McKinley was nominated.

With dissatisfaction reported as a result of the depression, with the east for the most part wet and with Sen. George Mosos (R) of New Hampshire already conceding Massachusetts and Rhode Island to the democrats again, the plea of the eastern organization men has become something of a demand.

Several mid-western cities, including Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis and Kansas City, already have been suggested for the convention, and San Francisco stands to pay handsomely for the honors.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The fortune left by the late Elbert H. Gary, United States Steel Corporation president, Wednesday, was estimated to be worth $22,579,521.48.

When the New York Trust Company, executor and trustee of the estate took over the Gary finances in 1927 the value was set at $16,233,418.83. Since that time personal property, including the noted Gary art collection, has been sold, bringing the value to in excess of $22,000,000.

Freed On Bail In Assault Case

WARREN, Pa., Aug. 13. — Ed Merkle, of Tidoute, is free under $1,000 bail on a charge of aggravated assault and battery preferred as a result of a scuffle that occurred at Tidoute August 3, when Ralph Morrison received injuries about the head which threatened to prove fatal. Merkle is to be given a hearing before the justice.

$5,460,716,620 IN AUTOS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The 26,523,779 motor vehicles in the United States had an approximate valuation of $5,460,716,620, on which were levied $1,000,388,270 in registration fees, personal property and gasoline taxes the American Automobile association said today. "This tax levy on motor vehicles," said Col. Sidney D. Waldon of Detroit, chairman of the A. A. A. committee, "is equivalent to 18.3 per cent of their valuation and demonstrates clearly the heavy burden imposed on this form of property."

Philadelphia Dry Agent Kills Wife, Then Wounds Self

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13—A man believed to be a prohibition agent, shot and killed his wife and then seriously wounded himself here on Wednesday, police reported.

The man was tentatively identified as Salvadore Cantisi. He is in a critical condition in the Methodist Hospital. His wife was killed instantly.

What precipitated the shooting could not be learned. It took place in the Cantisi home on South Chadwick street.

George's Skunk Takes No Prizes

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 13. — George Longnecker, lover of animals, has lost his faith in pet shows.

One was given here for youngsters of the city. To it came George, bearing his entry and envisioning it as a natural prize winner for "most beautiful", "best developed", or "most unusual."

But all George's pet got was the unanimous prize as "most objectionable," and all George got was an order to depart, instanter.

George's pet was a healthy, active skunk.

PASTOR ACCEPTS CUT IN SALARY

(International News Service)

MT. CARMEL, Pa., Aug. 13. — On his own suggestion, the Rev. J. A. Detter, pastor of the Church of God here, will accept a $200 reduction in salary next year. The divine suggested that his salary be cut from $2,000 a year to $1800 immediately after the congregation of his church invited him to return as pastor for the fourth time.

Speedy And Friendly Settlement Of Herndon-Pangborn Case In Tokyo Looked For

PREMIER ASKS FOR LENIENCY

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Aug. 13.—A speedy and friendly settlement of the case against Hugh Herndon and Clyde Pangborn, American flyers accused of espionage, has been requested by Premier Shidehara, it was said here today.

Jingoes however continued to urge punishment for the flyers alleging that the photographs they took over fortified areas were too good to be mere souvenir snapshots and that the dignity of Japan had been offended.

Herndon and Pangborn were grilled for nearly eleven hours yesterday by the public prosecutor. Although the hearing was extremely tedious, it was said not to have been disagreeable. Luncheon was served the Americans in court.

Pittsburgh Man Suffers Attack

Two Girls And Man Attack Insurance Adjuster As He Enters Fraternity House

POLICE HUNTING FOR ATTACKERS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13.—Two girls and a male companion today attacked W. A. McGuire, an insurance adjuster, as he was about to enter a fraternity house in the Oakland district.

The trio used a hammer and a steel handle as weapons. McGuire fought off the attack and ran into the fraternity house. One of his attackers hurled the hammer at him but it fell on the porch.

McGuire lost a card case in the melee and was only slightly bruised. He told police he recognized one of the girls and the man.

The victim said fraternity houses in the district have recently been singled out for petty thievery in the absence of students and believed his return early this morning may have frustrated such an attempt.

The adjuster was able to give police a good description of the trio and the license number of the car in which they fled.

Car Turns Over Last Evening On Harlansburg Road

Mrs. Bella Johnston, Of East Leasure Avenue, Taken To Hospital

After skidding on the wet Harlansburg highway, a New Castle bound automobile careened into a ditch last evening and one occupant of the car was sent to the Jameson Memorial hospital as a result.

Mrs. Bella Johnston of 412 East Leasure avenue received a broken shoulder bone and a sprained ankle and the other occupants of the car, Carlton and Arthur Kurz and Betty Johnston, received minor bruises.

The party was en route to New Castle from Buffalo, N. Y., the home of Carlton Kurz and his brother, where Mrs. Johnston and her daughter had been visiting. The accident happened at about 6:25 p. m., two miles from New Castle.

Milk has been carried across the United States in an airplane without souring.

Despite the threatening weather of Wednesday evening a large crowd heard Pastor Henderson speak on "What's the Use?" using as his text Psalms 73:2-3.

He described the "what's the use" attitude of one whose love, faith and hope were almost gone; one given up to wretched abandon; one of shattered ideals and indifference. He said this attitude made tramps, saying a tramp is more than a mere walker, but is one who has lost grip on life's ideals, having nothing to live, fight and die for.

"Going Down" will be the subject of this evening's discourse.

PREMIER ASKS FOR LENIENCY

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Aug. 13.—A speedy and friendly settlement of the case against Hugh Herndon and Clyde Pangborn, American flyers accused of espionage, has been requested by Premier Shidehara, it was said here today.

Jingoes however continued to urge punishment for the flyers alleging that the photographs they took over fortified areas were too good to be mere souvenir snapshots and that the dignity of Japan had been offended.

Herndon and Pangborn were grilled for nearly eleven hours yesterday by the public prosecutor. Although the hearing was extremely tedious, it was said not to have been disagreeable. Luncheon was served the Americans in court.

Despite the threatening weather of Wednesday evening a large crowd heard Pastor Henderson speak on "What's the Use?" using as his text Psalms 73:2-3.

He described the "what's the use" attitude of one whose love, faith and hope were almost gone; one given up to wretched abandon; one of shattered ideals and indifference. He said this attitude made tramps, saying a tramp is more than a mere walker, but is one who has lost grip on life's ideals, having nothing to live, fight and die for.

"Going Down" will be the subject of this evening's discourse.

Diamond Plans To Appeal Sentence

Jack "Legs" Diamond, Will Appeal From Federal Sentence — Faces New Charges

KIDNAPING CHARGE IS QUITE SERIOUS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Jack "Legs" Diamond, free on $15,000 bail after sentenced yesterday to pay a $11,000 fine and serve four years in a federal prison for violation of the prohibition law, was reported planning an appeal today. His appeal probably would not be heard until November.

Meanwhile, Diamond faced trial by the state on charges of kidnaping an up-state cider truckman. This trial was tentatively scheduled for September. If convicted, the New York racketeer would be liable to a sentence of from 20 to 40 years.

Grove City Pastor Spurns Vacation

Presbyterian Church Pastor Will Continue To Fill Pulpit This Summer

GROVE CITY, Aug. 13.—Dr. C. H. Williamson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church is not taking a vacation this year. During the remainder of August the pastor will occupy the pulpit of his church at the hour of morning worship.

With his family he will occupy his summer camp near Butler. The evening services at the church during this period will be in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society with talks made by the boys of the Oxford Club of the college made up of students for the ministry.

VACATION STARTS

Vacation period is on at Grove City College. Faculty members will not return until the fall term opening of September 15th. There is every indication that the attendance record of 600 last year will be depleted very slightly if at all.

Football camp for gridders opens on September 8th prefacing the academic session.

During the month intervening Dr. L. H. Beeler is in California, Prof. R. G. Walters in Virginia, Dr. W. E. Purvis in Youngstown and other members considering vacations.

TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Country Club members announce today a plan for helping the unemployment situation here. Members are being solicited for voluntary contributions to be used in cleaning vegetable matter from the club lake, 25 acres in extent. Arrangement of working schedules will be made to bring relief to men with families. A chemical solution for loosening the vegetable growth is being used. It is estimated that 400 tons of debris will be hauled.

COLLECT JARS

Glass jars for canning purposes were collected today by the Grove City Kiwanis Club members. They are to be turned over to the unemployed for canning vegetables and fruits.

Local residents desiring to contribute are asked to put jars on porches for collection. The John Fisher store room will be open for those desiring to leave jars.

The club sponsored 60 "Ward Gardens" that are said to me very productive. To take care of the excess vegetables for winter use this plan is evoked.

TO HAVE FLOWER SHOW

One of the barns at the grounds of the Accredited Cattle Show will be devoted to the display of flowers and booths for merchants at the sixteenth annual show August 27-28. This will leave two barns for the display of pure herds of dairy cattle that will be shown. At a meeting of the association directors plans were outlined for the listing of cattle. To double the 1930 show of 100 head is the desire.

The merchants of the community are urged to establish booths at the grounds making a display of their merchandise. The flower show will be of cut flowers.

Pitiful Scenes In Michigan Homes As Tragedy Is Retold

Tearful Scenes In Homes Of Victims Of "Petting Party" Fiend Slaying

Characters Of Young Men Involved Are Upheld—Friends Are Stunned By Deaths

By CHARLOTTE WEBB
International News Service Special Correspondent

YPSILANTI, Mich., Aug. 13.—Memories of baby hands, the first steps of baby feet, the first smiles of baby lips today brought tears to the eyes of three mothers who sat numbed with grief at the fate that turned their children into charred corpses.

In the modest frame cottage of Burt Lore, a stream of relatives and neighbors arrived, awkwardly tender in their sympathy to the parents of young Harry Lore.

In the small bare dining room sat the mother of pretty little Vivian Gold, Harry's 15 year old cousin, in defense of whose honor he had lost his life. Thin, wan, unable to control the tremors that shook her occasionally, she clung to the hand of Rudolph, her husband.

And eight miles down the road, motionless and stricken sat the third of the tragic-eyed mothers, Mrs. Myrtle Wheatley. She watched the tow-headed baby play happily with the beads about the neck of the solemn young woman who bore him. Then, suddenly, her head bowed, and she gave way to sobs, as if the sight recalled memories of her slain son's babyhood.

From farms for miles around neighbors drove in to give what comfort and aid they might. It wasn't much. The torture of these mothers was beyond all that.

Slain Youths Separated

But they were quick to defend the youths and the young girls they escorted from any taint of jazz and gin-crazed flaming youth. There was young Wilson Koch, friend of the boys for six years and the one who entered them in the Demolay society, a masonic order for young men.

"Harry was a prince of a fellow. He'd been working here on dad's farm ever since he left school.

"I met them in town the night they were killed, about 8:30. They planned to go to the late show to see the double movie bill, and that would leave them out about 12:30."

Wilson's elder brother, Harold, advisor to the De Molay council was equally emphatic in his praise of the slain boys characters. So was Guy Simmons, so was William Hayden, so, in fact, were all who knew them and their parents.

As the little crowd of friends grew in the tiny Lore parlor, Burt Lore, grim in his grief, suddenly bowed his face in his hands and said slowly:

"Harry never stayed out late before. You see he had to get up at 4 o'clock every morning to go to work over at Koch's Dairy farm. So he always got to bed early except on Monday's or when there was a De Molay society meeting.

"I was kind of worried last night, there's been so much goin' on around here these last weeks, stick-ups and, and," his voice broke off as he found it impossible to voice the thought in his mind. Mrs. Lore looked listlessly at the small son of a neighbor and sighed deeply.

Fear Expressed

"I dozed off some time after midnight," she said. "Then I'd wake up; but Harry and the girls hadn't come home. I was fearfully worried. —I—I—Well, I had to go to work at eight in the morning, but I told dad to let me know when he heard from them...."

Lore shook his head hopelessly, and supplemented:

"I'm a carperter, and I haven't had work for a while back. Well, I started out to find what I could. Then I heard, I heard something had happened about eight miles down the road. I didn't want to alarm mother, I went to investigate..."

The mother of Anna May Harrison, the 17 year old Cleveland chum of Vivian, was not expected until later. It was a further ordeal for the stricken Lore's. Last Saturday, laughing and dancing at the prospect of a holiday in the pretty rolling country of Michigan's farmlands, she had arrived at their home with the Golds for a week's stay. They dreaded a repetition of the scene that occurred when Oladys Gold learned that her child had been slain. The terrifying outcries succeeded by a more ghastly silence as she slumped to the ground in a faint.

MARCO DEMOFONTI OWNED SOME STOCK

(International News Service)

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 13.—Appointment of a legal guardian for the seven motherless children of Marco Demofonti, insane slayer who was ordered confined to an asylum after he ran amuck with a revolver and shotgun, killing his wife, fatally injuring four others, and wounding three persons, was being sought today by Ubaldo Demofonti, of Brent Mine, a brother.

The children, since their father's confinement, have been living with their uncle at his home in Brent Mine, according to the petition.

The court was informed that Demofonti owned 27 shares of stock the proceeds from which may be used to maintain the children until a guardian is appointed.

Sixteeners In Convention At Mercer Elect New Castle Woman Treasurer

MERCER, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Rose Eckert Pripp of New Castle was elected treasurer of the Sixteeners' organization last evening at a meeting of delegates to the 40th annual convention held in the local courthouse.

The Sixteeners are children of Civil War veterans who attended the soldiers' orphan school in Mercer from 1868 to 1888. The name Sixteeners refers to the age at which the children were graduated from the school.

There are 450 living members of the organization. The records state that 2,400 attended the school during its existance. One hundred and fifty will attend the picnic on the old school site.

The interest of the convention centers about the maps drawn by the scholars of the school for the Philadelphia centennial in 1876. They were brought here from Harrisburg.

Dr. Morgan Barnes of Ojai, Cal., was the speaker at the convention yesterday. Others who were elected to office were Mrs. Nettie E. Bennett, Kenlore, N. Y., president; Rev. Fred Schriner, Allegheny, N. Y. vice president; Mrs. Lillie Johnston, Altoona, Pa., secretary; Walter Sowdy, Erie, Pa., publicity secretary.

S. G. Ligo Presents Partial Summary Of Building Repairs, Receives Thanks

Following the reading of his partial report of a series of repairs made in the buildings of the city school system, S. G. Ligo, superintendent of buildings, grounds and equipment received the thanks of the school board which met in session last evening in the school administration building.

A statement to the directors contained in the partial report follows:

"We have made a special effort to accomplish a vast amount of repairs this year and have also taken particular care to cut down the cost, which I sincerely believe has been accomplished beyond our expectations. The janitors have made an honest effort in their work both from a stand point of quantity as well as quality, and I want to commend them for their co-operation It is the desire of the janitors, as well as myself, to have the public as well as the members of the board to make a thorough inspection of this work.

"This department would commend the board as well as the officers for their kind consideration during the past year, as they have helped us in many ways, always keeping in mind the interests of the taxpayers in New Castle; and while we have been held down very closely on the amount of money appropriated to this department, we appreciate the fact that conditions have made it very difficult for this efficient board of directors to make the limited amount of money stretch to meet the conditions. It has been a pleasure to work for you and I can only assure you that our efforts and loyalty will continue as in the past."

Pitiful Scenes In Michigan Homes As Tragedy Is Retold

Tearful Scenes In Homes Of Victims Of "Petting Party" Fiend Slaying

By CHARLOTTE WEBB
International News Service Special Correspondent

YPSILANTI, Mich., Aug. 13.—Memories of baby hands, the first steps of baby feet, the first smiles of baby lips today brought tears to the eyes of three mothers who sat numbed with grief at the fate that turned their children into charred corpses.

In the modest frame cottage of Burt Lore, a stream of relatives and neighbors arrived, awkwardly tender in their sympathy to the parents of young Harry Lore.

In the small bare dining room sat the mother of pretty little Vivian Gold, Harry's 15 year old cousin, in defense of whose honor he had lost his life. Thin, wan, unable to control the tremors that shook her occasionally, she clung to the hand of Rudolph, her husband.

And eight miles down the road, motionless and stricken sat the third of the tragic-eyed mothers, Mrs. Myrtle Wheatley. She watched the tow-headed baby play happily with the beads about the neck of the solemn young woman who bore him. Then, suddenly, her head bowed, and she gave way to sobs, as if the sight recalled memories of her slain son's babyhood.

From farms for miles around neighbors drove in to give what comfort and aid they might. It wasn't much. The torture of these mothers was beyond all that.

Slain Youths Separated

But they were quick to defend the youths and the young girls they escorted from any taint of jazz and gin-crazed flaming youth. There was young Wilson Koch, friend of the boys for six years and the one who entered them in the Demolay society, a masonic order for young men.

"Harry was a prince of a fellow. He'd been working here on dad's farm ever since he left school.

"I met them in town the night they were killed, about 8:30. They planned to go to the late show to see the double movie bill, and that would leave them out about 12:30."

Wilson's elder brother, Harold, advisor to the De Molay council was equally emphatic in his praise of the slain boys characters. So was Guy Simmons, so was William Hayden, so, in fact, were all who knew them and their parents.

As the little crowd of friends grew in the tiny Lore parlor, Burt Lore, grim in his grief, suddenly bowed his face in his hands and said slowly:

"Harry never stayed out late before. You see he had to get up at 4 o'clock every morning to go to work over at Koch's Dairy farm. So he always got to bed early except on Monday's or when there was a De Molay society meeting.

"I was kind of worried last night, there's been so much goin' on around here these last weeks, stick-ups and, and, "his voice broke off as he found it impossible to voice the thought in his mind. Mrs. Lore looked listlessly at the small son of a neighbor and sighed deeply.

Fear Expressed

"I dozed off some time after midnight," she said. "Then I'd wake up; but Harry and the girls hadn't come home. I was fearfully worried. —I—I—Well, I had to go to work at eight in the morning, but I told dad to let me know when he heard from them...."

Lore shook his head hopelessly, and supplemented:

"I'm a carpenter, and I haven't had work for a while back. Well, I started out to find what I could. Then I heard, I heard something had happened about eight miles down the road. I didn't want to alarm mother, I went to investigate..."

The mother of Anna May Harrison, the 17 year old Cleveland chum of Vivian, was not expected until later. It was a further ordeal for the stricken Lore's. Last Saturday, laughing and dancing at the prospect of a holiday in the pretty rolling country of Michigan's farmlands, she had arrived at their home with the Golds for a week's stay. They dreaded a repetition of the scene that occurred when Gladys Gold learned that her child had been slain. The terrifying outcries succeeded by a more ghastly silence as she slumped to the ground in a faint.

State Corn Crop Is Exceptional

Oats Are Disappointing, Federal-State Crop Report Shows

Weather during July was very favorable for corn and the outlook for a good crop this year has been very promising, according to the report issued today by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, Harrisburg. Wheat is turning out even better than last year's record yield.

Weather conditions during July were quite generally very favorable for plant growth, but local storms beat down the ripening crops and frequent rains interrupted the harvesting of hay and grains and occasioned considerable reduction in both yields and quality. However, over large areas the supply of moisture in the soil seems fairly well exhausted, and soaking rains will be needed to bring the late crops to maturity with satisfactory yields. Temperature during July averaged three degrees above normal and precipitation several inches above. Harvest has increased the demand for labor, and in some localities the highway work is absorbing the surplus. The Japanese beetle is migrating to the country in the southeastern part of the State, and infestations of other insects are unusually heavy in many localities.

All meat animal prices are still declining in Pennsylvania, according to the report as of July 15. Egg prices advanced to 20.7 cents and butterfat to 26 cents btu wool remained unchanged at 17 cents.

Corn has done remarkably well up to the first of August—it is earing nicely and the fodder is luxuriant. However, the crop in many localities is urgently in need of soaking rains. Condition is the highest since 1924.

Wheat Yield Heavy

This is another year of surprisingly large wheat yields, with heavy straw. Quality, however, will be lower than last year, largely on account of much shriveled grain in last year's drought areas and wet weather in some localities at harvest time. Moisture content is reported high.

As a whole the oats crop is disappointing, despite some exceptional yields. Either dry weather stunted growth and hastened maturity, or severe storms beat down the heavy stands and caused extensive loss. Much rust and smut are reported, and damage from grasshoppers and the weather is so heavy in a few localities that some fields will be plowed under.

Bugs have been very bad on potatoes this year. The early crop is quite generally reported satisfactory, more so than the late crop which, over wide areas, needs rain. In others, rather limited, it has had too much. Blight is present in some counties and in quite a few fields the stand is below normal. However, prospects are much above average.

So far, the tobacco crop has done very well, but the supply of moisture the first of the month was in need of replenishing in many localities. Topping is well along. The hornworm is plentiful, and there are some grasshoppers and other insects, but little disease. Prospects for a fine crop are quite general.

Rye is turning out better than average. Buckwheat is late but promising. Barley is a new crop on many farms; yields are proving disappointing in some localities and in others exceeding expectations.

The hay crop is very large in many of the northern counties but relatively light in the central and south central districts. Over large areas the condition of meadows and pasture would be greatly improved by rains.

There will be a large crop of apples and peaches, but in many apple orchards the fruit will be of poor quality. In some sections pears will be an enormous crop. In some localities there were so many cherries that many went to waste. The outlook for grapes in the Erie belt is very promising.

World-Wide Interest In A Southern Case; Eight Face Execution

Alabama Writer Explains Angles Of Now Famous "Scottsboro Case"; Fate Of Condemned Negroes Up To Supreme Court

The eight negroes whose death sentences have been appealed; lower left, Chief Justice John C Anderson of the Alabama supreme court, which will hear the cases; lower right, Gov. B. M. Miller, who will consider the cases if the supreme court upholds the original verdicts.

By E. M. HENDERSON, SR.
Central Press Correspondent

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 13.—The fate of the eight negro youths convicted and sentenced to death, at Scottsboro, Ala., on charges of criminally assaulting two young white women—Ruby Bates and Victoria Price—in March, 1931, still is pending in the courts ,and does not rest in the hands of Governor B. M. Miller, as protestants over the world seem to think.

Appeals have been taken to the supreme court of Alabama, and these appeals now are pending. Therefore, the cases are not before the governor at the present time.

It was alleged that the negroes assaulted the two girls on a freight train as it passed through Jackson county.

The supreme court is in recess until October. Call of the division in which appealed cases from Jackson county are included will not take place until December, so that it may be January before the Scottsboro appeals are acted upon.

May Be Speeded

It may be possible, but not considered probable, that the state attorney general, Thomas Knight, may see fit to ask the court to move these cases up on the docket, due to the widespread interest in their disposition.

Contrary to belief, the eight Scottsboro defendants who now are confined to Kilby prison, are not there on commitments for execution of death sentence. These commitments were automatically suspended pending action of the supreme court on the appeals. The negroes are at Kilby prison for safe keeping, on an order issued by Judge A. E. Hawkins of Jackson county, and carried out by the Jackson county sheriff, M. L. Wann.

Many Messages To Governor

The governor has received scores of communications—both letters and telegrams—demanding the unconditional release of the eight negroes, who were sentenced to death on April 6.

The International Labor Defense, said in many quarters to have close affiliations with the Communistic propagandists in the United States, represents the organized effort to save the lives of the negroes.

George Chamblee, of Chattanooga, Tenn., former attorney general of that state, is reputed to be principal counsel for the International Labor Defense in these cases.

Distant Protests

Protests have been received from as far away as Switzerland. Germany is represented, as well as Cuba, Canada and a number of South American countries.

Press reports tell of protest meetings in foreign countries, particularly Germany.

The most notable name appearing upon a protest from abroad is that of Professor Albert Einstein, famous German savant and originator of the theory of relativity. The names of Thomas Mann, Kaethe Kollwitz and Alfons Goldschmidt also were signed to the message.

These men are said to form a committee in support of that organized under the name National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners, which has had the support of Theodore Dreiser and other nationally known literary figures in the United States.

The following facts developed by newspaper investigators:

On the afternoon of Wednesday, March 25, 1931, about a dozen negroes engaged in a fight with about six white boys on a freight train near Stevenson, Ala., in Jackson county.

All except one of the white boys were thrown from the train or jumped from the train when the negroes showed weapons.

At Paint Rock, Ala., 50 miles from Stevenson, but still in Jackson county, nine negroes were arrested by a posse that had been assembled when some of the white boys reported the fight at Stevenson.

No Individual Confession

Somewhere between Stevenson and Paint Rock, the two girls allegedly were attacked. No negro has confessed any part in the attack as far as it concerns himself.

The negroes, the white youths and the two girls were all hoboes. The negroes are all young, but there is a dispute as to whether the ages given at the trial, ranging from 14 to 21, are correct.

Victoria Price gave her age as 21, and admitted she had been married twice. Ruby Bates gave her age as 17. The first husband of Mrs. Price is dead and she is separated from the second one.

Both girls live in poor mill sections of Huntsville, Ala. They testified at the negroes' trial that they had been to Chattanooga looking for work. At the trial both said they had gone to only one mill in Chattanooga seeking jobs.

Victoria Price is known to the police of Huntsville through minor offenses.

Guardsmen On Duty

Eleven officers and 107 enlisted men of the Alabama national guard were stationed around the courthouse with tear bombs and machine guns and ordinary arms during the trial.

Upon arraignment of the negroes, Judge Hawkins appointed all the members of the Scottsboro bar, with the exception of those already interested in the case, as counsel for the negroes. Only one Scottsboro attorney participated to any degree in the case, Milo Moody.

At the opening of the trial Stephen Roddy of Chattanooga, appeared as representative, he said, of interested persons. Later he was employed by the Interdenominational Alliance of Chattanooga. Following conviction other attorneys appeared, employed by or getting pay from the International Labor Defense. Money for defense of the negroes has been raised in the north. At Scottsboro a purse was made up to employ special counsel to assist in the prosecution, and the firm of Proctor and Snodgrass, a leading law firm of Scottsboro, was engaged.

Additional Briefs

Judge Hawkins, on June 5, allowed both prosecution and defense 10 more days in which to file affidavits and additional briefs prior to handing down a decision of retrial petitions.

At this time defense attorneys filed affidavits tending to show the girls were of loose character and had visited in Chattanooga in 1929 and 1930 and there consorted with negroes.

John K. Thompson, prosecuting attorney, filed counter affidavits signed by T. B. Reynolds, superintendent; W. M. Willman, secretary and treasurer, and J. V. Pollard, paymaster of the Marion mills, that Victoria Price was employed there day by day during the time the defense charged she was in Chattanooga.

Judge Hawkins later refused a retrial and defense attorneys appealed to the supreme court.

State Corn Crop Is Exceptional

Oats Are Disappointing, Federal-State Crop Report Shows

Weather during July was very favorable for corn and the outlook for a good crop this year has been very promising, according to the report issued today by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, Harrisburg. Wheat is turning out even better than last year's record yield.

Weather conditions during July were quite generally very favorable for plant growth but local storms beat down the ripening crops and frequent rains interrupted the harvesting of hay and grains and occasioned considerable reduction in both yields and quality. However, over large areas the supply of moisture in the soil seems fairly well exhausted, and soaking rains will be needed to bring the late crops to maturity with satisfactory yields. Temperature during July averaged three degrees above normal and precipitation several inches above. Harvest has increased the demand for labor, and in some localities the highway work is absorbing the surplus. The Japanese beetle is migrating to the country in the southeastern part of the State, and infestations of other insects are unusually heavy in many localities.

All meat animal prices are still declining in Pennsylvania, according to the report as of July 15. Egg prices advanced to 20.7 cents and butterfat to 26 cents btu wool remained unchanged at 17 cents.

Corn has done remarkably well up to the first of August—it is earing nicely and the fodder is luxuriant. However, the crop in many localities is urgently in need of soaking rains. Condition is the highest since 1924.

Wheat Yield Heavy

This is another year of surprisingly large wheat yields, with heavy straw. Quality, however, will be lower than last year, largely on account of much shriveled grain in last year's drought areas and wet weather in some localities at harvest time. Moisture content is reported high.

As a whole the oats crop is disappointing, despite some exceptional yields. Either dry weather stunted growth and hastened maturity, or severe storms beat down the heavy stands and caused extensive loss. Much rust and smut are reported, and damage from grasshoppers and the weather is so heavy in a few localities that some fields will be plowed under.

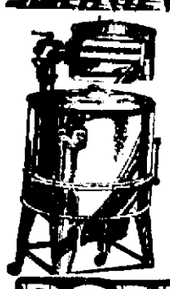

Bugs have been very bad on potatoes this year. The early crop is quite generally reported satisfactory, more so than the late crop which, over wide areas, needs rain. In others, rather limited, it has had too much. Blight is present in some counties and in quite a few fields the stand is below normal. However, prospects are much above average.

So far, the tobacco crop has done very well, but the supply of moisture the first of the month was in need of replenishing in many localities. Topping is well along. The hornworm is plentiful, and there are some grasshoppers and other insects, but little disease. Prospects for a fine crop are quite general.

Rye is turning out better than average. Buckwheat is late but promising. Barley is a new crop on many farms; yields are proving disappointing in some localities and in others exceeding expectations.

The hay crop is very large in many of the northern counties but relatively light in the central and south central districts. Over large areas the condition of meadows and pasture would be greatly improved by rains.

There will be a large crop of apples and peaches, but in many apple orchards the fruit will be of poor quality. In some sections pears will be an enormous crop. In some localities there were so many cherries that many went to waste. The outlook for grapes in the Erie belt is very promising.

World-Wide Interest In A Southern Case; Eight Face Execution

Alabama Writer Explains Angles Of Now Famous "Scottsboro Case"; Fate Of Condemned Negroes Up To Supreme Court

The eight negroes whose death sentences have been appealed; lower left, Chief Justice John C Anderson of the Alabama supreme court, which will hear the cases; lower right, Gov. B. M. Miller, who will consider the cases if the supreme court upholds the original verdicts.

By E. M. HENDERSON, SR.
Central Press Correspondent

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 13.—The fate of the eight negro youths convicted and sentenced to death, at Scottsboro, Ala., on charges of criminally assaulting two young white women—Ruby Bates and Victoria Price—in March, 1931, still is pending in the courts and does not rest in the hands of Governor B. M. Miller, as protestants over the world seem to think.

Appeals have been taken to the supreme court of Alabama, and these appeals now are pending. Therefore, the cases are not before the governor at the present time.

It was alleged that the negroes assaulted the two girls on a freight train as it passed through Jackson county.

The supreme court is in recess until October. Call of the division in which appealed cases from Jackson county are included will not take place until December, so that it may be January before the Scottsboro appeals are acted upon.

May Be Speeded

It may be possible, but not considered probable, that the state attorney general, Thomas Knight, may see fit to ask the court to move these cases up on the docket, due to the widespread interest in their disposition.

Contrary to belief, the eight Scottsboro defendants who now are confined to Kilby prison, are not there on commitments for execution of death sentence. These commitments were automatically suspended pending action of the supreme court on the appeals. The negroes are at Kilby prison for safe keeping, on an order issued by Judge A. E. Hawkins of Jackson county, and carried out by the Jackson county sheriff, M. L. Wann.

Many Messages To Governor

The governor has received scores of communications—both letters and telegrams—demanding the unconditional release of the eight negroes, who were sentenced to death on April 6.

The International Labor Defense, said in many quarters to have close affiliations with the Communistic propagandists in the United States, represents the organized effort to save the lives of the negroes.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

PROGRAM FOR 4-H CLUB CAMP

4-H Club members and other farm boys who attend Camp John M. Phillips during the week of August 24th have several treats in store for them. R. H. MacDougle, County Agent of Butler will be in charge of the instructional period and Ross M. Gridley, County Agent of Beaver will be in charge of the recreational work. A. L. Baker, a state club leader, will be in charge of the campfire and vesper program. The program of recreation for the week will be planned on a discussion of recreational activities that can be used back home in club meetings.

On Tuesday, tool shapening and insects will be the subject. J. R. Haswell and E. J. Anderson of State College will lead these discussions. On Wednesday, forestry and tree identification will be the topics of discussion and will be lead by Frank Murphy of State College. Thursday will be given over to dairy cattle judging. Instructional periods on Friday will consist of discussions and demonstrations of rope work including knots, splices and halter making.

All the above is, of course, in addition to the regular recreation, swimming, vesper, campfire program of camp. Any Lawrence County boys between the ages of 10 and 20 are eligible for the camp and can obtain further information or make their enrollment at the Agricultural Extension Association office.

PICK COUNTY CHAIRMAN FOR POTATO EXPOSITION

C. B. Patton of New Castle, R. D. 4 has been named chairman of Lawrence county by the committee in charge of the Potato Exposition at State College August 24 to 26. He will be in charge of Lawrence county participation in the exposition. All who plan to attend should get in touch with Mr. Patton, so that he can make reservations for rooms and meals for them.

A banquet for 400 Bushel Club members will open the activities of the exposition Monday evening, August 24. John Schrope, of Schuylkill county, will be the toastmaster, Dean R. L. Watts of the Penn State school of agriculture, and E. S. Bayard, college trustee and editor-in-chief of the Pennsylvania Farmer, will speak. The Slippery Rock High School male quartet will sing.

Five Lawrence county farmers who are eligible to attend this banquet with their families are: O. S. Minor, Plain Grove: C. B. Patton and A. E. McCreary and Sons, Hickory: A. J. McCalla and David A. Byler of North Beaver.

Following the 400 Bushel Club banquet there will be an entertainment program in the college auditorium. Friedens Grange, of Somerset county, will stage the one-act rural play, "Squandering it with the Boss" which won first place in the western section of the rural dramatic tournament at the State Farm Show in Harrisburg last January. The Slippery Rock quartet again will sing, and Dr. E. L. Nixon, Pennsylvania's potato wizard, will tell how to get the most out of the exposition.

Early Tuesday morning the exposition grounds will be open for visitors who wish to view the educational exhibits on production, marketing, preparation and use of potatoes, and the commercial displays of machinery and equipment. Visits to the experimental plots also may be made, and to the college farms and the campus, too.

With Miles Horst, Harrisburg, as chairman, the speaking program will open at 9:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, Tuesday, John A. McSparran, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, will speak on "The Possibilities and Advantages of Pennsylvania Agriculture." Dr. F. P. Weaver, head of the College Department of Agricultural Economics, also will speak, discussing "Taxes as Related to Rural Life Problems." Music will be furnished by the Slippery Rock Quartet and Paul Horst, Lebanon.

Both Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to demonstrations. These will be on lime slaking, preparation of spray materials, grading, packing, marketing, plowing, seed-bed preparation, harrowing, planting, weeding, cultivation, spraying, digging, and on mechanical equipment for the preparation and use of potatoes, such as peelers, slicers, dicers, mashers, fryers, mixers.

A social hour and tea will be provided for the women visitors Tuesday afternoon, at which Mrs. Clara C. Phillips, Washington, Pa., only woman trustee of the college and prominent Grange worker of the state, will speak on "What Penn State is Doing for Young Women of Pennsylvania."

It is planned to have a rural choir contest for entertainment Tuesday evening.

Exhibits and demonstrations will be continued on Wednesday. The speaking program that morning will be in charge of John B. Campbell, president of the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association, which is sponsoring the exposition. A. P. Yerkes, editor of Tractor News, published by a large machinery manufacturing concern, will speak on the part machinery plays in present day agriculture. Efforts are being made to secure Dr. Royal S. Copeland, United States Senator of New York to speak on "Healthful Living." Music will be provided by Paul Horst and H. N. Worthley, research entomologist of the Pennsylvania agricultural experiment station.

THIN FRUIT CROP FOR SIZE AND QUALITY

Estimates of the 1931 apple crop have greatly increased over early season reports. It is inferred that the apple crop will be much larger this year than last, and will approach the size of the 1926 crop.

With the prospect of such a crop difficulty is to be expected in disposing of the large yield. Many orchards are carrying as many immature apples as in the spring. In such orchards no steps have been taken to guard against picking a large number of undersized and inferior fruits. The thinning of apples and even peaches at this time may be questionable, but with several months of growing weather size and color of both fruits can be greatly improved.

In thinning apples of early varieties, two pickings at even weekly intervals permit the fruit remaining at the second picking to equal that of the first in size. If thinning is done on peaches now, a higher percentage of United States No. 1 grade will result before harvest.

It will be found much more satisfactory to thin than to permit an excessive number of apples to remain on the trees. Thin apples to 6 or 8 inches apart and peaches to 4 to 6 inches. In many sections growers feel that these distances are inadequate for present industrial conditions and are thinning to a minimum of eight inches for peaches and ten inches for apples.

English Rural Areas Getting Phone Habit

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—More than 200 rural districts of Great Britain opened local dial telephone exchanges in 1930 according to a bulletin issued by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. British authorities have anticipated the time when all rural communities will be "only as far away as the nearest telephone" and view the installation of the rural exchanges with gratification.

Communities with small populations, where there are from eight to forty subscribers have been added to the network. More than 300 of these towns have been installed in the past two years. Many possess no railroad stations and their names are known only locally.

Twenty-five years ago, rural telephone development was only beginning in Great Britain, and was confined to such places as were within a comparatively short distance of the larger towns. Well known market towns and important villages, situated some distance away from manufacturing towns and seaside resorts, had no telephone exchanges at all, the bulletin states.

GARDNER NEWS

Mrs. Grace Wishart, and son Gerald, formerly of Gardner but now of Pulaski, spent the day at their old home recently.

"The Gardner community picnic will be held August 20, on the lot adjoining the C. R. Walker residence. Supper will be served at 6:15. This will be followed by a program of sports and entertainment. The committees have been working hard to assure you an evening of real pleasure. You, your family and your friends are cordially invited to be present. Please do not forget to bring a basket well-filled with good things to eat. Will you aid us in making this the most successful community gathering that Gardner has ever known? Your presence will help us immensely. Be sure to come early and bring the family and friends. Lemonade and coffee will be served free."

Last Sunday Miss Drew, Misses Mildred, and Esther Gibbons were guests of Miss Florence Schumaker, at Gardner, after dinner they all went to Energy and Miss May Eakin took them in her car to Pittsburgh to see Mrs. Maldoon who is in the West Penn hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kennedy, of Gardner had these guests recently: Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Stetler and children of Wampum, Mr. and Mrs. Lennig, of New Castle, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Young, of Ellwood City.

On Sunday evening Mr. Charles Benson, his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, and children Ruth Elizabeth and Junior, visited their relatives Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Phillips of Wilmington Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ives, who are making their home with Mrs. James Braden, are spending a three weeks vacation at Flint Michigan, and will return this week to the home on the old Pittsburgh road.

Mrs. Weatherby, who makes her home with her sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen, of the Youngstown road, is rejoicing over the recovery of her son, Clarence, who was injured at the golf links and lay in the hospital seven weeks at Youngstown, but is now able to be at his home at Nassau. Mrs. Williams of Youngstown spent yesterday with her two sisters at the Allen home.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bintrim, of the Butler road entertained the family of the former's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Bintrim, and children of Everett, Pa., over the week-end.

Gardner was favored with two welcome showers on Sunday and a really heavy rain on Monday which surely wakened joyful thanksgiving in every heart, for the heat and dust were a great discomfort. The bountiful crops which are being reported on every hand, and the abundant yield of fruit of all kinds prove that the Lord of the harvest has not forgotten Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boehm, and Carrie Elizabeth, and Miss Martha Davidson, of the Butler road visited friends at Ellwood City on Sunday evening.

Mrs. J. H. Booher, of the old Pittsburgh road had the misfortune to fall and break a finger on her right hand. Their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Washburn of Corapolis spent the week-end with their parents and Arlene went home with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Brooks, of the Youngstown road on last Friday entertained old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Jackson of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar E. Byers, of the New Castle-Ellwood road are entertaining for a weeks visit, old friends, Mrs. J. T. Brown and daughters, Elaine, and Barbara Lou, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Frazier of Gardner, and Ethel Pearl and Wanda, have come home after a vacation at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Robison, of Portersville.

Ira Brown of Portersville, was a business caller at Gardner on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Byler, of the Youngstown road enjoyed a visit last Friday from Mrs. Frederick Childs, of Chicago. Catherine and Mary Theresa Byler, had a vacation of several days among friends and are now at home.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Coates, of the Youngstown road entertained The Bennett and Ward reunion last Saturday at their pleasant home. Relatives to the number of 125 came to clasp hands and bring kindly greeting to those of their own kin, many of whom are widely separated on life's highway. Some from Iowa had travelled nearly a thousand miles to be present, and many Pennsylvania towns were represented. Immense tables were laden with a feast of good things. The younger set found many games and sports for pastimes while their elders indulged in tender memories of days gone by. Miss Jessie McConahy of Toledo is spending a week at the Coates home.

Mrs. C. P. Craig of Rose Stop has been a patient in the Jameson Memorial hospital for three weeks, her family and many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Margaret Eicholtz, has spent the summer at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brenner of Rose Stop on account of breaking her leg, and is now improving slowly. Miss Margaret Brenner has spent six weeks at Columbia University in New York City, and expects to come home this week and again take up her work at the Shenango school. Miss Sarah McCombs who made her home with the Brenner family while she took a course of study at Slippery Rock State Teachers' college, has now gone to the home of her parents at Plaingrove. Miss McCombs is also one of the teachers at Shenango.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Byers of the Butler road, and Mrs. Talbitzer, of Mahoningtown, and Mrs. Palvaichack, all went in Mr. Byer's car to Osborne, and spent the day with friends.

Helen Dickson of New Brighton came to Gardner and spent the week-end with her grandmother, Mrs. T. W. Dickson, and her aunt Mrs. E. O. Alexander.

Mrs. Bertha Wendt of New Castle was the guest of friends at Gardner on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Robison of Gardner is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips of New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Levine from Youngstown called on Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Cotton of the Frew Mill road recently.

Mrs. Paul McConahy and daughters Irene, and Sally Lou, spent Wednesday at Gardner visiting their former neighbors and returning to their home in New Castle in the evening.

Gardner Sunday school meets at 9:45. A. H. Robb, Superintendent. Rev. H. G. Woodrow teaches the adult class and preaches at eleven.

WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

PROGRAM FOR 4-H CLUB CAMP

4-H Club members and other farm boys who attend Camp John M. Phillips during the week of August 24th have several treats in store for them. R. H. MacDougle, County Agent of Butler will be in charge of the instructional period and Ross M. Gridley, County Agent of Beaver will be in charge of the recreational work. A. L. Baker, a state club leader, will be in charge of the campfire and vesper program. The program of recreation for the week will be planned on a discussion of recreational activities that can be used back home in club meetings.

On Tuesday, tool shapening and insects will be the subject. J. R. Haswell and E. J. Anderson of State College will lead these discussions. On Wednesday, forestry and tree identification will be the topics of discussion and will be lead by Frank Murphy of State College. Thursday will be given over to dairy cattle judging. Instructional periods on Friday will consist of discussions and demonstrations of rope work including knots, splices and halter making.

All the above is, of course, in addition to the regular recreation, swimming, vesper, campfire program of camp. Any Lawrence County boys between the ages of 10 and 20 are eligible for the camp and can obtain further information or make their enrollment at the Agricultural Extension Association office.

PICK COUNTY CHAIRMAN FOR POTATO EXPOSITION

C. B. Patton of New Castle, R. D. 4 has been named chairman of Lawrence county by the committee in charge of the Potato Exposition at State College August 24 to 26. He will be in charge of Lawrence county participation in the exposition. All who plan to attend should get in touch with Mr. Patton, so that he can make reservations for rooms and meals for them.

A banquet for 400 Bushel Club members will open the activities of the exposition Monday evening, August 24. John Schrope, of Schuylkill county, will be the toastmaster, Dean R. L. Watts of the Penn State school of agriculture, and E. S. Bayard, college trustee and editor-in-chief of the Pennsylvania Farmer, will speak. The Slippery Rock High School male quartet will sing.

Five Lawrence county farmers who are eligible to attend this banquet with their families are: O. S. Minor, Plain Grove; C. B. Patton and A. E. McCreary and Sons, Hickory; A. J. McCalla and David A. Byler of North Beaver.

Following the 400 Bushel Club banquet there will be an entertainment program in the college auditorium. Friedens Grange, of Somerset county, will stage the one-act rural play, "Squandering it with the Boss" which won first place in the western section of the rural dramatic tournament at the State Farm Show in Harrisburg last January. The Slippery Rock quartet again will sing, and Dr. E. L. Nixon, Pennsylvania's potato wizard, will tell how to get the most out of the exposition.

Early Tuesday morning the exposition grounds will be open for visitors who wish to view the educational exhibits on production, marketing, preparation and use of potatoes, and the commercial displays of machinery and equipment. Visits to the experimental plots also may be made, and to the college farms and the campus, too.

With Miles Horst, Harrisburg, as chairman, the speaking program will open at 9:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, Tuesday, John A. McSparran, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, will speak on "The Possibilities and Advantages of Pennsylvania Agriculture." Dr. F. P. Weaver, head of the College Department of Agricultural Economics, also will speak, discussing "Taxes as Related to Rural Life Problems." Music will be furnished by the Slippery Rock Quartet and Paul Horst, Lebanon.

Both Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to demonstrations. These will be on lime slaking, preparation of spray materials, grading, packing, marketing, plowing, seed-bed preparation, harrowing, planting, weeding, cultivation, spraying, digging, and on mechanical equipment for the preparation and use of potatoes, such as peelers, slicers, dicers, mashers, fryers, mixers.

A social hour and tea will be provided for the women visitors Tuesday afternoon, at which Mrs. Clara C. Phillips, Washington, Pa., only woman trustee of the college and prominent Grange worker of the state, will speak on "What Penn State is Doing for Young Women of Pennsylvania."

It is planned to have a rural choir contest for entertainment Tuesday evening.

Exhibits and demonstrations will be continued on Wednesday. The speaking program that morning will be in charge of John B. Campbell, president of the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association, which is sponsoring the exposition. A. P. Yerkes, editor of Tractor News, published by a large machinery manufacturing concern, will speak on the part machinery plays in present day agriculture. Efforts are being made to secure Dr. Royal S. Copeland, United States Senator of New York to speak on "Healthful Living." Music will be provided by Paul Horst and H. N. Worthley, research entomologist of the Pennsylvania agricultural experiment station.

THIN FRUIT CROP FOR SIZE AND QUALITY

Estimates of the 1931 apple crop have greatly increased over early season reports. It is inferred that the apple crop will be much larger this year than last, and will approach the size of the 1926 crop.

With the prospect of such a crop difficulty is to be expected in disposing of the large yield. Many orchards are carrying as many immature apples as in the spring. In such orchards no steps have been taken to guard against picking a large number of undersized and inferior fruits. The thinning of apples and even peaches at this time may be questionable, but with several months of growing weather size and color of both fruits can be greatly improved.

In thinning apples of early varieties, two pickings at even weekly intervals permit the fruit remaining at the second picking to equal that of the first in size. If thinning is done on peaches now, a higher percentage of United States No. 1 grade will result before harvest.

It will be found much more satisfactory to thin than to permit an excessive number of apples to remain on the trees. Thin apples to 6 or 8 inches apart and peaches to 4 to 6 inches. In many sections growers feel that these distances are inadequate for present industrial conditions and are thinning to a minimum of eight inches for peaches and ten inches for apples.

English Rural Areas Getting Phone Habit

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—More than 200 rural districts of Great Britain opened local dial telephone exchanges in 1930 according to a bulletin issued by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. British authorities have anticipated the time when all rural communities will be "only as far away as the nearest telephone" and view the installation of the rural exchanges with gratification.

Communities with small populations, where there are from eight to forty subscribers have been added to the network. More than 300 of these towns have been installed in the past two years. Many possess no railroad stations and their names are known only locally.

Twenty-five years ago, rural telephone development was only beginning in Great Britain, and was confined to such places as were within a comparatively short distance of the larger towns. Well known market towns and important villages, situated some distance away from manufacturing towns and seaside resorts, had no telephone exchanges at all, the bulletin states.

Ex-Service Men Plan Corn Roast For Tuesday Eve

Big Reunion Will Be Held At White Farm On Ellwood City Road

AFFAIR SPONSORED BY PERSHING CLUB

Definite arrangements have now been completed by the Pershing club for a big reunion and corn roast, which will be held Tuesday evening, August 18, at the White farm, on the Ellwood City road.

The festivities which are sponsored by the Pershing Club of Lawrence county, will start promptly at 7 o'clock, and one of the biggest gatherings of veterans that has ever assembled in the county is expected to attend.

The eats of the evening will be furnished free of charge and there will be no expense to any attending. In addition, a good program of entertainment is being worked out by the committee in charge, of which Major Guy J. Wadlinger is general chairman.

The White farm is located just a few miles east of New Castle, the second home beyond the poor farm on the left hand side of the road going towards Ellwood City.

All ex-service men, regardless of where or when or in what branch of the service they served, are welcome to attend, and are expected, the committee in charge states. It will be an evening of real enjoyment.

Eager Shoppers Throng City For Big Sales Event

Opening Dollar Day Sale Attracts Thousands Into Business Section

ALLURING BARGAINS ARE BEING OFFERED

New Castle's downtown business section is thronged today by a crowd of eager shoppers, attracted by the tremendous bargains which are being offered during the annual August Dollar Day Sales event, which will last through Saturday.

This morning, it looked almost like circus day, the streets and stores being thronged with buyers.

All the leading merchants of the city are cooperating in making the present sale the biggest that has ever been held, and the manner in which the citizens have responded, indicates that some remarkable values are being given.

The weather today was ideal, being just cool enough to make traveling about from store to store, comfortable.

The big salves event will be continued Friday and Saturday, special offerings being planned for each day by the various merchants.

SOME OF THE HIGH SPOTS TOUCHED AT OLD TIMERS REUNION

ing to the strains of "Turkey in the Straw." "Why they have all forgotten how to dance," he continued, adding that Ralph Campbell wasn't much better than the rest, either.

A taste of drama can always be found by just looking at faces in a crowd. A little tear drop trinkled from the eye of an aristocratic looking old lady quietly watching the dancers. The orchestra was playing, "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver."

Bill Hill, Sam McGown, H. G. Coates and Fred Rentz semed to be having a great time.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Howe and daughter of Youngstown, O., were there. They are former residents of New Castle.

Other out-of-towners we noticed and greeted with enthusiasm were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Yoho and daughter Charlotte, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yoho of Aliquippa: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerber ,of Aliquippa, Mrs. Adalaide Clark Taylor, of Ashtabula, O., Audley Henderson of Beaver Falls, Mrs. Pauepapenhan, of Hendersonville, N. C., Mrs. Stella Gillmer, of Warren, Pa., Miss Annetta McClain of Youngstown, O., Mrs. R. W. McAnlis, of Youngstown, O., and Mrs. Dave Lewis, of Aliquippa.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kitch, of 1026 Washington street, were undoubtedly the longest married couple present. They have been married 64 years now. They have six children, three of whom are living. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kitch were having a jolly time seeing old acquaintances.

Another reunion took place in the evening—it was the first annual reunion of the Lawrence school students—and it was attended by a hundred some pupils and their teachers.

Remember Mrs. Martha Miller Druley, of Indiana? Mrs. Druley lived in New Castle 40 years ago and is visiting her sister, Mrs. Caldwell on Lee avenue. She was at the reunion and her many friends were glad to see her.

Mrs. Mary Sankey, of Cleveland, O., was among the many out-of-towners who came back to see their friends and acquaintances of years ago. Mrs. Sankey used to live on North Mercer street, this city.

Ronald Roof Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Roof of R. F. D. 1, New Castle, looked on at the Old Timers reunion from his mother's shoulder. Ronald was among the very young set there and he had a slightly bored expression on his face.

After a square dance to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw" the dancers were surprised to hear the orchestra change the tune abruptly to "Oh, Dem Golden Slippers" and strange as the fact may seem it is true that the dancers shuffled a heap peppier ankle with the latter tune.

And if you rode to Cascade Park on a trolley car you won't have to read this sentence—for you will know what it was like to stand all the way there and all the way back. The writer tramped on one pretty Miss' freshly whitened shoes, and almost smashed the panama hat of a certain gentleman.

Among those present at the reunion Wednesday, were three sisters, Mrs. Lillie White McDaniel of Antioch, California, Mrs. Ida White Hockenberry of Chicago, and Mrs. Cal Miller of Loraine avenue, this city. The interesting fact is that not one of the sisters knew that either of the others had in mind being here for the event and it was a real surprise for each one of them, when the two from a distance arrived at the home of the local sister, the day prior to the Old Timers Reunion. They had a reunion of their own as well as with the other Old Timers.

The occasioned was saddened by the fact that Harvey E. McGoun, president of the Old Timers Association, is confined in the Jameson Memorial hospital and was unable to be present for the first time in many years. It was the regret of all that he was unable to be present.

In the grand march representing the family of the late H. R. Sankey, one of the pioneer residents of the city, were his daughters, Mrs. D. S. Pyle of this city and Mrs. Gula Sankey Mortland, of Pittsburgh, and the former's grandson, Master David Pyle, of Martins Ferry, O.

Mrs. Howard Thompson of County Line street recalled to the friends of Mrs. Lizzie Smith Morton of Hammond, Ind., the fact that she had been here two years ago and greatly enjoyed meeting the friends she knew while a resident of this city. Mrs. Thompson had sent her an invitation to be here yesterday, but she was unable to do so on account of her health. She wrote a letter to Mrs. Thompson, in which she expressed her regret at being unable to be present and recalled the delightful time she had two years ago in attending the event while she was here visiting Mrs. C. H. Sankey of Washington street.

Mrs. Gertrude Kay Halboth recalled the fact that her mother, Rebecca Vance Kay, was born near the site of Rainbow Terrace and had spent her girlhood in the vicinity, also attending school nearby.

Mrs. Oran E. Druley of Indianapolis, Ind., was back after 40 years and she really had the finest time of her life. You should have seen her enjoying the dancing and other events of the day.

OLD TIMER VISITORS

Greatly enjoying the day Wednesday, were many former residents of New Castle, who came from a distance to be present, as well as persons in the vicinity who have not been attending the reunions much in the past.

Among those present were seen: Mrs. Ray Taylor of Ashtabula, who has been visiting friends in the city for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yoho of Aliquippa, who returned for the day to renew old time acquaintanceships.

Mrs. Thomas Frazier of Massillion, O., was having a good time meeting former friends in this city.

Mrs. Priscillia Stanley of Edenburg, was happy meeting friends of past years.

J. E. VanGorder of Greensburg, had a busy time meeting former friends of this city and recalling incidents that occurred when he was a resident of this city many years ago.

E. E. Locke of Wilmerding, was most happy in renewing old time acquaintanceships. With him was L. Locke.

Ralph Lanigan who has gained for himself a wide spread reputation on the vaudeville stage and makes his headquarters in Cleveland, was one of the most interested of the visitors at the Rainbow Terrace Wednesday.

Ben Barber, Jr., of Cleveland, O., was having the time of his life at Rainbow Terrace last night.

Ernest Carl and his wife were here from Aliquippa and were having a fine time.

Mrs. J. Charles Bryan and son Paul of Orlando, Florida, were among those present.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Moore, of Pittsburgh, both of whom were former residents of New Castle, were seen visiting with many old time friends.

James Meehan of 1519 Ford avenue, Youngstown, was most happy in meeting and greeting old time acquaintances of this district.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hannon of DuBois, who never misses an Old Timers Day celebration, were here for the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher C. Parkinson of 718 Locust street, were among the thousands of people present and were one of the few couples present, who had been married more than fifty years.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Crooks of 1006 Croton avenue, were among the older happier wedded people in attendance.

Harry A. Cooper of New Wilmington is a veteran of the civil war and is happy and active in spite of the fact that he is 87 years of age and crippled.

R. D. Amos of Baldwin stop, came here from Ohio, fourteen years ago and in spite of his age, was one of the younger looking and more active men in the crowd.

Mrs. W. A. Miller, 73 and Mrs. Clark 79, both of Highland avenue Extension, were present and greatly enjoyed the various festivities of the occasion.

Mrs. Daniel O'Neil of Aliquippa, was among the visitors seen in attendance. She will be remembered by many as a former resident of the city.

Audley Henderson of Beaver Falls, was among the better known former residents of New Castle, who was present and participated in the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Phipps and son Melbourne of Cleveland, O., were among the visitors at Rainbow Terrace. Mr. Phipps was a former East Side resident and recalled his playmates Lamont Hughes, president of the Carnegie Steel Company and other well known men of the present day.

George Hughes of Youngstown, is 76 years of age, but remembers the many years he spent here and was delighted with the opportunity of being back for Old Timers Day.

The Misses Jennie and Anna Jackson of Youngstown, well known former residents of the district, were among the visitors at Rainbow Terrace Wednesday.

John B. Haley, the well known druggist, was present with his happy smile and recalled having attended the first of these events held in 1907.

D. Audley Pitzer of Freedom and J. A. Pitzer of Bellsville, Pa., were among the former residents, who spent Wednesday at Cascade Park.

J. L. Rutter of Erie, and Mr. and Mrs. John Rutter and son of Beaver Falls, were here Wednesday for Old Timers Day and were the guests of the Messrs. Rutter's brother, Joseph Rutter of East Washington street.

Lawrence School Reunion Success

Over 300 Attend First Reunion Of Lawrence School Held At Cascade Park Wednesday

An occasion that carried away some fond memories was the reunion of all former teachers and students of The Lawrence School which was held at Cascade Park on Wednesday.

This marked the first event of this group, and under the splendid leadership and co-operation of Miss Mina Waldman and her committee, the affair proved to be a decided success in every way. Over 300 were in attendance, and participated in a whole hearted manner in all the activities planned for their pleasure.

A delicious dinner was served at 6 o'clock in the grove at tables nicely decorated, and at the conclusion of this feature, each one was made acquainted, and the making of new friendships as well as the renewing of old ones, resulted. Many a long chat was held by the "former school chums" when they related to incidents that caused much laughter, and olden times in general, furnished conversation.

A business meeting was called, and Attorney Mont Ailey who was elected temporary chairman, was elected president; Peter Grittie, vice president; Mina Waldman, secretary; Mrs. Scott Kirk, treasurer. It was decided to hold another reunion in 1932 some day during the last week in July. The place, and other arrangements for this gathering will be made in due time.

The balance of the evening was spent with the various park amusements and dancing.

A special attraction that peped the crowd up, was the singing of old school songs with Mrs. Scott Kirk leading. Also, toasts and talks appropriate to the occasion were heard from those present.

School Directors Reduce Salary Of Medical Director

Cut Of $700 Made, But Director Is To Get Clerk To Aid In Detail Work

A school medical inspector and a clerk who will act as an assistant will be elected by the school directors at a special meeting to be called shortly, it was voted at the regular meeting of the directors held last night in the school administration building.

At a meeting of the directors held on June 25 a committee consisting of Dr. W. D. Cleland, chairman, W. W. Duff and Attorney Roy W. Hazen was appointed to investigate the employment of a medical inspector and make a recommendation to the board concerning salary conditions.

The committee reported that an extensive study resulted in a recommendation that the medical inspector be paid a salary of $2,800 and in addition to the inspector a clerk be appointed at a minimum salary to assist in the work of filing medical reports in order to lessen the duties of the inspector.

Green to Recommend.

Following the recommendation of the committee it was voted by the directors that Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green suggest names and recommend candidates for the position. The directors will elect the medical inspector on a date to be announced by the president of the board.

Dr. Green, asked by the board for his idea of the committee's recommendation on the employment of a medical inspector, declared he was heartily in favor of a director's assistant, who would facilitate the work of the medical department. He said that the medical records must be filed and that in the past the director of that department has more real work in the medical field.

A light controversy ensued when members of the board brought up the discussion of a salary that should be paid to a medical inspector. The committee appointed to study the matter of employing an inspector recommended that the job pay $2,800, but several directors, particularly Mr. McIlvenny, declared that the medical department head should receive as much salary as other department heads. It was pointed out by A. C. Hyde, another director, that in Sharon the school doctor receives $1,800, but that amount, the other directors pointed out, was for half time work.

The work of a school inspector was important, Green said, since it meant more than the mere filing of health reports and checking of school children's health.

Two Meet Death In Mine Blast

DETAILS OF BLAST ARE NOT REVEALED

(International News Service)

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 13.—Two men are dead and a third was in a critical condition at Shamokin State hospital today from injuries received in a premature explosion at the Bear Valley Mine of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company near here late yesterday.

John Klemick, 43, and John Wallish, 29, both of Shamokin, died instantly in the blast. Frank Maher, 50, also of Shamokin, was injured so badly doctors at the hospital said he might not live.

The three were working as timbermen in the No. 2 shaft of the mine when the blast let go. Colliery officials were reluctant to reveal any of the circumstances of the explosion.

No! All Cars Are Not Alike—

Essex is a Super-Six

With Exclusive Features of Super-Six Design and Super-Six Performance

Selective FREE WHEELING Further Emphasizes the Difference

All who know the facts recognize that in performance, smoothness and reliability the Super-Six principle gives Essex a distinction that cannot be likened to any other car. With it, vibration is reduced to nil.

No motor was ever so well known. None has ever shared its fame for reliability. On that one score Essex, because it alone can use the Super-Six, stands distinctive in the six-cylinder field.

But the difference is not limited to its Super-Six motor and Super-Six performance.

Now Essex includes Selective Free Wheeling. That adds another joyous motoring sensation. Driving takes on a new zest. You free wheel in traffic to the almost total elimination of gear operation. You shift gears in utter silence without need to use the clutch.

In its price field it is also the largest car. It is inches longer—seats are inches wider—leg room is greater—and everyone who examines it closely also finds it more carefully and finely built in respect to chassis detail and body appointments.

In these days men are critical in their purchases. It is well to inquire into the facts and to know just how deep and well-grounded are the qualities they seek. Essex quality goes beyond its motor, fittings and upholstering. It goes to the very foundation. Isn't it a great satisfaction to know that you can get such assured quality in a car so easy to own?

No, all cars are not alike.

AFFAIR SPONSORED BY PERSHING CLUB

Definite arrangements have now been completed by the Pershing club for a big reunion and corn roast, which will be held Tuesday evening, August 18, at the White farm, on the Ellwood City road.

The festivities which are sponsored by the Pershing Club of Lawrence county, will start promptly at 7 o'clock, and one of the biggest gatherings of veterans that has ever assembled in the county is expected to attend.

The eats of the evening will be furnished free of charge and there will be no expense to any attending. In addition, a good program of entertainment is being worked out by the committee in charge, of which Major Guy J. Wadlinger is general chairman.

The White farm is located just a few miles east of New Castle, the second home beyond the poor farm on the left hand side of the road going towards Ellwood City.

All ex-service men, regardless of where or when or in what branch of the service they served are welcome to attend, and are expected, the committee in charge states. It will be an evening of real enjoyment.

Eager Shoppers Throng City For Big Sales Event

ALLURING BARGAINS ARE BEING OFFERED

New Castle's downtown business section is thronged today by a crowd of eager shoppers, attracted by the tremendous bargains which are being offered during the annual August Dollar Day Sales event, which will last through Saturday.

This morning, it looked almost like circus day, the streets and stores being thronged with buyers.

All the leading merchants of the city are cooperating in making the present sale the biggest that has ever been held, and the manner in which the citizens have responded, indicates that some remarkable values are being given.

The weather today was ideal, being just cool enough to make traveling about from store to store, comfortable.

The big salves event will be continued Friday and Saturday, special offerings being planned for each day by the various merchants.

A taste of drama can always be found by just looking at faces in a crowd. A little tear drop trinkled from the eye of an aristocratic looking old lady quietly watching the dancers. The orchestra was playing, "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver."

The work of a school inspector was important, Green said, since it meant more than the mere filing of health reports and checking of school children's health.

There's nothing new. The comic strip is just the age-old domestic row of Punch and Judy.

Two Meet Death In Mine Blast

Third Man Severely Injured In Mine Explosion Near Shamokin, Pa.

DETAILS OF BLAST ARE NOT REVEALED

(International News Service)

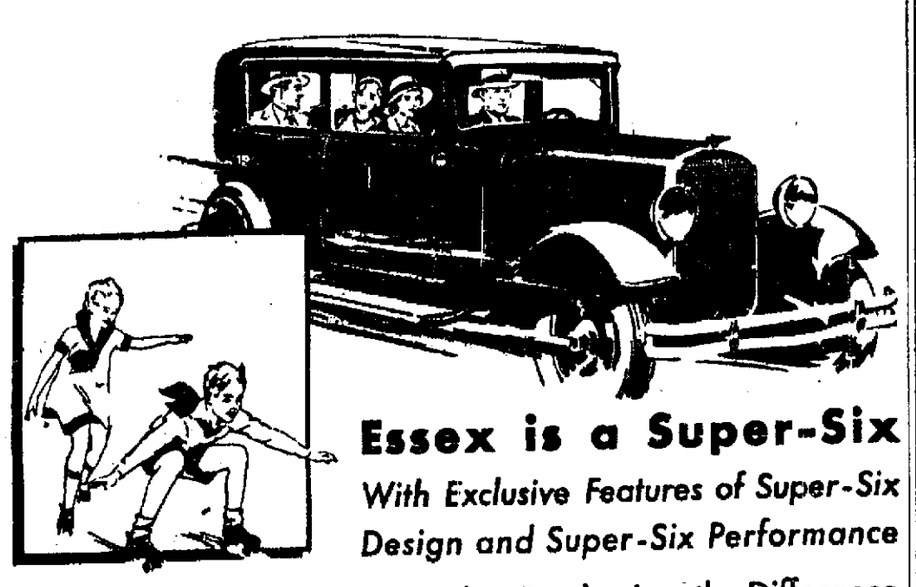

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 13.—Two men are dead and a third was in a critical condition at Shamokin State hospital today from injuries received in a premature explosion at the Bear Valley Mine of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company near here late yesterday.

John Klemick, 43, and John Wallish, 29, both of Shamokin, died instantly in the blast. Frank Maher, 50, also of Shamokin, was injured so badly doctors at the hospital said he might not live.

The three were working as timbermen in the No. 2 shaft of the mine when the blast let go. Colliery officials were reluctant to reveal any of the circumstances of the explosion.

Civilized people are those who think up a scientific reason for doing the things a savage does as a matter of common sense.

No! All Cars Are Not Alike—

Selective FREE WHEELING Further Emphasizes the Difference

All who know the facts recognise that in performance, smoothness and reliability the Super-Six principle gives Essex a distinction that cannot be likened to any other car. With it, vibration is reduced to nil.

No motor was ever so well known. None has ever shared its fame for reliability. On that one score Essex, because it alone can use the Super-Six, stands distinctive in the six-cylinder field.

But the difference is not limited to its Super-Six motor and Super-Six performance.

Now Essex includes Selective Free Wheeling. That adds another joyous motoring sensation. Driving takes on a new zest. You free wheel in traffic to the almost total elimination of gear operation. You shift gears in utter silence without need to use the clutch.

In its price field it is also the largest car. It is inches longer—seats are inches wider—leg room is greater—and everyone who examines it closely also finds it more carefully and finely built in respect to chassis detail and body appointments.

In these days men are critical in their purchases. It is well to inquire into the facts and to know just how deep and well-grounded are the qualities they seek. Essex quality goes beyond its motor, fittings and upholstering. It goes to the very foundation. Isn't it a great satisfaction to know that you can get such assured quality in a car so easy to own?

No, all cars are not alike.

Coach or Business Coupe $595, Standard Sedan $695, Sport Roadster $725, Town Sedan $735, Touring Sedan $775, Special Sedan $855, 7-Pass. Sedan (long wheelbase) $895—Selective Free Wheeling $35 additional. All prices f. o. b. Detroit—special equipment extra.

Arizona Philanthropist; Awaiting Murder Trial; Now Woman Of Mystery

"Little Old Lady," Accused Of Slaying Husband, Taught Future Mate At University Before Amassing Fortune Together

By LUCILLE NORVILLE

By Central Press Correspondent

TUCSON, Ariz., Aug. 13—"The mystery woman" they call her in Tucson. Yet how different from the general conception of a "mystery woman" is Mrs. Louise Marshall, a black-attired little old lady of 73 years, who is held under bail awaiting trial for the alleged murder of her husband on the night of last April 26.

It is something of an enigma that this grave and aristocratic old lady should have committed the crime of which she is accused. On the night of April 26, she bade her husband an affectionate good night. She arose shortly after midnight, went to his bedside, and while she stood directly over him, fired five shots into his sleeping body, police maintain. Then Mrs. Marshall is alleged to have left him to crawl in hideous pain to the telephone to call for help, alone and unaided. For days, physicians hoped for his recovery, but following an emergency operation in a final attempt to save his life, he died.

MRS. LOUISE F. MARSHALL

Finally Released on Bond

Mrs. Marshall was released on bond by a justice of the peace following a preliminary hearing. Later, Mrs. Marshall was forced to spend weeks in jail, denied bond by the superior court judge. Subsequently, she was released to await trial in September by an order of the state supreme court.

Throughout all of it, Mrs. Marshall has not altered her demeanor. Polite to her prison custodians and transacting her business behind bars with her usual freshness and expedition, while in jail, she might well have been under no strain at all for the worry she outwardly evinced.

But under all the composure, what does she think of? Does she shrug at the inexorable fate that has brought her—wealthy, educated, the scion of one of the oldest families of Boston—to the end of her life charged with murder?

Perhaps she lives over again those days when she was just out of college in New England. She sees herself coming to the University of Arizona to instruct in romance languages and to become one of the youngest and most popular members of that faculty.

Amassed a Fortune

Then Thomas Marshall—the man whose life she is accussed of taking—came into her life. He was her student, 10 years her junior, and later became her gardener as a means of paying his way through school. The two fell in love. Their courtship and marriage was a campus sensation. Together, with her inheritance as a beginning, they amassed a fortune of well over a million and an enviable prestige in Tucson, where they became noted for their quiet philanthropies. They gave generously to charities, to the church, and were particularly active as prohibitionists.

And now the murder of Marshall with all its ugly whisperings of motives—that he had attempted to poison her, that he carried on an affair with their housekeeper, and numberless unsavory tales.

Nothing is proved. Mrs. Marshall refuses to talk and outwardly, at least, maintains her composure. The trial in September will bring a certain explanation but there is a stronger possibility that a greater part of the truth will remain forever in the bosom of this reticent old lady.

Household Loan Plan Available

Household Finance Corporation Opens Branch Office In New Castle

Household Finance Corporation, America's largest family finance organization, opened its 146th branch office today on the sixth floor of the Union Trust Building. New Castle is the eighty-eight city to be served by a branch of the Household organization. Household comes to New Castle with a record of over a half century's successful service in the small loan industry.

Mr. H. C. Maurice, Jr., who has had several years of experience in various branches of the Household organization, will have charge of the New Castle office. Local people have been employed for a large part of the staff.

Under the Household Loan Plan men and their wives may borrow from $50 to $300 without co-signers or endorsers. The charge for loans under the Household Plan is lower than the small loan rates authorized by the laws of this state. Nearly three years ago Household made a general reduction of nearly one-third in rates. Household also provides a specialized loan service for school teachers.

In addition to a loan service, Household offers advice on problems of family finance and budgeting, supplying information, without obligation, to families seeking such service.

Finish Library At Geneva College

Work Is Practically Done On Fine New College Building At Beaver Falls

The finishing touches are these days being made on the new $125,000 library for Geneva College, which is said to have a capacity of between 50,000 and 60,000 volumes in its three tier stack room. In addition to the two large reading rooms, two seminar rooms for research work, and various work rooms, this building has a dramatic room with stage and furniture accommodations, a unique class room, memorial room, and an exceptionally large and well lighted room for general use by the various organizations within the student body.

The thousands of volumes in the library in the main building are now in the process of transfer to the new building. All will be in readiness for use at the opening of the next semester, September 15. This building with its equipment, all of which is new, is a most valuable asset to the college.

Of course women prefer them they're FRESH!

NOTHING in a cigarette has ever appealed to women so swiftly and truly as the fresh mildness of Camels in the Humidor Pack.

To the delicate feminine throat the suave, cool fragrance of this perfectly conditioned cigarette comes as a genuine and welcome boon.

Now women smokers as well as men are learning what a throat-friendly joy a fine cigarette in prime, factory-fresh condition can be!

Now they can relish the satisfaction of expertly blended fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos free from the scratch-and-sting of parched and dusty dryness.

Camels in the Humidor Pack are just what good cigarettes should be—fine tobaccos kept fine, no matter where or when you buy them.

The scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane, but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the factory freshness and aroma, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

If your taste is jaded with the heat and sting of fast-burning dried-out cigarettes, try cool, humidor fresh Camels for a grateful change.

Give your throat a vacation—try Camels for just one day; then quit them—if you can.

Hen's Egg Hatches Chick In Hot Sun

EDWARDSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 13.—The hot weather has been responsible for many strange tales this summer, not the least of which is told by Jimmie Aubrey here.

To begin with, a hen laid an egg in a crevice of a log on the woodpile of the Aubrey home.

The hot sun beat down on the egg, which had slipped deeper into the crevice. Aubrey watched the egg and one day was rewarded by signs of life within the egg.

The hole in the log was too small to permit the young chicken to move, so Aubrey cut the log and placed the newcomer in the cool cellar.

Frank Golli Faces Two Serious Charges

Alleged To Have Taken Advantage Of Youthful Sister-In-Law

Frank Golli, who resides with his wife at the home of Mrs. Querriero, 801 Court street, was this morning charged before Aldermon Walter T. Hamilton by Chief of Police C. C. Horner with statuatory rape and bigamy, as a result of statements made by his sister-in-law Mary DeMatteo, aged 13, and Mary Querriero, aged 11, concerning his actions with them.

His arrest was affected last night at his place of residence by Lieutenant Hillers, Detective John Young and Officer Kennedy, following complaint of Mrs. Antonetti DeMatteo of 1030 Court street, concerning alleged actions of Golli with her daughter and the Querriero girl.

At her request the girls were examined by a physician, who found that the DeMatteo girl gave evidence of being tampered with. There was apparently nothing the matter with the other girl.

The girls claim that Golli had been bothering them on various occasions at his home, out picking berries and on other occasions.

In default of bail, Golli has been placed in the county jail pending a hearing to be held Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

Inquiry Affixes Manner In Which Guardsman Died

Coroner Reveals Late Cavalry Trooper Met Death From Heat Exhaustion

MT. GRETNA IS SADDENED TODAY

(International News Service)

CAMP KEMP, Mt. Gretna, Pa., Aug. 13.—Decision of Coroner J. Herbert Manbeck of Lebanon county, that Private William H. Dreger, 25, a member of troop B, 103rd cavalry, of Philadelphia, had died of a skull fracture was reversed here today after a military board of inquiry pronounced death due to heat exhaustion.

Dreger's body was discovered in a swimming pool at the camp yesterday by a small boy visiting the military reservation and was identified by officers of his regiment. At an autopsy ordered by the coroner late yesterday death was attributed to a fractured skull.

The military board, convened last night, then announced that examination convinced them the trooper had died of heat exhaustion. After completion of the autopsy and another examination the coroner reversed his finding. He said a slight depression in the frontal section of the skull, found prior to completion of the autopsy, led him to believe Dreger had died from a skull fracture.

Dreger had been absent without leave from troop formations since Monday, according to Captain Jeremiah F. Neill Jr., commander of the troop.

Cavalrymen of the 103rd and 104th regiments, saddened by the death of their fellow trooper, went about routine training today. Sabre and pitsol practice claimed attention of part of the squadrons of both regiments, while other squadrons tackled problems of defense against infantry and machine gun fire and offensive tactics for mounted troops.

Four Killed In Michigan Blast

BATTLE CREEK IS SCENE OF BLAST

(International News Service)

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 13.—Four men were reported to have been killed today in a terrific explosion of a 400-gallon tank of gasoline at a combination filling station and auto wrecking plant on the outskirts of the city.

The blast was said to have been caused by a man who mistook a can of gasoline for water and poured it into the radiator of his automobile. The car was immediately enveloped in flames which set off the large gasoline reservoir.

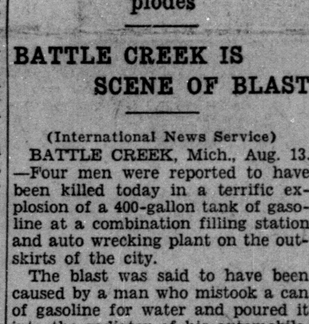

Force of the blast was felt for several blocks. Debris was hurled more than 500 feet and many windows in houses in the vicinity were shattered.

Sharon Child Is Drowning Victim

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 13—After an all night search, the body of six year old Bernard Robinson was recovered today from the waters of the Shenango river under the New York Central railroad bridge.

It was believed the child fell from the bridge where he was playing yesterday.

Tears at Last

"To cry ain't no use," she said—this mother, Mrs. Anna Baranski, 67, who drove the getaway car for her son, John, on his last bandit raid; yet, at the moment, when she looked for the last time on the face of her boy, still in death and about to be borne to the grave, this woman, who was thought to have cast-iron nerves, broke down and wept. John was killed by a policeman.

RUNAWAY COACH DAMAGES HOME

Coach Detaches From Train On Grade, Crashes Into Home

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 13.—Five persons were thrown from their beds, four automobiles were demolished and the home of Edwin Lymphany was damaged today when the "riding" car of a fast Buffalo-New York Lehigh Valley railroad express train uncoupled itself from a string of cars, raced four miles down grade and crashed into the house, at Hell Gage, near here.

The car, a regulation baggage coach empty of trainmen, packed up teriffic momentum as it raced down the long grade. At Hell Gate, the flying car struck a sharp curve, jumped the tracks and plowed into the Lymphany home.

Mrs. Lymphany and a daughter were thrown from their beds by the impact of the runaway car and three other members of the family were tumbled from their slumbers. The impact tore away part of the kitchen and the car, bouncing off the building, struck four automobiles parked in the yard, wrecking them.

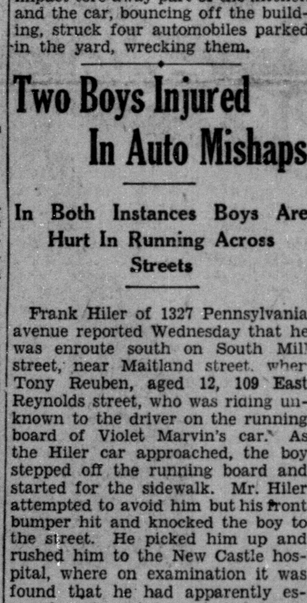

Two Boys Injured In Auto Mishaps

In Both Instances Boys Are Hurt In Running Across Streets

Frank Hiler of 1327 Pennsylvania avenue reported Wednesday that he was enroute south on South Mill street, near Maitland street, when Tony Reuben, aged 12, 109 East Reynolds street, who was riding unknown to the driver on the running board of Violet Marvin's car. As the Hiler car approached, the boy stepped off the running board and started for the sidewalk. Mr. Hiler attempted to avoid him but his front bumper hit and knocked the boy to the street. He picked him up and rushed him to the New Castle hospital, where on examination it was found that he had apparently escaped serious injury, but he was held at the hospital for further observation.

Miss May Thomas of R. D. No. 3 was enroute south on Pollock avenue between Reynolds street and Long avenue, when a boy, Peter Terranova, 1206½ Pollock avenue ran from the east to the west side of the street and ran into the rear of her car and was knocked to the street. He was taken to the hospital, where it was found that he had escaped serious injury.

School Board Given Report On Teachers

McIlvenny Opposes Present Method Of Employing Substitutes

IS AGAINST LONG PROBATIONARY TIME

The present method of employing substitute teachers in the city schools was vigorously opposed at the meeting of the School Board last evening by J. Herbert McIlvenny, who declared that in his opinion the substitute teachers should be dropped if they did not measure up to standards including a year's teaching in the city.

The director voiced his opinion after hearing the partial report of a special committee which had been appointed at the last meeting to make a study of the methods used by the school system here to employ teachers.

The committee's partial report, made by Mrs. J. E. Elliott did not recommend a change in the plan in present use, which is to place substitute teachers who do work satisfactorily when there is a vacancy that is best suitable for the individual instructor.

McIlvenny deplored the practice of employing the substitutes for a considerable length of time, sometimes as long as two years, he said, while newcomers in the city often get jobs ahead of the "subs."

"I contend that the system we have is not good," McIlvenny said. "If you have some teachers doing substitute work for a whole year and then let someone step in right away, it is not fair."

Superintendent of Schools Green in answer to the Board, declared that there had been much comment in the past about the employment of substitutes for one or two years and then giving her a position.

"We try out substitutes in different jobs. I don't want to brand some of them failures if we cannot place them right away. It doesn't follow that because we have a vacancy that the substitute is qualified for that position. The superintendent pointed out that it has been the practice to place substitutes where they would be able to fit for the best of the children.

Charge Eaton With Using Continental Money For Himself

Cleveland Financial Magnate Charged With Using Continental Money By Stockholders

Stockholders Will Make Attempt To Recover $142,574,034 Used By Eaton

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13—Charges that Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, was using large sums of money belonging to Continental Shares, Inc., for his personal financial manipulations, were hurled at a meeting of Continental Shares stockholders here Wednesday to organize a stockholders' protective association.

"From the very conception and inception of the company, Mr. Eaton's idea plainly was to use its funds as his funds, for his own personal benefit, to use the funds of the company to cause mergers of various corporations upon which he received huge promoters' fees, no part of which did he turn over to Continental Shares," George L. Gugle, Columbus attorney and stockholder, declared.

Seek Recoveries

Gugle asserted that the total worth of holdings, which Eaton, as president, allegedly used in outside financial transactions, amounted to $142,574,034.

Calling upon his fellow-stockholders to make attempts to recover their reputed losses, Gugle declared that the interests of the present board of directors of Continental Shares "are antagonistic to those of Continental Shares and its stockholders."

Gugle asserted that he based his charges upon an audit of the company's affairs.

Acting upon Gugle's charges, the minority stockholders appointed a fact-finding committee to investigate the affairs of the company. In addition to Gugle, Paul J. Gnau (CQ) of Canton, O., and Thomas E. Farrell of Youngstown, O., were named to the committee.

They were authorized to conduct an inquiry into Eaton's transactions insofar as Continental Shares is concerned, and to submit a report at another meeting of the stockholders to be held in Cleveland on September 21.

Approximately ten per cent of the stockholders of Continental Shares was represented at today's meeting.

New Hole Will Be Ready For Play In Near Future—Improve Rough

Further improvements are under way at the Municipal Golf course, which will tend to better conditions.

In addition to the construction of a new green on No. 4 hole, which is rapidly nearing completion, work was started yesterday on improving the rough between No. 11 and No. 15 fairways.

There is a deep ditch runs between these two fairways, and the ground on either side is quite rough, being covered by tall grass and contains many big stones.

The ground has been ploughed up and the stones are being removed. It will be sowed with rough grass, which will greatly improve conditions next spring.

Rainfall Already Exceeds Normal August Average

Over Four Inches Of Precipitation Has Been Recorded This Month

Indications point to a record being established this month for amount of precipitation.

Although the month is not yet half over, more than the average amount of rain has already fallen, the extremely heavy rain of Tuesday, helping to swell the total considerably. Rain has already fallen on six out of the first twelve days of the month in varying amounts. The total amount recorded to date is 4.09 inches, with the normal being 3.21 inches.

Last August, there was but 1.64 inches of rain during the month, the greatest in 24 hours being .67 inches, only a good shower.

Says Hard Work Keeps Prisons Free From Riots

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 13.—Hard work and a well-rounded industrial system are credited by John L. Hanna, state secretary of welfare, with having kept Pennsylvania's prisons free from disorders and riots such as have occurred in other states within the last year or two.

Check of the four penal institutions under the direction of the department of welfare, Hanna said, shows that an average of about 800 inmates are regularly employed in definite industrial pursuits.

While this by no means approximates the total population of the institutions, the welfare head said, many of the inmates are employed at specialized work which does not qualify them for trades to which prison industries are confined, and others are employed at general labor.

An example of the latter is in construction now under way at both the eastern and western state penitentiaries, where 800 to 1,000 men are employed on the prison buildings and grounds, carrying forward improvement work.

"There is no question," said Hanna, discussing the absence of disorders from the state penal institutions, "but that some of the state-owned prisons are over-crowded.

"Overcrowding has been mentioned as one of the leading causes of riots in prisons in other states. Much of the overcrowded condition in Pennsylvania prisons will be relieved, however, as soon as our building program is completed.

"In the meantime, eight hours a day of healthful, hard labor keeps a man close to normal life and leaves him comfortably tired at night with little inclination to conspire for rioting."

No sure cure, however, can be found for prison disorders, the secretary of welfare believes.

Firemen Planning For Big Parade

Gigantic Parade Will Be Feature Of Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Convention

(International News Service)

TARENTUM, Pa., Aug. 13.—With 300 fire companies expected to participate, the annual parade of Western Pennsylvania firemen was to feature the 38th reunion of the Firefighters' Association today.

George M. Cook of Sharpsburg, was elected president of the organization last night. Other officers were Jesse L. Hume, of Tarentum, first vice president; Edward Clawson, of New Kensington, second vice president; George Litman, of Uniontown, third vice president; W. H. Sharah, of Braddock, secretary, and James H. Steel, of Wilkinsburg, treasurer.

Connellsville was selected as the convention site for 1932.

With 650 persons participating, the association sponsored last night its second presentation of a historical pageant. Men, women and children comprised the cast which presented the growth of Allegheny county.

Volumes, Thought Stolen Returned

(International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 13. — Mysteriously missing for more than a month, four priceless volumes of early California history now are back in the library of St. Joseph's church of this city. They were the work of the noted California churchman and Mission builder, Father Junipero Serra, who lived in the early days of the Dons. The books were entirely written by hand.

The books had been loaned to a Catholic church organist in Los Angeles, and the transaction forgotten by the priest who approved of the loan. When the volumes were found to be missing it was feared that they had been stolen by a band of thieves preying upon museums and libraries containing ancient volumes.

The church organist was unaware of the search being conducted until he came back to this city to return the volumes. He was much surprised to learn that private detectives had been engaged and that the loss had been reported to all bookshops, libraries and museums.

Instead of this vague "capital punishment", why not make it illegal to hang any man who has as much as a thousand dollars?

School Director Out Against Use Of Yellow Chalk

When is yellow chalk on the school blackboard perferrable to white?

At a meeting of the school board last night, A. C. Hyde, a director, described what he alleged to be a widespread use of yellow chalk in city schools and asked the board to remedy the condition by banning its use which he said is general in many class rooms.

"Some of them use yellow in place of white," Hyde declared. "I guess they think they can see it better."

Mrs. Ethel Douthett, one of the two women members of the board said that if some children can see yellow better than white they should use the colored chalk.

"We ought to investigate this," the woman said. The matter was tabled for future action.

Will Dedicate New Bridge August 19

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13. — The Ohio river communities benefiting most from the new McKees Rocks $7,000,000 bridge and the $5,000,000 Ohio river boulevard will join in an extensive dedicatory program August 19, according to plans of a committee organized recently.

The new roadway has been in use since December, while the mile-and-a-half span, connecting the boulevard with Island avenue, McKees Rocks, will be opened to traffice dedication day.

A river steamboat demonstration, a mammoth motor parade in which ten bands will march, and printing of 10,000 booklets describing the bridge and boulevard are part of the committee's plans.

The committee includes representatives of West View, Avalon, Emsworth, Bellevue, Coraopolis, Maysville, Neville Island, Leetsdale, Glenfield, Osborne, Ross township, and several North and West Wards of Pittsburgh.

Four Cows Lead To Larceny Charge

HARPER, Ore. Aug. 13. — Four calves pastured in R. Faust's yard. Faust denied he had stolen them.

So four cows belonging to Virgil Smith were driven up. The calves seemed glad to see them. The cows gave every evidence of fondness for the calves.

So Faust was accused of larceny.

Nerves Mar Success Of Training Tot

Children Spoiled Because Parents Can't Control Selves

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

The other day a mother from a distant city came in to see me about her child of 16 months. Said she: "My baby takes a nap every afternoon on the davenport but he will not go to sleep unless I sit beside him and hold his hand." Then she added, "Don't you think that he will grow out of this habit when he is old enough to be reasoned with?"

"Not very likely to do so," I replied. "Why should he choose to give up something which gives him so much satisfaction?"

"Shall I let him cry?" she asked.

"Of course."

"But once I did and he screamed for three-quarters of an hour. I feared it would make him nervous and I just could not stand it to hear him."

There was her chief difficulty. She got nervous. Most children are spoiled because their parents can't control themselves.

"Don't you see, Mother," I continued, "that when you gave in to him after he had worked so hard you made it all the worse for him? Don't let him cry if you are going to do eventually what he wants you to do. That is not fair to him. In the first place, you should count the cost, see the thing through in your imagination, and know whether you have the stuff to carry it out."

"As for his getting nervous, suppose he does. Won't he get more nervous, by and by, when this bad habit must be broken? You certainly are not going to sit by him all his life, putting him to sleep. Besides, he will make more demands on you, giving you no end of trouble by and by, and keep himself a baby always."

"Yes, but when he gets a little older I can reason with him," she insisted.

"Well, he is your baby. Do as you like. You will, anyway. But if you are looking for advice let me tell you that by the time he is old enough to be persuaded to go to sleep without you and that sleep is valuable for his health and happiness, he will have tied himself to you so tightly that he will not be ready to respond to reason."

"If I were you, as soon as he knows that you will not sit by him and hold his hand when he lies down, I should put him in his regular bed for the afternoon nap and, after all the necessary routine had ended, I should leave him, after announcing that I was not coming back. Then if I had character enough, I should make my word good."

Many a mother fools herself to believe that all will work out well when her child "is old enough to reason". By that time he will have learned so many bad habits that he rarely will be reasonable about such trying matters as we have described.

What you don't want your child at three or five or fifteen to command you to do, don't let him make you do when he is a few months old. If you don't want to continue to lie down beside your child or stay by him while he goes to bed; if you don't want to continue to rock your child to sleep, or to carry him about in the middle of the night, don't start doing it. Put not your trust in baby's reasoning by and by. Put it in your reasoning now. Use simple common sense.

If you suddenly discover you have already spoiled your child by such foolishness, stop it. The longer you continue the more costly to you and the child will be the cure.

Eat More If You Want To Get Fat

Digestive System Can Do Extra Work, Doctor Opines

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The principles of fattening are just the opposite of those for the reducing diet. The important thing is to eat more of everything, the patient being urged to force his appetite just as the overweight is urged to curb his appetite. Both are hard to do. The thin person who is urged to force the appetite usually fears the extra food will not be digested. But this need not be a source of worry. Nature has wide powers of adjustment, and when it has to, the digestive system can do all the extra work required.

A good way to make these people eat more is to change the whole system of the household meals—do not give them anything they have been accustomed to.

The most stimulating foods to nutrition are milk and eggs. They are the foods growing animals live on. Milk is usually easy to take even if the appetite is fickle, because it is a liquid and can be gulped down quickly. It is a highly concentrated food, but the addition of extra cream greatly increases its nourishing value. An egg nog with the yolk and white of the egg separated and beaten up and added to the milk-cream mixture with a little sherry wine (which doctors are allowed to prescribe) is a combination which contains about 400 calories.

The diet should also include meat, fish, chicken, etc., in liberal quantities. These articles also have a stimulating effect on nutrition. Also cereals which have a high nutritive value. Fruits and vegetables must be included, especially potatoes. Bread with plenty of butter—the bread or toast being more the medium for plenty of butter than anything else. Desserts, jams and jellies are allowed in liberal quantities.

Just as the overweight patient has to exercise, the underweight has to rest. To lie down for an hour after each meals will do more to put on weight and strength than any other thing. If in the stress and strain of a workaday life an hour is too much, take as large a part of it for rest as you can. It is surprising how easy it is for anyone to arrange a half hour or fifteen minutes rest three or four times in the course of the day. By rest I mean lying down in full relaxation on a coach or bed or sofa.

This plan is valuable also for the convelescent from a surgical operation or a prolonged illness of any kind.

Lately the use of insulin has come in as a fattening agent. Insulin is the substance used in the treatment of diabetes and normally present in the body except in diabetes. Dr. Falta believes that obesity is due to an increase of the insulin secretion and that the combination of insulin and plenty of sugar and starch in the diet will put on weight. It should always be taken under a physician's guidance.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

S. A. H.: "Every Sunday morning I wake up with a headache. What puzzles me is why it comes on only once a week."

Answer: This sounds like a fatigue headache. Possibly eyestrain. Then there is Saturday night to think about.

Mrs. D. M. H.: "My boy is fourteen years old and only 4 feet 11 inches tall. Would cod liver oil help?"

Answer: No method is now known to promote growth. A growth hormone is being used experimentally, but the results have not been disclosed. Cod liver oil is not calculated to help.

Star Lore

WATCHING UNFOLDING OF A SUMMER CYCLONE

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.

If we fail to take notice, a summer cyclone lasting some three days—from the first symptoms of sultry weather, on through the clouds and rain, and finally the clearing—may carry on and we never be conscious that we have been on the underside of a real mechanical storm structure. If we but watched the physical unfolding of a low in summer we would view the progress of it knowingly: It usually disturbs us with that trying sultry air, while feathery cirrus clouds form aloft and a gentle breeze comes from the east. The breeze shifts finally to the west, via the south if the storm center is to the north; but from east around to the west via the north if storm center is south of us.

12 WAYS You Can PROVE.. ALLSTATE is America's Greatest Tire Value!

When we put ALLSTATE tires on the market, it was with the thought that they would be worthy of the Sears name and the Sears reputation. So we went to the manufacturer whose record was without a single blemish—whose products were accepted everywhere as the standard of rubber quality.

Thus the greatest tire manufacturing organization, trained and experienced in the production of America's finest tires, and the world's greatest distributing organization, dealing with over 12 million families, joined in making and selling ALLSTATE tires. Unknown six years ago—unnamed as well—ALLSTATE'S quality has brought this tire to leadership in sales direct to users. Never, in the history of the tire industry, has there been a success to match ALLSTATE'S. Today individual tire buyers, in selecting tires, pick ALLSTATE over all other brands.

AND YOU SAVE 25%

ALLSTATE is a first quality tire. First quality, we said, and we mean that. We are willing to let you judge by quality standards alone whether ALLSTATE tires are the tires for you to buy.

ALLSTATE is so good, so well made, so sturdily built, that we are proud of its construction. There are, as all tire engineers know, 12 real factors of quality in every tire—not three, not six, not nine, but twelve. So that you may know them, we are listing them here.

Asks $10,000 For Sock In The Face

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 13. — A sock on the foot, so runs the old adage, is worth two on the nose.

To Paul Osavage, local resident, the facial sock is worth $10,000.

So he claims, at least, in a suit filed here against Simon Kirus. According to Osavage's petition, Kirus came to his home last Easter Sunday and socked him in the face, breaking his glasses and injuring his nose.

Kirus, according to the suit, was under the influence of liquor at the time.

Charge Eaton With Using Continental Money For Himself

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13—Charges that Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, was using large sums of money belonging to Continental Shares, Inc., for his personal financial manipulations, were hurled at a meeting of Continental Shares stockholders here Wednesday to organize a stockholders' protective association.

"From the very conception and inception of the company, Mr. Eaton's idea plainly was to use its funds as his funds, for his own personal benefit, to use the funds of the company to cause mergers of various corporations upon which he received huge promoters' fees, no part of which did he turn over to Continental Shares," George L. Gugle, Columbus attorney and stockholder, declared.

Seek Recoveries

Gugle asserted that the total worth of holdings, which Eaton, as president, allegedly used in outside financial transactions, amounted to $142,574,034.

Calling upon his fellow-stockholders to make attempts to recover their reputed losses, Gugle declared that the interests of the present board of directors of Continental Shares "are antagonistic to those of Continental Shares and its stockholders."

Gugle asserted that he based his charges upon an audit of the company's affairs.

Acting upon Gugle's charges, the minority stockholders appointed a fact-finding committee to investigate the affairs of the company. In addition to Gugle, Paul J. Gnau (CQ) of Canton, O., and Thomas E. Farrell of Youngstown, O., were named to the committee.

They were authorized to conduct an inquiry into Eaton's transactions insofar as Continental Shares is concerned, and to submit a report at another meeting of the stockholders to be held in Cleveland on September 21.

Approximately ten per cent of the stockholders of Continental Shares was represented at today's meeting.

New Hole Will Be Ready For Play In Near Future—Improve Rough

Further improvements are under way at the Municipal Golf course, which will tend to better conditions.

In addition to the construction of a new green on No. 4 hole, which is rapidly nearing completion, work was started yesterday on improving the rough between No. 11 and No. 15 fairways.

There is a deep ditch runs between these two fairways, and the ground on either side is quite rough, being covered by tall grass and contains many big stones.

The ground has been ploughed up and the stones are being removed. It will be sowed with rough grass, which will greatly improve conditions next spring.

Says Hard Work Keeps Prisons Free From Riots

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 13.—Hard work and a well-rounded industrial system are credited by John L. Hanna, state secretary of welfare, with having kept Pennsylvania's prisons free from disorders and riots such as have occurred in other states within the last year or two.

Check of the four penal institutions under the direction of the department of welfare, Hanna said, shows that an average of about 800 inmates are regularly employed in definite industrial pursuits.

While this by no means approximates the total population of the institutions, the welfare head said, many of the inmates are employed at specialized work which does not qualify them for trades to which prison industries are confined, and others are employed at general labor.

An example of the latter is in construction now under way at both the eastern and western state penitentiaries, where 800 to 1,000 men are employed on the prison buildings and grounds, carrying forward improvement work.

"There is no question," said Hanna, discussing the absence of disorders from the state penal institutions, "but that some of the state-owned prisons are over-crowded.

"Overcrowding has been mentioned as one of the leading causes of riots in prisons in other states. Much of the overcrowded condition in Pennsylvania prisons will be relieved, however, as soon as our building program is completed.

"In the meantime, eight hours a day of healthful, hard labor keeps a man close to normal life and leaves him comfortably tired at night with little inclination to conspire for rioting."

No sure cure, however, can be found for prison disorders, the secretary of welfare believes.

Firemen Planning For Big Parade

Gigantic Parade Will Be Feature Of Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Convention

(International News Service)

TARENTUM, Pa., Aug. 13.—With 300 fire companies expected to participate, the annual parade of Western Pennsylvania firemen was to feature the 38th reunion of the Firefighters' Association today.

George M. Cook of Sharpsburg, was elected president of the organization last night. Other officers were Jesse L. Hume, of Tarentum, first vice president; Edward Clawson, of New Kensington, second vice president; George Litman, of Uniontown, third vice president; W. H. Sharah, of Braddock, secretary, and James H. Steel, of Wilkinsburg, treasurer.

Connellsville was selected as the convention site for 1932.

With 650 persons participating, the association sponsored last night its second presentation of a historical pageant. Men, women and children comprised the cast which presented the growth of Allegheny county.

Volumes, Thought Stolen Returned

(International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 13. — Mysteriously missing for more than a month, four priceless volumes of early California history now are back in the library of St. Joseph's church of this city. They were the work of the noted California churchman and Mission builder, Father Junipero Serra, who lived in the early days of the Dons. The books were entirely written by hand.

The books had been loaned to a Catholic church organist in Los Angeles, and the transaction forgotten by the priest who approved of the loan. When the volumes were found to be missing it was feared that they had been stolen by a band of thieves preying upon museums and libraries containing ancient volumes.

The church organist was unaware of the search being conducted until he came back to this city to return the volumes. He was much surprised to learn that private detectives had been engaged and that the loss had been reported to all bookshops, libraries and museums.

Instead of this vague "capital punishment", why not make it illegal to hang any man who has as much as a thousand dollars?

School Director Out Against Use Of Yellow Chalk

When is yellow chalk on the school blackboard perferrable to white?

At a meeting of the school board last night, A. C. Hyde, a director, described what he alleged to be a widespread use of yellow chalk in city schools and asked the board to remedy the condition by banning its use which he said is general in many class rooms.

"Some of them use yellow in place of white," Hyde declared. "I guess they think they can see it better."

Mrs. Ethel Douthett, one of the two women members of the board said that if some children can see yellow better than white they should use the colored chalk.

"We ought to investigate this," the woman said. The matter was tabled for future action.

Will Dedicate New Bridge August 19

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13. — The Ohio river communities benefiting most from the new McKees Rocks $7,000,000 bridge and the $5,000,000 Ohio river boulevard will join in an extensive dedicatory program August 19, according to plans of a committee organized recently.

The new roadway has been in use since December, while the mile-and-a-half span, connecting the boulevard with Island avenue, McKees Rocks, will be opened to traffice dedication day.

A river steamboat demonstration, a mammoth motor parade in which ten bands will march, and printing of 10,000 booklets describing the bridge and boulevard are part of the committee's plans.

The committee includes representatives of West View, Avalon, Emsworth, Bellevue, Coraopolis, Maysville, Neville Island, Leetsdale, Glenfield, Osborne, Ross township, and several North and West Wards of Pittsburgh.

Four Cows Lead To Larceny Charge

HARPER, Ore. Aug. 13. — Four calves pastured in R. Faust's yard. Faust denied he had stolen them.

So four cows belonging to Virgil Smith were driven up. The calves seemed glad to see them. The cows gave every evidence of fondness for the calves.

RESINOL HEALS SEVERE CASE OF PILES

"A few years ago my niece was ill and after being in bed several months she developed a very bad case of piles. As nothing she had used seemed to help her I advised Resinol Ointment which I had with me. After a few applications she was greatly relieved and before long was entirely healed." (Signed) Mrs. H. Scarland, 319 Elma St., St. Paul, Minn.

It is unnecessary to suffer from itching, bleeding, painful piles when Resinol Ointment gives such immediate relief. Many women use it regularly to relieve local itching caused by acid or irritating secretions. Free sample on request. Resinol, Dept. 91, Balto., Md. Sold by all druggists.

Aliquippa Swimmers To Invade Ellwood

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 13.— The Aliquippa swimming team will invade Ellwood City this evening for a dual meet with VanGorder's swimmers at the latters beach. The locals hope to give a good accounting of themselves in the home pool.

The visitors are reputed to be a strong team having nosed out Junction Park by one point some time ago and decisively defeated New Castle last Saturday at Aliquippa. They are bringing along a team that is strong in the swimming events.

Just recently the locals have developed a strong relay team in Chuck McCloskey, Ed. McCloskey, Ken Zeigler, and Hubert Fitzgerald and the latter is also improving in his dashes. Much improvement has been shown since the first meet. Better time is made in nearly all the swimming events. The locals hope to cop the fancy diving contest on their own boards at this time.

The meet is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p. m.

Such Harmony

Predictions, at the tender age of this girl are somewhat apt to be theoretical, but who can deny that little Rosa Juliet Raisa, daughter of Rosa Raisa, famous opera star, bears a striking resemblance to some operatic warblers when they are going full blast? Rosa Juliet, however, was sound asleep in her Chicago nursery when her picture was snapped, but she's evidently getting her mouth in shape for a career in song.

Lost in Mystery

The disappearance of Captain Lisandro Garay (above), Honduran army flier, supposedly on a 2,300-mile non-stop flight to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, from New York, is as much of a mystery as when he took off several days ago. Believed to be taking off only for a load test, Captain Garay disappeared into the air on what since is thought to have been a flight to his home. If the flier does reach Honduras, he faces court martial for insubordination.

Mrs. Roosevelt was hurriedly put through the overhead hatchway of the plane, the other passengers following her to safety. George Crouse (right), of Syracuse, N. Y., was host of the aviation party which met misfortune.

Where Four Young People Were Slain

Four young people were brutally murdered, their bodies and the automobile in which they sat soaked with gasoline and fired on a lonely road near Ypsilanti, Mich. The victims were: Thomas Wheatly, 16; Harry Lohr, 18, (both students at Ypsilanti High School); Vivian Gold, 15, of Cleveland, O., and Anna Harris, 17, also of Cleveland. The girls were spending their vacation at the Lohr home near Ypsilanti. Police believe the murder to have been committed by "petting party" bandits. Photo shows the scene of the crime and the charred wreckage of the automobile surrounded by curious sightseers.

Lost Ugly Fat

Her Husband Says She Looks Five Years Younger!

There is a certain weight at which every woman looks her loveliest—not skinny underweight nor pendulous overweight, but normal weight. We find artists, doctors, theatrical producers (and husbands!) all agreed upon this point. "My husband says I look five years younger," writes this lady of 29 who—thanks to her daily dose of Kruschen Salts—has unburdened her body of 18 pounds of ugly fat. Read her letter:—

"Having heard from a friend of mine that she has lost considerable weight since taking Kruschen Salts, I started using them in July last, when I weighed 177 lbs. I have lost weight steadily since then, and am now 159 lbs.—my normal weight. Moreover, I feel brighter and more energetic in every way. I have enquired of my dressmaker my measurements, which in August last were:—Bust 40, Hips 43½, Waist 33½ inches. Last week they were:—Bust 38, Hips 40, Waist 31 inches, which is normal for my height, which is 5 ft. 8 in. My age is 29. My husband is a very severe critic. He says I look five years younger. There is no other reason for my loss of weight except Kruschen, as I do not take any particular diet."

(Mrs.) S. R., London, England

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that will last four weeks costs but 85 cents—take a generous half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning. When the jar is empty get on the scales and see how many pounds you have lost. Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat—Try one bottle—if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

REMOVE THE CAUSE—Nature Will Do The Rest"

End Rheumatism

THE NEW, SCIENTIFIC WAY OF DEFEATING THIS DREAD DISEASE

LIMA, OHIO, WOMAN SUFFERED 15 YEARS—WAS FREED OF PAIN IN 3 MONTHS

"I had a rheumatic condition for 15 years," says Mrs. Una Hoover, Lima, O. "My joints and muscles were sore and for a time I was helpless. I had no appetite and was becoming weak and nervous. I received only temporary relief from doctoring. "After three months' treatment of ZO-RO-LO I am free of this rheumatic condition and of all my pains. I now play with my children as a healthy mother should, and they certainly notice the difference in my disposition. When they complain of feeling badly I give them Zo-Ro-Lo and it is not long before they are back to normal. I am going to continue with this wonderful medicine until I am sure the poisons which caused the trouble are eliminated permanently. I say this to save others the misery I endured."

MODERN science teaches us that to permanently relieve Rheumatism we must attack the CAUSE, which is said to be the action of toxic agents and infections due to faulty METABOLISM. Anyone can see how utterly illogical it is to apply external applications to affected parts, as long as the system is full of the toxemia which CAUSES the disease.

ZO-RO-LO, the famous modern medicine, now causing such a sensation, gives exactly the assistance Nature needs to rid the body of these poisons and establish normal Metabolism.

Thousands have secured absolute relief after years of suffering, and after all other methods had failed. Hundreds of voluntary testimonials are on file.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Nerves Mar Success Of Training Tot

Children Spoiled Because Parents Can't Control Selves

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

The other day a mother from a distant city came in to see me about her child of 16 months. Said she: "My baby takes a nap every afternoon on the davenport but he will not go to sleep unless I sit beside him and hold his hand." Then she added, "Don't you think that he will grow out of this habit when he is old enough to be reasoned with?"

"Not very likely to do so," I replied. "Why should he choose to give up something which gives him so much satisfaction?"

"Shall I let him cry?" she asked.

"Of course."

"But once I did and he screamed for three-quarters of an hour. I feared it would make him nervous and I just could not stand it to hear him."

There was her chief difficulty. She got nervous. Most children are spoiled because their parents can't control themselves.

"Don't you see, Mother," I continued, "that when you gave in to him after he had worked so hard you made it all the worse for him? Don't let him cry if you are going to do eventually what he wants you to do. That is not fair to him. In the first place, you should count the cost, see the thing through in your imagination, and know whether you have the stuff to carry it out."

"As for his getting nervous, suppose he does. Won't he get more nervous, by and by, when this bad habit must be broken? You certainly are not going to sit by him all his life, putting him to sleep. Besides, he will make more demands on you, giving you no end of trouble by and by, and keep himself a baby always."

"Yes, but when he gets a little older I can reason with him," she insisted.

"Well, he is your baby. Do as you like. You will, anyway. But if you are looking for advice let me tell you that by the time he is old enough to be persuaded to go to sleep without you and that sleep is valuable for his health and happiness, he will have tied himself to you so tightly that he will not be ready to respond to reason."

"If I were you, as soon as he knows that you will not sit by him and hold his hand when he lies down, I should put him in his regular bed for the afternoon nap and, after all the necessary routine had ended, I should leave him, after announcing that I was not coming back. Then if I had character enough, I should make my word good."

Many a mother fools herself to believe that all will work out well when her child "is old enough to reason". By that time he will have learned so many bad habits that he rarely will be reasonable about such trying matters as we have described.

What you don't want your child at three or five or fifteen to command you to do, don't let him make you do when he is a few months old. If you don't want to continue to lie down beside your child or stay by him while he goes to bed; if you don't want to continue to rock your child to sleep, or to carry him about in the middle of the night, don't start doing it. Put not your trust in baby's reasoning by and by. Put it in your reasoning now. Use simple common sense.

If you suddenly discover you have already spoiled your child by such foolishness, stop it. The longer you continue the more costly to you and the child will be the cure.

Eat More If You Want To Get Fat

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The principles of fattening are just the opposite of those for the reducing diet. The important thing is to eat more of everything, the patient being urged to force his appetite just as the overweight is urged to curb his appetite. Both are hard to do. The thin person who is urged to force the appetite usually fears the extra food will not be digested. But this need not be a source of worry. Nature has wide powers of adjustment, and when it has to, the digestive system can do all the extra work required.

A good way to make these people eat more is to change the whole system of the household meals—do not give them anything they have been accustomed to.

The most stimulating foods to nutrition are milk and eggs. They are the foods growing animals live on. Milk is usually easy to take even if the appetite is fickle, because it is a liquid and can be gulped down quickly. It is a highly concentrated food, but the addition of extra cream greatly increases its nourishing value. An egg nog with the yolk and white of the egg separated and beaten up and added to the milk-cream mixture with a little sherry wine (which doctors are allowed to prescribe) is a combination which contains about 400 calories.

The diet should also include meat, fish, chicken, etc., in liberal quantities. These articles also have a stimulating effect on nutrition. Also cereals which have a high nutritive value. Fruits and vegetables must be included, especially potatoes. Bread with plenty of butter—the bread or toast being more the medium for plenty of butter than anything else. Desserts, jams and jellies are allowed in liberal quantities.

Just as the overweight patient has to exercise, the underweight has to rest. To lie down for an hour after each meals will do more to put on weight and strength than any other thing. If in the stress and strain of a workaday life an hour is too much, take as large a part of it for rest as you can. It is surprising how easy it is for anyone to arrange a half hour or fifteen minutes rest three or four times in the course of the day. By rest I mean lying down in full relaxation on a coach or bed or sofa.

This plan is valuable also for the convelescent from a surgical operation or a prolonged illness of any kind.

Lately the use of insulin has come in as a fattening agent. Insulin is the substance used in the treatment of diabetes and normally present in the body except in diabetes. Dr. Falta believes that obesity is due to an increase of the insulin secretion and that the combination of insulin and plenty of sugar and starch in the diet will put on weight. It should always be taken under a physician's guidance.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

S. A. H.: "Every Sunday morning I wake up with a headache. What puzzles me is why it comes on only once a week."

Answer: This sounds like a fatigue headache. Possibly eyestrain. Then there is Saturday night to think about.

Mrs. D. M. H.: "My boy is fourteen years old and only 4 feet 11 inches tall. Would cod liver oil help?"

Answer: No method is now known to promote growth. A growth hormone is being used experimentally, but the results have not been disclosed. Cod liver oil is not calculated to help.

Star Lore

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.

If we fail to take notice, a summer cyclone lasting some three days—from the first symptoms of sultry weather, on through the clouds and rain, and finally the clearing—may carry on and we never be conscious that we have been on the underside of a real mechanical storm structure. If we but watched the physical unfolding of a low in summer we would view the progress of it knowingly: It usually disturbs us with that trying sultry air, while feathery cirrus clouds form aloft and a gentle breeze comes from the east. The breeze shifts finally to the west via the south if the storm center is to the north; but from east around to the west via the north if storm center is south of us.

12 WAYS You Can PROVE.. ALLSTATE is America's Greatest Tire Value!

When we put ALLSTATE tires on the market, it was with the thought that they would be worthy of the Sears name and the Sears reputation. So we went to the manufacturer whose record was without a single blemish—whose products were accepted everywhere as the standard of rubber quality.

Thus the greatest tire manufacturing organization, trained and experienced in the production of America's finest tires, and the world's greatest distributing organization, dealing with over 12 million families, joined in making and selling ALLSTATE tires. Unknown six years ago—unnamed as well—ALLSTATE'S quality has brought this tire to leadership in sales direct to users. Never, in the history of the tire industry, has there been a success to match ALLSTATE'S. Today individual tire buyers, in selecting tires, pick ALLSTATE over all other brands.

AND YOU SAVE 25%

ALLSTATE is a first quality tire. First quality, we said, and we mean that. We are willing to let you judge by quality standards alone whether ALLSTATE tires are the tires for you to buy.

ALLSTATE is so good, so well made, so sturdily built, that we are proud of its construction. There are, as all tire engineers know, 12 real factors of quality in every tire—not three, not six, not nine, but twelve. So that you may know them, we are listing them here.

Compare ALLSTATE, point by point, with any first quality tire on the market. Don't take our word for it. Learn yourself. Having proved to your own satisfaction that ALLSTATE is superior, then remember we save you 25% on your tire purchases.

One out of every nine tires bought by tire users is an ALLSTATE. The next time you buy tires, buy ALLSTATE—the tire which millions know to be the greatest tire value in America.

Asks $10,000 For Sock In The Face

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 13. — A sock on the foot, so runs the old adage, is worth two on the nose.

To Paul Osavage, local resident, the facial sock is worth $10,000.

So he claims, at least, in a suit filed here against Simon Kirus. According to Osavage's petition, Kirus came to his home last Easter Sunday and socked him in the face, breaking his glasses and injuring his nose.

Kirus, according to the suit, was under the influence of liquor at the time.

INDICATIONS POINT TO STEEL UPTURN

"Iron Age" Believes September Will See More Orders For Pipes, Rails And Automobile Steel. Structural Steel Needed

The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

The iron and steel industry presents a confused picture because of mixed tendencies in production and irregularities in the flow of specifications. Line pipe releases have increased, demands on the mills for structural steel and reinforcing bars are holding up and railroad demand appears to have passed its low ebb, but specifications for sheets and tin plate are still tapering.

Losses and gains, however, virtually counterbalance, and total raw steel requirements remain substantially unchanged. Slight increases in steel ingot output were made at Pittsburgh and Youngstown and declines were reported in the Wheeling district and at Cleveland, but the average for the country at large is estimated at 30 per cent, the same rate as a week ago.

Whether or not steel production has actually reached its lowest point, as now seems to be indicated, it is clear that several important market factors point to an upturn in the near future. "Vacation" suspensions by manufacturing consumers of iron and steel will terminate during the current month. The automobile industry, now at a low rate of activity, must issue specifications this month if there are to be increased operations in September. Some measure of improvement in motor car production is foreshadowed by greater activity in the die departments of plants making automobile stampings. There are also indications that the automobile makers themselves have underestimated the volume of retail demand. Latest reports for July show an output of 221,000 units, and August assemblies are now expected to run as high as 175,000 cars, whereas the general forecast only a week ago was 160,000 cars. The shutdown at the Ford Rouge plant, it now develops, is by no means complete, since 45,000 men have been retained in the manufacturing divisions and will produce parts for 100,000 cars before the end of September.

Manufacturers of radios, refrigerators, radiators and steel barrels and drums are beginning to take more material and it is only a matter of time when the farm equipment industry will increase its specifications.

The Pittsburgh rail mill has resumed operations at a 25 per cent rate after a fortnight's suspension and is unlikely to be forced to shut down again this year, since fall buying will soon get under way. The Louisville & Nashville is expected to take action on its inquiry for 50,000 tons within the next fortnight, and the Southern Pacific has come into the market for 60,000 tons. Prospective export orders which may be placed with American mills include 15,000 tons for Argentina and 12,000 tons for South Africa.

More than 160,000 tons of structural steel will be required for five large projects which will soon be placed. The bids on one of them, the Chicago post office, requiring 45,000 tons, have just been taken. The others are a bridge at New Orleans, 60,000 tons; a parcel post building, New York, 20,000 tons; an inland water terminal, New York, 20,000 tons; and a freight terminal and elevated structure in New York for the New York Central, 21,500 tons.

Steel pipe bookings have been augmented by the placing of 27,000 tons of 12 3-4-inch for a 207-mile oil line for the Texas Empire Pipe Line Co.

A total of 25,000 tons of plates and shapes will be required for six ocean vessels on which bids have been taken under the provisions of the Jones-White Act. Four of them are for the American Diamond Lines and two for the Barber Line.

Price developments are also favorable so far as finished steel is concerned. Wire nails now seem to be established at $1.90 a keg, Pittsburgh, or $2 a ton above the previous price. Sheet and strip prices are holding, and plates, shapes and bars are steady in most markets.

Foundry pig iron has declined 25c. a ton to $16, furnace, in Eastern Pennsylvania, and heavy melting steel has dropped 50c. a ton at Chicago. Domestic fluorspar is off $1 a ton to $13, mines.

The Iron Age composite prices of pig iron and steel scrap have declined slightly, the former from $15.54 to $15.50 and the latter from $9.42 to $9.25 a ton. The finished steel composite is unchanged.

Beaver County Brothers Robbed

BEAVER, Pa., Aug. 13.—County detectives and state police were called to Bocktown on route No. 151 yesterday to investigate a holdup and robbery of a gasoline station and store.

C. D. Leech, owner of the store and gasoline station, reported that two men entered his store shortly after he had opened up and held up himself and his brother, John S. Leech, Florida, a visitor. Fifteen dollars was taken from the cash register and a considerable sum of money from the two brothers. Leech and his brother were bound with rope by the two bandits. The bandits then backed from the store and escaped in a Pontiac car, it was said.

Flying Envoy

In addition to possessing a "Flying Governor," California has a "Flying Ambassador" in the person of Betty Gerke (above). Sentence Five In Dynamiting

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 13.—Five young men from Coal Center, arrested in connection with recent dynamiting of dwellings of miners in the present coal strike, appeared before Judge Howard W. Hughes and entered pleas of guilty to two such charges. James Tuturice, 20; William Mauzer, 19; Joe Christunis, 20, and John Blazus, 19, were sentenced to Huntingdon. Lloyd Stroud, 18, the fifth young man arrested, was sentenced to the county jail for not less than one nor more than two years.

SPENDS VACATION RESTING IN HOSPITAL

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 13.—While others will spend their vacations at the seashore or at mountain resorts, Rev. R. C. McMinn, 76, Jefferson minister, who says he really wants to rest, is spending his vacation at the Greene County Memorial hospital here. When he entered the institution he said he was not ill, but had just gone there for a short rest.

Puzzlers

Here is a good mind-reading trick which requires an accomplice. Have the guests each write a question on slips of paper, fold them several times and place in a hat. Now draw out a slip, peer at the blank surface as if in deep thought, then say it says thus and so. Your confederate then will declare, "Yes, that is what I wrote.' Next you open the paper as if to verify the fact, while carefully memorizing the sentence it contains. Now, repeat the previous performance, only giving the question which you read on the first slip. This will mystify a group indefinitely, before some person discovers the trick.

A report from the Graf Zeppelin on its recent Arctic flight said: "We made another discovery, too. On Taimyr Peninsula we 'picked up' a mountain range which heretofore has been unknown." The Graf Zeppelin is a mighty ship—The Sioux Falls Daily Argus-Leader.

Household Loan Plan

Loans of $50 up to $300

When you need money, you can now come to the leading family finance company in the country, Household, right here in New Castle. The opening of this branch office brings the number of Household offices to 146, serving principal cities in nearly all parts of the United States.

Lowers rate nearly 1/3 on loans over $100 up to $300
Household was the first family finance organization of national importance to voluntarily reduce the rate on loans above $100 nearly a third under the maximum charge fixed by the Small Loan Laws.

Dignified, confidential service —no outside signers
You can borrow from Household in as dignified, business-like fashion as from your bank, and with just as much privacy. You need ask no one to sign for you, and you can rest assured that your friends or employer won't be questioned about you.

Read the advantages of the Household Loan Plan:
① Household Loans from $50 to $300. Because of volume of business and efficient management, Household can charge practically a third less than the rate allowed by law, on loans over $100 up to $300. No extra charges for anything. . . . ② Only husband's and wife's signatures. No other signers required. . . . ③ No embarrassing investigations are made of friends, or among employers, or merchants. . . . ④ Borrow in a private office. All Household loans are strictly confidential between Household and you. . . . ⑤ Quick Service. Loans are made quickly, by our friendly, competent manager. . . . ⑥ 20 months to pay, if you wish, or you may pay in full at any time. Interest is charged only on the balance due and for the number of days you keep the money. . . . ⑦ Phone, call, or write. You may phone or write for a representative to call at your home, without obligation. Or come into our office.

Vice president—Mrs. J. A. Aiken.
Treasurer—Mrs. Charles Grine.
Assistant treasurer—Mrs. D. L. Adams.
Recording secretary—Mrs. R. P. Adams.
Corresponding secretary — Mrs. Dave Snyder.

A paper on "International Relations" was read by Mrs. Walter Hess. An article following along the line of international affairs was read by Mrs. Martin Offutt. Mrs. H. M. Thorp read a paper on Citizenship. The social hour followed with the following hostesses: Mrs. T. L. Brown, Mrs. H. A. Sonnett, Mrs. Paul Meals, Mrs. D. L. Adams, Mrs. Effie Pearson and Miss Maud Bingham.

FUNERAL HELD

The funeral of Dave Morrison, a former resident of this place, was held in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. C. N. Moore of Zelienople.

Surviving are a son, Harry at whose home he died, and a daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Reigle, both of Grove City; a sister, Mrs. W. W. Weber, and a brother, John Morrison of Slippery Rock.

SURPRISE PARTY

A group of young people had a farewell surprise party for Jack Allison at the home of his mother on Normal avenue on Monday evening. An enjoyable evening was spent in playing games and at a late hour delicious refreshments were served. Jack was the recipient of a beautiful silver wrist watch chain presented by the young people. He left for New York on Wednesday and will sail from Jersey City on August 15 for Turkey, where he has been engaged to teach science in a high school near Constantinople.

EDUCATOR TO SPEAK

Mrs. R. Frederick Roberts, educator, lecturer and world traveler of New Castle, will be the speaker Sabbath evening at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church. This is the women's meeting under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Roberts' subject will be "The Then and the Now" of the temperance question. A large chorus of women will lead the praise service. Everyone is invited.

ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual Presbyterian missionary and church picnic was held Friday afternoon at the church. The program in the afternoon was presented by members of the Westminster Guild. In the absence of the president, Dorothy Allison, Jean Steele presided.

The following program was given: Vocal duet—Dorothy Sonnett and Aida Steele.

One-act playe entitled "How Not To Do It" was presented by eight girls—Rose Fleming, Mary Hutchinson, Lois Adams, Mary Hindman, Mildred Varnum, Marion Barron, Patricia Gerlach and Ruth Glaspy.

Piano solo—Hazel Sonnett.

Violin solo—Dorothy Bowers.

The committee in charge of the picnic dinner included Mrs. Gale West, Mrs. Frank Varnum, Mrs. L. L. McCullough, Mrs. Henry Sonnett and Mrs. Gertrude Cooper.

HAD PICNIC

The women and the Young Women's Missionary societies of the United Presbyterian church held their annual picnic at Etna Springs park on Tuesday evening. In spite of the downpour of rain about 65 attended.

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schaeffer returned to their home in Detroit on Wednesday morning after a short visit with the latter's mother, Mrs Anna Harbaugh. Mrs. Harbaugh returned home with them for a visit after which she will visit her sister Mrs. Ed Klink, at her home in Chicago.

Aliquippa Swimmers To Invade Ellwood

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 13.— The Aliquippa swimming team will invade Ellwood City this evening for a dual meet with VanGorder's swimmers at the latters beach. The locals hope to give a good accounting of themselves in the home pool.

The visitors are reputed to be a strong team having nosed out Junction Park by one point some time ago and decisively defeated New Castle last Saturday at Aliquippa. They are bringing along a team that is strong in the swimming events.

Just recently the locals have developed a strong relay team in Chuck McCloskey, Ed. McCloskey, Ken Zeigler, and Hubert Fitzgerald and the latter is also improving in his dashes. Much improvement has been shown since the first meet. Better time is made in nearly all the swimming events. The locals hope to cop the fancy diving contest on their own boards at this time.

The meet is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p. m.

Such Harmony

Predictions, at the tender age of this girl, are somewhat apt to be theoretical, but who can deny that little Rosa Juliet Raisa, daughter of Rosa Raisa, famous opera star, bears a striking resemblance to some operatic warblers when they are going full blast? Rosa Juliet, however, was sound asleep in her Chicago nursery when her picture was snapped, but she's evidently getting her mouth in shape for a career in song.

Lost in Mystery

The disappearance of Captain Lisandro Garay (above), Honduran army flier, supposedly on a 2,300-mile non-stop flight to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, from New York, is as much of a mystery as when he took off several days ago. Believed to be taking off only for a load test, Captain Garay disappeared into the air on what since is thought to have been a flight to his home. If the flier does reach Honduras, he faces court martial for insubordination.

Martin Announces As Candidate For Commissionership

Lifelong Resident Of County Pledges Conservative Administration If Elected

J. S. MARTIN

J. S. Martin of the second ward, New Castle, has announced his candidacy for the office of county commissioner, subject to the Republican primaries, September 15th, 1931.

In making his announcement Mr. Martin states that, if nominated and elected to this office he will faithfully serve all the people of the county and will at all times be mindful of the courtesy due them and aim to see that the money of the taxpayer be expended wisely and that full value be received for the same. He believes in honesty in public affairs and decency in public administration, and if elected pledges himself to uphold these principles.

Mr. Martin is a lifelong resident of the county, having been born and raised in Washington township, where he owns and operates a dairy farm. Has had experience in road-building, working for the Holmes Construction Co. for the past few years. Is a property owner and taxpayer and is well and favorably known in the county as well as in New Castle, where he now lives.

Saved From Sinking Plane

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt (left), wife of the Governor of Porto Rico, was one of five passengers rescued when the Pan-American Airways amphibion plane they were aboard hit an obstruction while landing on the water of Ponce Harbor, Porto Rico. The plane, of the type shown in lower photo, rapidly filled with water and sank within five minutes. Mrs. Roosevelt was hurriedly put through the overhead hatchway of the plane, the other passengers following her to safety. George Crouse (right), of Syracuse, N. Y., was host of the aviation party which met misfortune.

Where Four Young People Were Slain

Four young people were brutally murdered, their bodies and the automobile in which they sat soaked with gasoline and fired on a lonely road near Ypsilanti, Mich. The victims were: Thomas Wheatly, 16; Harry Lohr, 18, (both students at Ypsilanti High School); Vivian Gold, 16, of Cleveland, O., and Anna Harris, 17, also of Cleveland. The girls were spending their vacation at the Lohr home near Ypsilanti. Police believe the murder to have been committed by "petting party" bandits. Photo shows the scene of the crime and the charred wreckage of the automobile surrounded by curious sightseers.

CHEWTON

INJURED HAND

Mrs. Viola Guy met with a very painful accident Monday morning while washing. Mrs. Guy was adjusting the electric wringer when her hand was caught between the rolls, and before it could be released it was very badly cut. A doctor was called immediately and required seven stitches to close the cut across the palm of her hand. While the hand is not seriously injured it is very painful and will be some time before she will have the use of it.

Lost Ugly Fat

Her Husband Says She Looks Five Years Younger!

There is a certain weight at which every woman looks her loveliest—not skinny underweight nor pendulous overweight, but normal weight. We find artists, doctors, theatrical producers (and husbands!) all agreed upon this point. "My husband says I look five years younger," writes this lady of 29 who—thanks to her daily dose of Kruschen Salts—has unburdened her body of 18 pounds of ugly fat. Read her letter:—

"Having heard from a friend of mine that she has lost considerable weight since taking Kruschen Salts, I started using them in July last, when I weighed 127 lbs. I have lost weight steadily since then, and am now 109 lbs.—my normal weight. Moreover, I feel brighter and more energetic in every way. I have enquired of my dressmaker my measurements, which in August last were:—Bust 40, Hips 43½, Waist 33½ inches. Last week they were:—Bust 38, Hips 40, Waist 31 inches, which is normal for my height, which is 5 ft. 3 in. My age is 29. My husband is a very severe critic. He says I look five years younger. There is no other reason for my loss of weight except Kruschen, as I do not take any particular diet."

(Mrs.) S. R., London, England

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that will last four weeks costs but 85 cents—take a generous half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning. When the jar is empty get on the scales and see how many pounds you have lost. Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat—Try one bottle—if not joyfully satisfied, money back.

REMOVE THE CAUSE—Nature Will Do The Rest"

End Rheumatism

THE NEW, SCIENTIFIC WAY OF DEFEATING THIS DREAD DISEASE

LIMA, OHIO, WOMAN SUFFERED 15 YEARS—WAS FREED OF PAIN IN 3 MONTHS

"I had a rheumatic condition for 15 years," says Mrs. Una Hoover, Lima, O. "My joints and muscles were sore and for a time I was helpless. I had no appetite and was becoming weak and nervous. I received only temporary relief from doctoring. "After three months' treatment of ZO-RO-LO I am free of this rheumatic condition and of all my pains. I now play with my children as a healthy mother should, and they certainly notice the difference in my disposition. When they complain of feeling badly I give them Zo-Ro-Lo and it is not long before they are back to normal. I am going to continue with this wonderful medicine until I am sure the poisons which caused the trouble are eliminated permanently. I say this to save others the misery I endured."

MODERN science teaches us that to permanently relieve Rheumatism we must attack the CAUSE, which is said to be the action of toxic agents and infections due to faulty METABOLISM. Anyone can see how utterly illogical it is to apply external applications to affected parts, as long as the system is full of the toxemia which CAUSES the disease.

ZO-RO-LO, the famous modern medicine, now causing such a sensation, gives exactly the assistance Nature needs to rid the body of these poisons and establish normal Metabolism.

Thousands have secured absolute relief after years of suffering, and after all other methods had failed. Hundreds of voluntary testimonials are on file.

Here's MILEAGE on the Bargain Counter

Take a look at the amazingly low Goodyear Pathfinder prices listed here—mileage is certainly on the bargain counter.

Never in the history of the automobile have good tires been priced so low.

You can have all the values of Supertwist cord, of Goodyear craftsmanship—long wear, safe riding, trouble-free performance—so cheap that anyone can afford them.

Peace of mind costs so little now that it's an ideal time to outfit that car of yours with new Pathfinders all around—a whole new set.

Don't take a chance on the hazard and worry of threadbare tires any longer—you don't need to, with prices like these.

Buys Village To Keep Sons Busy

Jobs Scarce In Wichita, So Realtor Purchases Small Town For His Boys' Vacation Pursuits; Now Whole Family Is Kept On Move

By EDWIN W. PRYOR
Central Press Correspondent

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 13.—Because he couldn't find vacation jobs for his three sons, George W. Winters, president of the Kansas Real Estate board, has purchased the village of Waco-Wego, about 12 miles south of this city.

On the highway which connects Wichita and Oklahoma City, it attracts much tourists trade with its filing station, garage, cafe, confectionary, bulk oil station, grocery store, general merchandise store and bulk oil depot. Winters bought all these and a park.

"I'm a firm believer in putting boys to work during the summer when they're not in school," he explained. "But try as I would, I couldn't find anything for them this summer—depression, I guess. So when I heard about Waco-Wego being for sale, I just went out and bought it, figuring it would keep the boys busy.

"But now I find I've acquired full time work for the whole family. I've closed my real estate office in Wichita and am resigning the state board presidency to give my whole time to developing the town."

Whole Family Works

Winters' family consists of his wife, his sons, Billy, 10; George, 16, and Clifford, 19; and his daughter, Hazel, 20. The work of the town is divided evenly among them, with Mr. and Mrs. Winters directing the development and filling the municipal offices, such as mayor, chief of police, and so forth.

The winters plan to develop their town as a pleasure resort for Wichitans and tourists who travel the highway in great numbers, as well as the farmers of the community. They are landscaping the entire town, sodding the banks of cowskin creek, planting flowers and shrubs everywhere. They have modernized the stores, adding to the stocks and otherwise improving them.

"It's lot of fun, owning your own town," confided Hazel, the daughter. "Before we're through, Waco-Wego is going to be the busiest spot in Kansas. It's work, but it's really play."

"Because I'm a real estate man, everyone naturally supposed I bought Waco-Wego to subdivide and sell," Winters said. "But I didn't—this is one of the few times a real estate man bought to keep. I thought it would be just a hobby and a means of keeping my boys busy, and starting them on the right road in life. But I'm sold on building up the village now and believe it is the best deal I ever put over.

"Waco-Wego is a fine community in which to rear a family, especially since the family is the community. Already I've had three offers on the town which would net a profit, but I'm not selling."

In an address at the annual dinner of the alumni of Columbia Law School, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler said that the United States Senate could relieve the industrial depression. The doctor is developing a gift for ironical expression.—San Jose Mercury Herald.

INDICATIONS POINT TO STEEL UPTURN

"Iron Age" Believes September Will See More Orders For Pipes, Rails And Automobile Steel. Structural Steel Needed

The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

The iron and steel industry presents a confused picture because of mixed tendencies in production and irregularities in the flow of specification. Line pipe releases have increased, demands on the mills for structural steel and reinforcing bars are holding up and railroad demand appears to have passed its low ebb, but specifications for sheets and tin plate are still tapering.

Steel and pig, however, virtually counterbalance and total raw steel requirements remain substantially unchanged. Slight increases in steel ingot output were made at Pittsburgh and Youngstown and declines were reported in the Wheeling district and at Cleveland, but the average for the country at large is estimated at 30 per cent, the same rate as a week ago.

Whether or not steel production has actually reached its lowest point, as now seems to be indicated, it is clear that several important market factors point to an upturn in the near future. "Vacation" suspensions by manufacturing consumers of iron and steel will terminate during the current month. The automobile industry, now at a low rate of activity, must issue specifications this month if there are to be increased operations in September. Some measure of improvement in motor car production is foreshadowed by greater activity in the die departments of plants making automobile stampings. There are also indications that the automobile makers themselves have underestimated the volume of retail demand. Latest reports for July show an output of 221,000 units, and August assemblies are now expected to run as high as 175,000 cars, whereas the general forecast only a week ago was 160,000 cars. The shutdown at the Ford Rouge plant, it now develops, is by no means complete, since 45,000 men have been retained in the manufacturing divisions and will produce parts for 100,000 cars before the end of September.

Manufacturers of radios, refrigerators, radiators and steel barrels and drums are beginning to take more material and it is only a matter of time when the farm equipment industry will increase its specifications.

The Pittsburgh rail mill has resumed operations at a 25 per cent rate after a fortnight's suspension and is unlikely to be forced to shut down again this year, since fall buying will soon get under way. The Louisville & Nashville is expected to take action on its inquiry for 50,000 tons within the next fortnight, and the Southern Pacific has come into the market for 60,000 tons. Prospective export orders which may be placed with American mills include 15,000 tons for Argentina and 12,000 tons for South Africa.

More than 160,000 tons of structural steel will be required for five large projects which will soon be placed. The bids on one of them, the Chicago post office, requiring 45,000 tons, have just been taken. The others are a bridge at New Orleans, 60,000 tons; a parcel post building, New York, 20,000 tons; an inland water terminal, New York, 20,000 tons; and a freight terminal and elevated structure in New York for the New York Central, 21,500 tons.

Steel pipe bookings have been augmented by the placing of 27,000 tons of 12 3-4-inch for a 207-mile oil line for the Texas Empire Pipe Line Co.

A total of 25,000 tons of plates and shapes will be required for six ocean vessels on which bids have been taken under the provisions of the Jones-White Act. Four of them are for the American Diamond Lines and two for the Barber Line.

Price developments are also favorable so far as finished steel is concerned. Wire nails now seem to be established at $1.90 a keg, Pittsburgh, or $2 a ton above the previous price. Sheet and strip prices are holding, and plates, shapes and bars are steady in most markets.

Foundry pig iron has declined 25c. a ton to $16, furnace, in Eastern Pennsylvania, and heavy melting steel has dropped 50c. a ton at Chicago. Domestic fluorspar is off $1 a ton to $13, mines.

The Iron Age composite prices of pig iron and steel scrap have declined slightly, the former from $15.54 to $15.50 and the latter from $9.42 to $9.25 a ton. The finished steel composite is unchanged.

Beaver County Brothers Robbed

BEAVER, Pa., Aug. 13.—County detectives and state police were called to Bocktown on route No. 151 yesterday to investigate a holdup and robbery of a gasoline station and store.

C. D. Leech, owner of the store and gasoline station, reported that two men entered his store shortly after he had opened up and held up himself and his brother, John S. Leech, Florida, a visitor. Fifteen dollars was taken from the cash register and a considerable sum of money from the two brothers. Leech and his brother were bound with rope by the two bandits. The bandits then backed from the store and escaped in a Pontiac car, it was said.

Sentence Five In Dynamiting

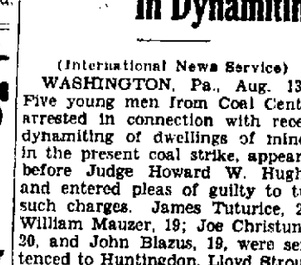

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 13.—Five young men from Coal Center, arrested in connection with recent dynamiting of dwellings of miners in the present coal strike, appeared before Judge Howard W. Hughes and entered pleas of guilty to two such charges. James Tuturice, 20; William Mauzer, 19; Joe Christunis, 20, and John Blazus, 19, were sentenced to Huntingdon. Lloyd Stroud 18, the fifth young man arrested, was sentenced to the county jail for not less than one nor more than two years.

SPENDS VACATION RESTING IN HOSPITAL

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 13.—While others will spend their vacations at the seashore or at mountain resorts, Rev. R. C. McMinn, 76, Jefferson minister, who says he really wants to rest, is spending his vacation at the Greene County Memorial hospital here. When he entered the institution he said he was not ill, but had just gone there for a short rest.

Puzzlers

Here is a good mind-reading trick which requires an accomplice. Have the guests each write a question on slips of paper, fold them several times and place in a hat. Now draw out a slip, peer at the blank surface as if in deep thought, then say it says thus and so. Your confederate then will declare, "Yes, that is what I wrote.' Next you open the paper as if to verify the fact, while carefully memorizing the sentence it contains. Now, repeat the previous performance, only giving the question which you read on the first slip. This will mystify a group indefinitely, before some person discovers the trick.

A report from the Graf Zeppelin on its recent Arctic flight said: "We made another discovery, too. On Taimyr Peninsula we 'picked up' a mountain range which heretofore has been unknown." The Graf Zeppelin is a mighty ship.—The Sioux Falls Daily Argus-Leader.

Kit Carson—28. Kit Turns Farmer—Temporarily

WHEN KIT CARSON RETURNED TO HIS HOME IN TAOS, NEW MEXICO, FROM FREMONT'S SECOND EXPEDITION (1844), IT WAS WITH THE INTENTION OF GIVING UP THE ROAMING LIFE OF SCOUT AND GUIDE AND DEVOTING HIS TIME TO THE PEACEFUL PURSUIT OF FARMING.

MEANWHILE, FREMONT HAD GONE EAST. HIS REPORTS, WELL-WRITTEN AND FILLED WITH ACCOUNTS OF THRILLING ADVENTURES, WERE PUBLISHED AND WIDELY READ. FREMONT GAVE MUCH SPACE TO CARSON'S DEEDS OF DARING, AND THE SCOUT BECAME A POPULAR HERO.

KIT HAD BEEN WORKING ON HIS FARM ONLY A FEW MONTHS WHEN HE RECEIVED A LETTER THAT SHATTERED HIS AGRICULTURAL RESOLUTIONS. FREMONT, NOW A COLONEL IN THE ARMY, WAS COMING WEST FOR A THIRD EXPLORING EXPEDITION. —o

Age And Distance Feature Old Timer Registry Lists

Florida To California Represented In Guests At Picnic Wednesday

The one thing that the Old Timers and their descendants were not ashamed of Wednesday was their age, in fact that was one thing they seemed perfectly willing to tell, because of the fact that it, if nothing else established their right to be termed an Old Timer and take part in the grand march and contests held for Old Timer Residents or their descendants.

The registration does not by any means indicate all the Old Timers present. The registration list follows: William Eichholtz, Zelienople 78 and Mrs. William Eichholtz 60, Zelienople, married 36 years; Joseph Rols, Pittsburgh, Pa., 85; Clyde Cameron, Youngstown, O., 58; J. I. Moseley, Leasure avenue, 76; Mrs. Elizabeth Clifton, Johnstown, Pa., 64; Mr. and Mrs. William John, Johnstown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Wilcox, New Castle, 74 and 62 and married 44 years; Master John Roman, South Fork, Pa.; Mrs. Eva L. Baker, New Castle, 74; Mrs. Anna Williams, New Castle, 52; O. C. Allen, New Castle, 78.

Here's MILEAGE on the Bargain Counter

Take a look at the amazingly low Goodyear Pathfinder prices listed here—mileage is certainly on the bargain counter.

Never in the history of the automobile have good tires been priced so low.

You can have all the values of Supertwist cord, of Goodyear craftsmanship—long wear, safe riding, trouble-free performance—so cheap that anyone can afford them.

Peace of mind costs so little now that it's an ideal time to outfit that car of yours with new Pathfinders all around—a whole new set.

Don't take a chance on the hazard and worry of threadbare tires any longer—you don't need to, with prices like these.

Buys Village To Keep Sons Busy

Jobs Scarce In Wichita, So Realtor Purchases Small Town For His Boys' Vacation Pursuits; Now Whole Family Is Kept On Move

By EDWIN W. PRYOR
Central Press Correspondent

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 13.—Because he couldn't find vacation jobs for his three sons, George W. Winters, president of the Kansas Real Estate board, has purchased the village of Waco-Wego, about 12 miles south of this city.

On the highway which connects Wichita and Oklahoma City, it attracts much tourists trade with its filling station, garage, cafe, confectionary, bulk oil station, grocery store, general merchandise store and bulk oil depot. Winters bought all these and a park.

"I'm a firm believer in putting boys to work during the summer when they're not in school," he explained. "But try as I would, I couldn't find anything for them this summer—depression, I guess. So when I heard about Waco-Wego being for sale, I just went out and bought it, figuring it would keep the boys busy.

"But now I find I've acquired full time work for the whole family. I've closed my real estate office in Wichita and am resigning the state board presidency to give my whole time to developing the town."

Whole Family Works

Winters' family consists of his wife, his sons, Billy, 10; George, 16, and Clifford, 19; and his daughter, Hazel, 20. The work of the town is divided evenly among them, with Mr. and Mrs. Winters directing the development and filling the municipal offices, such as mayor, chief of police, and so forth.

The winters plan to develop their town as a pleasure resort for Wichitans and tourists who travel the highway in great numbers, as well as the farmers of the community. They are landscaping the entire town, sodding the banks of cowskin creek, planting flowers and shrubs everywhere. They have modernized the stores, adding to the stocks and otherwise improving them.

"It's lot of fun, owning your own town," confided Hazel, the daughter. "Before we're through, Waco-Wego is going to be the busiest spot in Kansas. It's work, but it's really play."

"Because I'm a real estate man, everyone naturally supposed I bought Waco-Wego to subdivide and sell," Winters said. "But I didn't—this is one of the few times a real estate man bought to keep. I thought it would be just a hobby and a means of keeping my boys busy, and starting them on the right road in life. But I'm sold on building up the village now and believe it is the best deal I ever put over.

"Waco-Wego is a fine community in which to rear a family, especially since the family is the community. Already I've had three offers on the town which would net a profit, but I'm not selling."

Brooklyn Team Suffers Slump

Cardinals Take Two From Faltering Dodgers As Cubs Also Keep Pace With Two

INDIANS-YANKS DIVIDE GAMES

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Wilbert Robinson, for 18 years manager of the Brooklyn Robins, stood today at the crossroads, the red light against him and clouds just chuck full of grief all round.

Robinson's boys were supposed to have started their great drive for the National League pennant on Wednesday but instead they fell apart like a Japanese puzzle and it looked this morning as though all the king's horses and men could never put them together again. In fact any idea of mending the Brooklyn machine this season was quite forgotten as the city over the bridge clamored for Robbie's head.

The sad business all came about when the St. Louis Cardinals proved too good and set down the Robins twice, 5 to 0 and 8 to 5. Jess Haines pitched the shutout opener in which the flock looked like Tom Thumb trying to trip Primo Carnera.

Cubs Win Two.

The Chicago Cubs whipped the Phillies twice and moved into second place over the New York Giants, eight and one-half games behind the leading St. Louis gang. Blake weakened in the tenth inning of the opener when the Bruins scored five runs to roll it away, 7 to 3. Root was the winning hurler. Cuyler, with four safeties, led a hit attack that took the finale, 12 to 1.

Mel Ott swung for two four-basers for the Giants but Hubbell walked men when he should have fanned them and Pittsburgh won 6 to 4. Ott also got a homer in the vesper, which the New Yorkers copped 9 to 0 with Bill Walker hurling the horse-collaring ball.

Mark Koenig was one of the day's outstanding heroes, punching a double off George Earnshaw as a pinch hitter to drive in the run that won, 7 to 6, for Detroit over the champion Athletics.

Koenig's hit scored Rogell, who had also doubled, in the twelfth inning.

Indians-Yanks Split.

Chapman and J. Sewell each blasted out four hits as the New York Yankees pummeled a trio of Cleveland hurlers to triumph, 18 to 1. The Indians, however, got on their horses in the night cap and scalped the Yanks, 17 to 7 with Averill the big chief in the Cleveland assault.

Vic Frazier gave the Senators only six hits while four Washington hurlers stood helpless under a White Sox batting assault, which gave Chicago a 11 to 1 advantage.

Pitcher Sam Gray of the St. Louis Brownies threw away the ball and the ball game in the ninth, his wild peg permitting Rhyne to score and hand Boston's Red Sox a six to five victory.

Rain stopped the Cincinnati-Boston clash in the National circuit.

Citizens Lumber Topple Oak A. C.

GOLF for GIRLS

by GLENNA COLLETT

Women's National Golf Champion.

NUMBER 14

The short chip and pitch shots are tough ones for beginners. In these shots lies the discouragement and constant failure to improve that often causes the novice to consider abandoning the game.

Glenna Collett

The difficulty with these shots is this: They must be played with the wrists. That makes them decidedly difficult for the beginner to execute.

This is true, I beleive, because there is no guide for determining just how far back to take the club on the backswing.

Here's how I solved this problem: I gripped the club with the left hand in such a manner that the left thumb was down back of the leather. This grip automatically stops the backswing for, since the club is taken back with the wrists only, the thumb in such a position acts as an irresistible brake. The swing just cannot go any further.

And when you avoid overswinging or wobbling the club you attain a firm left wrist with which to hit.

In our next little golf chat I shall attempt to explain how you may improve your follow through.

Seventh Warders Card Four Games

It was announced today by Nick Cangey, manager of the Mahoning A. A. nine that he has carded four fast games. Tonight at 6:30 o'clock on the E. & A. grounds the Mahoning nine will meet the Wurtemburg aggregation in a regular Independent elimination game.

The Mahoning team eliminated the West Side Civics for the right to meet the Wurtemburg Stars. On Friday night the Seventh Warders will meet the strong West Pittsburg nine of the Lawrence County league on the E. and A. grounds. This game starts at 6:30 o'clock.

Saturday afternoon's attraction on the E. and A. grounds will find the Mahoning A. A. team battling the Aliquippa A. C. nine at 3:30 o'clock. On Sunday the Mahoning teams plays Maplevale at Petersburg, Ohio.

Sacred Heart A. C. Beats Ellwood Team

The Sacred Heart A. C. defeated an Ellwood mushball team on Genkinger field Wednesday, the score being 5 to 4. The game was one of the best witnessed this season, with both teams fighting hard. The schedule for today calls for mushball games between the Whites and Greens and on Friday between the Reds and Blues, teams in the Sacred Heart mushball league.

HURLER WINS 13 STRAIGHT GAMES

Beaten once since mid-August, 1930, Frank Shellenback, star pitcher of the Hollywood Stars, Pacific Coast league team, has tossed 32 victories in 33 games. Frank now has a winning streak of 13 straight games. Shellenback has little chance, however, to become a major leaguer as he is a spitball pitcher and the spitter is barred in the big time.

George Trainor Shoots Brilliant 79 To Be Among Leaders In Qualifying

REGIS WOLFF IS MEDALIST WITH 77

George Trainor, New Castle Field Club star golfer and amateur, was among the first six qualifers at the Pittsburgh Field Club course yesterday in the Western Pennsylvania Amateur tourney. Regis Wolff, of Highland Park, was medalist with a 77. Trainor had a 79 which was good enough to tie Watts Gunn, former runner-up to Bobby Jones for the National Open title.

Trainor was paired yesterday with Samuel W. Perry, Jr., of the local field club and Perry finished with a 46-51 for a 97, which failed to qualify.

Plays Herron Today

Trainor goes to the wars today in the start of the Amateur tourney play with the old veteran Dave Herron as his opponent. Trainor is conceded a chance to take the tourney if his putter gets going hot. The local star drives a longer ball than the majority of them. His iron game is good.

R. W. Thompson, of Ellwood City, had a fine 78 yesterday.

The golfers finished as follows:—Regis Wolff, J. Denny St. Clair, R. W. Thompson, Fred Weppner, George Trainor, Sam Parks, Jr., and Watts Gunn. Trainor Gunn, Parks and Weppner had 79s.

The following card for 18 holes was turned in by Trainor—

League Contests Are Washed Out

Rain Causes Postponement Of Lawrence County League Games Wednesday

Inclement weather caused a postponement of all Lawrence County league games on Wednesday night. The next set of games take place next Saturday afternoon when four tilts will be enacted.

The games Wednesday night will be played later on. On next Saturday one of the most important games of the second half race will be played at Centennial field when the Shenango Pottery team meets the league leading Scarazzo aggregation. The Shenango team is in second place. A win will give the Shenango team a deadlock for first place while a loss will fatten the average of the leaders.

The games Saturday:
North Highland at Hillsville.
Scarazzos at Shenango Pottery.
Wampum at Bessemer.
Brent at Universal Sanitary.
West Pittsburg, idle.

Richest Racing Event Is Today

Weather Allowing, Richest Hambletonian Stakes Race Is Set For Today

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Sports Writer

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 13—Weather permitting, the $55,000 Hambletonian Stake, richest and most famous of all harness horse events, will be trotted on W. H. Cane's three-cornered mile track beside the Erie railroad this afternoon. Rain forced a postponement yesterday.

Six three-year olds will start in the race, a much smaller field than had been anticipated. The victor will be the first to win two heats. Nedda Guy, 2:30 1-5, a Bay filley by Guy Axworthy out of Nedda, by Atlantic Express, which will carry the colors of the good time stable, Mr. Cane's organization here, will probably go to the post the favorite.

Keno, 2:05, a big Bay colt by Chester Peter, owned by John M. Berry, of Rome, Ga., is second choice of most of the auction buyers. The other entries, in the order of favoritism are Calumet Bush 2:05½, Charlotte Hanover, 2:04, Calumet Blericka and Clumet Butler, 2:04½.

Today's race, named the Hambletonian stake in honor of a noted trotting horse which lies buried under an imposing monument a few miles from here, is worth $55,729, seventy per cent of which or nearly $40,000 will go to the winner. Twenty percent goes to the second horse and ten per cent to the third. The fourth, fifth and sixth horses will each win $1,000, a sum that will cover the entrance fee. Consequently, the race is almost equal in richness to the Kentucky Derby.

American Golfers Stay In Tourney

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, Aug. 13—Two American golfers today remained in the running for the Canadian amateur golf championship, which is being held over the south course of the Royal Montreal Golf club here.

They are Arthur 'Ducky' Yates, Rochester, N. Y., and Francis W. Ryan, Detroit.

Yates had an easy time in putting out Gordon Taylor, of Montreal, by 5 and 4, while Ryan eliminated T. G. McCarthy, of Montreal, by score of 8 and 6.

The other players making up the quarter—final bracket are all Canadians. They are Fred Wood, of Vancouver; Jack Cameron, of Montreal; Bob Morrison, of Victoria; C. Ross Somerville, of London, Ont., defending champion; Phil Farley and Edwin A. Innes, of Montreal.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

FIGHTERS may come and go but none of them who have fought here has had no better following for the time of service in the ring than Tommy Arnold, a former football player, who has been cavorting for about two years. During that time he has been defeated but twice and there is reason to believe he hopes to get somewhere some day. The only boys to turn the trick against Arnold were Mike Kellar of Cleveland, and Frankie Stelmack, of Cleveland. The battle with Kellar went six rounds and each of the chapters were replete with action. In his scrap with Stelmack, Tommy hit Frankie, an iron man, with everything but the water bucket but in the last two rounds he tired and when Frankie caught Tommy coming in, nailed the southpaw with a right to the jaw that spelled his knockout. Arnold wants to tackle the Stelmack person again and believes if he can win over Paul Kropac, another rugged puncher he will be able to command another bout with Stelmack. Kropac and Arnold clash in a four rounder at the bowl Monday night.

There has been a lot of talk about the coming four round carnival because of two reasons First, because there are several out-of-town battlers opposed to local boys, the Merriner-Ambrose contest and the slash in prices. Billy Mido tackles Young Scotty, formerly of Pulaski, now of Akron; Clyde Merriner, Akron, meets Schmickey Ambrose, Warren; Willie Stribling and Vito Mangine, this city, will meet in a return as will Bill Donnelli and Homer Gray of New Castle. Ray Ritchie, a classy localite will take on Eddie Elridge who has won six or seven fights in Akron. The aggregate weight of the boys is 1,684 pounds. None of them have drawn main bouts but the four round game here is helping to develop them, and the fans know that when the bell rings in each bout only a knockout will stop the action.

THERE are tennis courts at several of the municapal playgrounds and Boyles field here but none of them attract more players than the tennis courts at Pulaski. The courts at Pulaski were constructed years ago. The boys and girls built the court and it is kept in very good condition. Each afternoon or evening it is in use. Two of the players who give the court a heavy play are Lloyd Mitcheltree and Ralph Ayres. By the way "Corbett" Mitcheltree is the chap who travelled to Beverly Lake with Vic Minteer. They claim the guide they had was a wonder. One of the salmon they caught weighed eleven pounds.

HENRY GOLDBERG, one of the boys who formerly officiated as a judge at the bowl is now the vice-president of the Reick-McJunckin company with offices at Pittsburgh. He liked boxing. "Goldie" loaned his efforts to every civic movement. He was a good hustler. The place he occupied here is now filled ably by Tommy Blake, one of Goldberg's proteges and like his predecessor Tommy is always willing to go along. He goes for golf and each day finds him teeing off somewhere. Two years ago Tommy officiated as a judge of boxing at some of the shows held here. Blake did not allow the clamor of the crowd to affect him. He called the decisions as he believed they should be called. Right now he's waiting to see Bill Donnelli and Homer Gray settle their fuss Monday night at the bowl.

ELMO CLARK, known throughout western Pennsylvania a year or two ago as Elmo The Mighty has arrived home after a trip to Here and There. "I may as well have stayed in New Castle," said Elmo yesterday afternoon. He found that there is a depression in every city he travelled to. Elmo, a few years ago, was quite a scrapper. His ring career was snapped in two by the commissioner who was then in office. Fans from near and far travelled to the bowl to see Elmo grin, swing and otherwise put them in a happy mood. Had Elmo taken to boxing when he was in his teens he might have got somewhere. He could have been taught science. His heart was never under question and the harder the going the more he grinned.

'TWONT be long now until Johnny Kraft's vacation ends and the former son of Pa Newc hustles back to Gotham to resume his labors in the Chase National Bank. Johnny has charge of the investigations, which appears to be quite a job. Johnny played basketball with the Castle Five, Grove City and was on the Columbia university aquatic team. He was born on the South Side and was athletically inclined. He got his first training at the Y and it wasn't long until he was quite an aquatic performer. He also went big for the floor sport. He was also a member of the Loose Nuts and it was out of The News that he stepped into college and now directs 25 men in the Gotham institution.

WONDER what's become of Louie? Not so many months ago Louie was a familiar figure at all the ball games and boxing shows in this vicinity. When he visited the bowl he took command of the cards and the fans gave him a welcome every time he stepped into the ring. He's a shrewd baseball bettor and according to those who know him good he has made plenty. We first met Louie in the days of the late Mickey Stambaugh. He hustled records of boxers at Youngstown. He sold programs here when the Union Store had a ball team and any time a person visited Youngstown, Louie had a cheery greeting such as "Hello, New Castle." In the case of fighters, they never had to worry over receiving accounts of the battles in which they appeared. Louie would purchase the newspapers and forward them to the boxers home address. He will probably turn up some of these days.

Former Boxer Is Crushed By Auto

WARREN, O., Aug. 13.—Floyd Walton, 24, formerly a well-known local boxer, was killed when an automobile he was greasing fell from a rack at a filling station at 103 West Market street. Walton was crushed by the machine, which fell off an automatic hoist.

Correct this sentence: "Now that I'm sound and well," said the man, "I am keeping every vow I made while sick."

Unusual Spectacle Takes Place Tonight At Centennial Field

GAME TO START AT 6:15 O'CLOCK

One of the most unusual spectacles of the season will be unveiled tonight at Centennial field when the Scarazzos baseball team, leaders of the Lawrence County league will oppose the Hollywood Movie Stars girls team. The game starts at 6:15 o'clock.

This team is not the Hollywood girls team that appeared here recently. These actresses' departed from Hollywood, California, last spring on a country wide tour. Since last spring these girls have made quite a reputation. Their batting average for 76 games reads .370.

This team also contains on its roster several celebrities. Mike O'Donavan a former coach of the New York Giants of the National league coaches the actresses aggregation.

A big crowd is expected to watch this unusual treat tonight. The game starts at 6:15 o'clock.

Three Games In Mushball League

Three games are on tap in the New Castle Mushball league Class A division. The games start at 6:30 o'clock.

E. S. Service vs Lockleys, Washington, Price.

American Can vs Radiators, Radiator, Brooks.

Spencers vs Shenango Tin, Lehigh, Hamilton.

Brent To Play Universal Nine

On Friday night on the Universal Sanitary field the Universals will meet the strong Brent aggregation in a regular Lawrence County League tilt. The game starts at 6:30 o'clock.

This game was scheduled for Saturday afternoon but the managers agreed to move the game up. A fast game is anticipated.

Florida To California Represented In Guests At Picnic Wednesday

There was one thing that the Old Timers and their descendants were not ashamed of Wednesday was their age, in fact that was one thing they seemed perfectly willing to tell, because of the fact that it, if nothing else established their right to be termed an Old Timer and take part in the grand march and contests held for Old Timer Residents or their descendants.

The registration does not by any means indicate all the Old Timers present. The registration list follows: William Eichholtz, Zelienople 78 and Mrs. William Eichholtz 60, Zelienople, married 36 years; Joseph Rols, Pittsburgh, Pa., 85; Clyde Cameron, Youngstown, O., 58; J. L. Moseley, Lemoine avenue, 76; Mrs. Elizabeth Chilton, Johnstown, Pa., 64; Mr. and Mrs. William John, Johnstown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Buys Village To Keep Sons Busy

Jobs Scarce In Wichita, So Realtor Purchases Small Town For His Boys' Vacation Pursuits; Now Whole Family Is Kept On Move

By EDWIN W. PRYOR
Central Press Correspondent

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 13.—Because he couldn't find vacation jobs for his three sons, George W. Winters, president of the Kansas Real Estate board, has purchased the village of Waco-Wego, about 12 miles south of this city.

On the highway which connects Wichita and Oklahoma City, it attracts much tourists trade with its filling station, garage, cafe, confectionary, bulk oil station, grocery store, general merchandise store and bulk oil depot. Winters bought all these and a park.

"I'm a firm believer in putting boys to work during the summer when they're not in school," he explained. "But try as I would, I couldn't find anything for them this summer—depression, I guess. So when I heard about Waco-Wego being for sale, I just went out and bought it, figuring it would keep the boys busy.

"But now I find I've acquired full time work for the whole family. I've closed my real estate office in Wichita and am resigning the state board presidency to give my whole time to developing the town."

Whole Family Works

Winters' family consists of his wife, his sons, Billy, 10; George, 16, and Clifford, 19; and his daughter, Hazel, 20. The work of the town is divided evenly among them, with Mr. and Mrs. Winters directing the development and filling the municipal offices, such as mayor, chief of police, and so forth.

The winters plan to develop their town as a pleasure resort for Wichitans and tourists who travel the highway in great numbers, as well as the farmers of the community. They are landscaping the entire town, sodding the banks of cowskin creek, planting flowers and shrubs everywhere. They have modernized the stores, adding to the stocks and otherwise improving them.

"It's lot of fun, owning your own town," confided Hazel, the daughter. "Before we're through, Waco-Wego is going to be the busiest spot in Kansas. It's work, but it's really play."

"Because I'm a real estate man, everyone naturally supposed I bought Waco-Wego to subdivide and sell," Winters said. "But I didn't—this is one of the few times a real estate man bought to keep. I thought it would be just a hobby and a means of keeping my boys busy, and starting them on the right road in life. But I'm sold on building up the village now and believe it is the best deal I ever put over.

"Waco-Wego is a fine community in which to rear a family, especially since the family is the community. Already I've had three offers on the town which would net a profit, but I'm not selling."

In an address at the annual dinner of the alumni of Columbia Law School, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler said that the United States Senate could relieve the industrial depression. The doctor is developing a gift for ironical expression.—San Jose Mercury Herald.

Player Who Hit Ball Causing Boner By Merkle Is Now Mid-West Sheriff

By MURRAY POWERS
Central Press Sport Correspondent

PORTSMOUTH, O., Aug. 13.—Grim-faced, keen-eyed Sheriff Al Bridwell sits in his office these sweltering baseball days and directs the policing of Scioto county. He's the kind of a sheriff they call "two-gun" man.

His eyes are narrowed like the eyes of a man who has played in thousands of ball games in bright sunlight. His jaw has the aggressive firmness of a fighting diamond athlete. His wrists are strong and powerful like those of a .300 hitter.

Come on, we've given you enough hints—. Don't you know this man?

He's Al Bridwell, late of the New York Giants, Boston Braves, Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Federal League club.

It was Al Bridwell who made the hit that rocked a baseball world. The ball that left his bat on a certain hot September afternoon in 1908 became a bomb, the explosion of which precipitated a great baseball storm, a controversy over which old fans still argue.

Bridwell, playing short for the Giants, made the hit which resulted in the now historic Fred Merkle boner.

Let's repeat the incident, familiar to many though it is:

It was the last half of the ninth inning of a game between the Giants and the Cubs, at the Polo grounds, who were battling for the National League pennant. The score was tied. The Giants were at bat. Harry McCormick was on third, Merkle on first. Two men were out. A hit would win the game for the McGrawmen. They got the hit—but they didn't win.

Bridwell came to bat. He hit a sizzling single to center and McCormick raced in with what should have been the winning run. Merkle dashing for second, saw Harry cross the plate and, knowing the game was won, stopped short, turned and galloped for the clubhouse.

Realizing the rules of the game forced Merkle to reach second in safety before the hit could be officially that and not a force-out, Johnny Evers, shrewd Chicago infielder, screamed for the ball, grabbed it and tagged second. Umpire Hank O'Day ruled Merkle was out and the McCormick run did not count. He ordered play resumed.

But the fans had overrun the field and play had to stop. League President Harry Pullman ordered the game played over, despite protest of the Giants. The Cubs won the play-off and the pennant.

Bridwell alone of all the actors in that baseball drama seems to have become forgotten by the fans. His whereabouts was not generally known until a Central Press writer discovered him laying down the law here in Scioto.

From New York in 1912 Bridwell went to the Braves. When an accident put him on the sick list he was traded to the Cubs. He left Chicago for the St. Louis Feds. When the outlaw league blew up, Al went to the Atlanta Southern League club.

The war years found Bridwell doing his bit in a steel plant. In 1919 he returned to baseball, managing the Houston, Texas League, club. He piloted the Rocky Mount, Virginia League club, the next year and spent another season piloting the Spartansburg, Sally League, outfit. The next two years found him handling semi-pro nines in New York and Pennsylvania.

Feeling his baseball days were definitely ended after 23 years as player and manager, Bridwell got a job in the checking department of a steel plant. When the opportunity arose he became a member of Sheriff M. J. Caldwell's staff of deputies.

Al Bridwell

After serving nearly three years as deputy he was raised to the post of sheriff when Caldwell resigned. He has been running that job since.

It's a man-size job being sheriff of any county, but once in a while Al takes time off to wonder what he would have done with that world series money if Merkle had continued on to second and his, Bridwell's, hit had counted.

Carnera's Lawyers Are Hard At Work

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—Primo Carnera's lawyers will try to force the hand of Madison Square Garden today by insisting that the corporation name a definite date and place for the proposed bout between Bootsie and Max Schmeling.

Federal Judge Knox, in setting aside Jimmy Johnston's right to put Carnera and Jack Sharkey into the ring, asked that the Garden put up $60,000 to go as balm for Bootsie's injured feelings should they fail to produce Schmeling.

The original bargain said that the date and place must be named 90 days after September 15.

Pirates-Giants Divide Battles

Pirates Take First Game 6 To 4—Lose Second Game To Giants 9 To 0

MELVIN OTT HITS THREE HOME RUNS

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK CITY, Aug. 13.—The Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants divided a double bill here yesterday afternoon. The Pirates took the first game 6 to 4 and the Giants won the second game 9 to 0. Kremer hurled the first game for the Pirates and allowed nine hits but kept them scattered. Grantham and Suhr aided the Pirates with a flock of hits.

In the second game the Pirates were helpless before the left-handed shoots of Walker and had but three hits. Melvin Ott was the slugger of the two games with three home runs, two of them in the first game and one in the second, and he also had a double. Meine and Swetonic pitched for the Pirates in the nightcap.

Ryantown-Grays To Play Tonight

One of the best games of the season is anticipated tonight on the Ryantown field when the New Castle Grays meets the strong Ryantown nine. The game starts at 6:30 o'clock.

Keen rivalry exists between the two aggregations. This is the first of a series of games.

NINE TIGERS WIN

The Nine Tigers baseball team defeated the Polish A. C. 6 to 1, in a game at Glasser Field. The game was a pitchers' battle between Wish and Sanders. Sanders fanning ten men was the feature player of the battle.

DIAMOND A. C. WIN

The Diamond A. C. took a forfeit game from the Austins last night at Castle Field, when the Austins refused to complete the game. Paul Griffiths hurled a fine game for the Diamond A. C., and deserved a victory. J. Rice, F. Rice, and Nolte played good baseball.

SURPRISE HORSE TRAINS TO REPEAT

Jim Dandy, famed "surprise horse" of the 1930 racing season, poses at Saratoga, N. Y., track, with Owner J. B. McKee who has the thoroughbred in training for, perhaps, more surprise feats. Pitted against famed Gallant Fox and Whichone in the Travers Stakes last season, Jim Dandy astounded the turf world by soundly beating the great pair. Odds on him were 100 to one.

Marcellas Play Ellwood Saturday

Local Soft Ball Artists Travel To Ellwood City For Contest

With 27 victories in the ledger the Marcella mushball team will try to extend its winning list on Saturday afternoon when the local soft ball team travels to Ellwood City where it encounters the strong Ellwood City Gables on the Lincoln field.

This game is being played as a feature attraction in connection with an Italian celebration now taking place in the Tube City. Both teams are bitter rivals, no matter what sport it is. In football these two teams played a 7-7 tie. Ellwood City won in basketball, 26-15.

The best mushball team will now be discovered. Fred Marcella of the Marcellas stated this morning that he has signed Ted Turco and Tony Genock. On Friday on the Washington field the Marcellas meet the News Slugs in a league game. Both teams are deadlocked for first place.

Boy Scout News

Troop No. 17

Members of the First Presbyterian Church Boy Scout Troop No. 17 will meet at the church on Friday evening, August 14th, 1931 at 7:30 o'clock. Scoutmaster Ed. Schmid will be in charge of the meeting. This is the first regular weekly meeting of the Fall and all members are requested to be present to help plan the Fall activities of the troop.

Troop No. 6

The regular weekly meetings of Croton M. E. Church Boy Scout Troop No. 6 will start Friday evening, August 14th, at 7:30 in the church. Scoutmaster George McCracken and his assistants will be in charge of the meeting. A corn roast will be the featured event of the meeting. Plans for the troop's fall activities will be made and all scouts are requested to be present.

Molesworth Wins Municipal Title

R. W. Molesworth Defeats A. Vitto 2 Up For Class A July Championship Flight

FINE SCORES ARE MADE IN TOURNEY

R. W. Molesworth is the class A champion at the Municipal course for the July elimination flight. Molesworth went out yesterday afternoon and shot a brilliant 79 for 18 holes to be 2 up on A. Vitto, who recorded an 87.

The match was a good one. A gallery of several hundred followed the match. Molesworth shot his best round on the homeward nine, taking 28 strokes against 44 for his opponent. Both men again had tough luck on the tricky No. 11 hole. There were very few birdies recorded.

Eight Receive Prizes.

The following will receive prizes donated by Reynolds, Summers & McCann for their efforts in the tourney: First prizes, R. W. Molesworth, class A champion, and Dave Leonardson, class B champion; second prizes, A. Vitto in class A and Phil Colaluca in class B; third prizes, Hackett Kennedy in class A and W. Genkinger in class B; fourth prizes, Tucker Nolan and class A and Dr. W. V. Massaro in class B.

Walter "Hub" Hart, manager of the Municipal course, and Mose Mancine, caddy-master, had charge of the tournament, which was most successful.

The cards:

Molesworth out	554	536	544—41
Vitto out	643	456	654—43

Cuban President Leaves Havana On Unannounced Trip

President Machado, Leaves Havana In Private Car Guarded By Picked Soldiers

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Aug. 13. — President Gerardo Machado, whose regime is threatened by a revolt of increasing seriousness, left Havana unexpectedly today for an unknown destination.

The chief executive travelled in his private railway car "Yosemite," guarded by a detachment of forty picked soldiers.

Ready for Ring Comeback

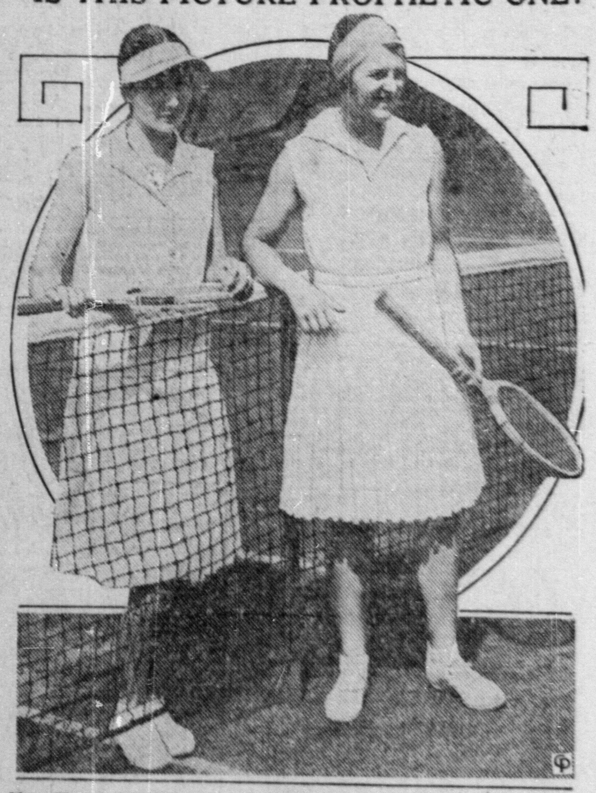

All set to answer the gong again after six years' absence from the ring, Benny Leonard, who retired undefeated lightweight champion of the world, is pictured above at Stillman's gym in New York where he has been quietly getting into condition for a come-back. The lure of the ring has been too much for Leonard, regarded as the greatest boxer of his weight in the history of pugilism, and under the banner of the astute Jack Kearns he will make his reappearance on the resined canvass in a short time to go after the welter, middle and light heavyweight titles.

Oils Advance As Railroads Slump

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—With the exception of a small number of the Rails and Specialties, the active stocks pushed ahead to slightly higher prices in a dull and featureless market this morning, the Oils responded with higher prices to the adoption by the Texas legislature of the Governor's Crude Oil production measure, which is expected to stop the wasteful flow of oil from the new wells. Steel and Electrical stocks regained a good portion of yesterday's closing declines.

Cotton rose $2 a bale in Liverpool and $1.25 in New York in response to the farm board's proposal for ploughing in of 4,000,000 bales of Cotton on the southern fields and the with-holding of 3,000,000 bales more from the 1931 market. Wheat, Corn and other commodities were under moderate selling pressure.

New York Central led the reaction in the rails, and lost about 2 points at 69¾. The first half-year's report showed a net income of only 90 cents a share for the stock of the road, against $4.63 in the same period last year. Atchison, Union Pacific and other leading rails dropped off a point on the average.

The active oils advanced nearly a point on the average, following reports of the posting of higher prices for Crude Oil in East Texas. The new Socony-Vacuum reached its record high at 18⅞, as Standard of New Jersey rose a point to 38½. Radio was a leader in the low-priced specialties and sold in good volume above 19¼. Underwood Elliot Fisher advanced 3 points to 43 in anticipation of favorable dividend news and U. S. Steel sold up more than a point at 88⅞. All sections of the Industrial and Utility stocks were firm but quiet as the noon period approached, but railroad bonds continued to sag.

It is said to interest, also, leading protagonists for getting women into high office.

tents had but recently been poured out. A quart bottle of a liquid used in thinning the cement, and highly inflammable, was also found. Indications were that this material had been scattered over the cement.

Ignites Quickly

It is said that when this cement and thinner are poured out of the containers fumes are generated, and that these are quickly set off by a match or fire. The rooms indicated that they had been filled with the fumes when the explosion occurred, as the paper was charred and the rooms were blackened. There were two beds in one room and one in another, but the bedclothing did not catch fire. The fire seemed to have been around the woodwork of the stairway.

In the dining room there was an electric iron. This iron was sitting on a table and was attached to an electric light above. The iron was hot when the firemen arrived, indicating that the electricity had been turned on. It is believed that the man, whose evident intention was to fire the house, had turned on the electricity, expecting the iron to get hot and cause an explosion after he had left the house. Just what did cause the explosion is not known. It is surmised that the man may have struck a match after saturating the rooms, not realizing that the fumes would rise so rapidly.

Not Killed Instantly.

The man does not appear to have been killed instantly. Indications were that he must have been in the stairway or near the stairway door in the dining room when the explosion occurred. This theory is borne out by the fact that the couch on which he was found, was not singed.

While the investigation was in progress Chief Lynn picked up $22.10 on the floor. Part of this money was found in the dining room. There was a $10 bill in one place, two $5 bills in another, two $1 bills and 10 cents in another, all in different places. The paper money was singed but held together. Whether it was blown out of the man's pocket, or whether he had it in his hand at the time of the explosion, is not known. Near a front window of the living room there was found a bundle of men's clothing, tied with a rope. The man's cap, light gray, was also found near the window. It is supposed that following the explosion he ran into the front room, approached the window, turned and slumped down on the sofa.

Wrong Identification.

The house in which the fire occurred belongs to Dominick Pagley of Montgomery avenue. Mr. Pagley has a shoe shop on North Mill street. Until last spring Dominick lived with his father, Louis Pagley, in the house. His uncle, Harry Pagley, also lived with them. Last spring Dominick got married and left. Louis Pagley went to the old country recently. Harry Pagley had been living in the house alone and taking care of it for the past month.

When Dominick Pagley arrived at the scene of the fire last night someone said to him that his uncle Harry had been burned alive. Dominick looked at the body and believed it to be that of his uncle. The face was burned black, and the features could not be readily distinguished. Others who saw the body believed it to be that of Harry Pagley and when the body was taken to the Rice morgue it was still believed to be that of Harry Pagley.

This morning when Coroner Caldwell came down to continue his investigation of the case he stopped at the shop of Dominick Pagley, who informed him that his uncle, Harry, had not been burned to death, but had come to his shop this morning. While they were talking Harry put in an appearance. He told the coroner that he had been at the shop of Dominick about 6 o'clock last night. From there he had gone to the home of Jim Petrucci on the south side. Later he had gone to the home of Felix Pagley, where he had stayed all night. Dominick also stated that Harry had been at his shop last night.

Authorities Notified.

Coroner Caldwell notified Sheriff Johnston and County Detective Lee, who with the police began work on the case. They brought Jim Petrucci to the mayor's office and questioned him. He bore out Pagley's story. Dominick Pagley and Harry Pagley were also questioned.

Both were taken to the morgue, but could not identify the body. A number of others also failed. There were still some shreds of clothing on the body and upon tearing them off a bank book and a card of a Pittsburgh attorney was found. The bank book was on the Peoples' National Bank of Rochester, Pa. It was made out in the name of Elizabeth Spagnola, in trust for Mabel Farina. A deposit of $5 had been made on it yesterday.

Coroner Caldwell called up the bank and learned that a man, answering the description of the man who was burned, had deposited $5 yesterday. The bank authorities did not know him, but they knew Elizabeth Spagnola and Miss Mabel Farina. The latter, they said, is a sister of the former.

Go For Miss Farina

Chief of Police C. C. Horner then called up the chief of police at Rochester, and made arrangements for him to locate the address of the young woman.

Sheriff Frank Johnston and County Detective Lee then left for Rochester with the intention of getting the young woman, and bringing her here to see if she can identify the dead man.

The dead man wore a soft, light shirt, blue and red tie, tan colored suit, black Oxford shoes. He had a white gold watch and wore a ring with a ruby setting.

A significant feature of his clothing was the fact that his hands have been covered with rubber gloves, which were partially burned off.

He appeared to be about 35 years of age, hair slightly tinged with gray, and would weigh about 165 pounds.

Damage to the house and contents has not yet been determined. It is said that house and furniture were insured.

Dominick Pagley says that the cans of cement found had been in the house for a long time, as it it used in the shoe repair business in which the Pagley's are engaged.

Authorities are endeavoring to find a clue or motive for the burning of the house.

Danish Ships Virtually Without Hope Seek Missing Airmen, In North

REMOTE CHANCE FLIERS ARE ALIVE

(International News Service)

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 13.—Although virtually without hope of success, Danish ships and airplanes were still searching for Parker Cramer, American transatlantic flyer, and his Canadian radio operator, today.

The steamer Island Falk and two seaplanes were combing the coast of Jutland in the hope of finding the missing plane in some remote cove. Other steamers on the lookout for the airmen in the North Sea and along the Norwegian coast failed to locate them.

NEGRO AND FORMER CONVICT HELD FOR "TORCH" MURDERS

slowly but surely toward a solution of the atrocious crime.

Nine new suspects were arrested today in the now nation-wide manhunt for the "sex slayers."

Four Are Vagrants

Four of the new suspects are vagrants arrested in Cleveland. One of them possessed a road map with an "X" marking the spot where the gruesome cremation of the bodies occurred according to Ohio police. Two negroes were taken into custody at Toledo and a seventh man was arrested at Ypsilanti, not five miles from the murder scene. The latter is a negro.

The owner of the death weapon, according to Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, in charge of the mobilized forces of the law, is a former inmate of the Michigan state prison and a neighbor of Young Lore. His name is known and police have broadcast his description over the radio and every available police channel.

Revolver is Found

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 13—The revolver with which one of the four victims of the sorbid Washtenaw County "Torch" murders was killed is in the possession of police, it was revealed for the first time here today. Authorities declared that the owner of the gun is known and that his arrest and the subsequent solution to the gruesome killings is only a matter of hours.

The weapon, a .38 caliber Ivor-Johnson, was the same weapon which the "sex slayers" used to snuff out the life of young Harry Lore when the high school boy attempted to protect his pretty girl companions from assault, according to ballistic experts.

One Youth Shot

Lore was the only one of the party of four shot. The others, Thos. Wheatley, 16, Vivian Gold 15, and Anna May Harrison 17, were beaten to death with heavy clubs before all of their bodies were soaked in gasoline and set afire in their parked sedan on a lonely "lover's" lane near here.

With the finding of the rusted and antiquated revolver, medical authorities at the University of Michigan announced that they would use X-rays to search for more bullets in the mutilated bodies of the four youngsters. The gun had been fired several times polise said. Only 2 bullets were found in Lore's body and the possibility loomed that the others may also have been shot. Cremation of the bodies erased any outward signs of bullet wounds.

Stranger Hunted

Meanwhile the intense police hunt by the mobilized forces of the state police and two counties was directed at the "ragged and unkempt" stranger who was seen with the little party of four a short time before the blazing sedan with its ghastly human freight was found.

Confirmation of the "last supper" story told by Norman England, a young waiter at a Milan, Michigan, restaurant, was given today by Thos. Goodrich, night marshall at the little town. Goodrich said that he too had witnessed the entrance of the two girls and their boy friends into the restaurant. They were accompanied by a "tall dark and stooped-shouldered" stranger, he said.

Arrest Expected

Ann Arbor, Mich, Aug. 13—Michigan's law enforcement agencies, spurred on by new clues, continued their concerted drive today to solve the torch murder of two Ypsilanti high school boys and their companions.

That an "important arrest" was expected momentarily was the statement of Sheriff Jacob Andres.

This arrest, he said, would be the ragged, mysterious "fifth guest" on the theater party which early Tuesday ended in horrible death for the young couples.

Another arrest promised by the sheriff was that of Jackson Keene, brother of Paul and Lawrence Keene, who are held on suspicion. The brothers in custody were apprehended at their shanty which is not far from the place where the murder victims were found.

In compliance with an order by Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, Attorney General Paul Voorhies was here today to aid in the investigation.

All resources of the state were pledged by Voorhies, who placed the case under the jurisdiction of Wayne county ,where, on a lonely "lovers' lane" the bodies of the youths and their companions were discovered in a blazing automobile.

Ford Sends Men

Henry Ford showed his interest in running down the murderer when he sent Harry Bennett, his chief investigator, and five aides to Ann Arbor to assist the state authorities.

One hundred state troopers were today seeking two young men who drove up to a gasoline station near the murder scene shortly after the crime had been committed.

Martin Swetlick, attendant at the station, said they had been "in a great hurry". He said one of the men was stocky, the other tall, and that both were about 25.

The ragged "fifth guest" who was with the murder victims—Harry Lore, 16; Thomas Wheatley, 17; Anna Mae Harrison, 17, and Vivian Gold, 17—when they stopped at a restaurant near Milan, Mich., was described by Norman England, a waiter.

The stranger, whose arrest is anticipated, was a big fellow, England said, who wore a gray cap and sweater and talked mostly to Lore. The party ate in the restaurant less than three hours before the blazing car was discovered.

Purse Is Found

This man was described as the "key" to the mystery by Sheriff Andres.

Another development yesterday was the finding of a blood-spattered white purse six miles from the scene of the slayings, at a place in vogue for "petting parties".

Discovery of the purse caused authorities to believe the victims were murdered at that spot and that the bodies were subsequently transferred to the place where they were cremated in the blazing automobile.

A wrist watch which belonged to Vivian Gold was being sought. It evidently had been torn from her wrist after she was killed.

Cleveland Police Active

Cleveland, O., Aug. 13.—Police of this city today entered the probe into the "torch" murder of two Cleveland girls and their companions at Ypsilanti, Mich., with the arrest of a suspect who was picked up here on vagrancy charges.

The man, who had been hitchhiking on a truck with five other men, had in his possession a road map on which Ypsilanti and the road where the bodies were found was marked with an "x", police said.

The suspect answered all questions asked him except those in which the murders were mentioned, according to authorities. Five companions of the man told police they had just arrived here from Michigan when an officer stopped the truck.

MAYOR CALLS CONFERENCE ON UNEMPLOYMENT

cilman Clayton Reeves and adopted unanimously.

When the representatives convened in city hall J. K. McQuiddy acted as spokesman for the Trades and Labor assembly and the Building council. He said his committee desired to meet with the city and council officials to find out if another committee, similar to the Mayor's Relief committee of last winter could not be appointed and form plans for operation.

McQuiddy declared unemployment has increased. He said more men are idle in June than in January. He said he feared the situation this winter would be worse than last winter. He said the time has arrived for the formation of a committee which could devise ways and means of furnishing relief to the needy.

He spoke of the questionairre filled out by the unemployed last winter. He said the question "Are you a taxpayer?" should be included, if another questionairre is issued. He maintained that a taxpayer should be given first relief. He said that Americans, native or naturalized should be given preference by the committee.

Favor Same Plan

Councilman Louis Genkinger declared there should be a centralized welfare bureau to prevent overlapping as much as possible. He said there are people who are in need who will not ask for it owing to pride.

Mayor Gillespie said the mayor's relief committee did good work while the body operated. He also stated he recently had met with the Community chest officials and suggested one body handle the relief.

The mayor said that before the mayor's relief committee's work was ended a central clearing house had been established and Orville Potter, one of the officials told of relief furnished by the body.

He said he could not offer any plans better than the one which was followed by the committee. He said it was difficult to get the right people to conduct investigations.

He alleged there had been a lack of co-operation on the part of some welfare organizations. He expressed the opinion that the community chest should co-operate locally to aid charity.

Potter said individual giving should not be discouraged. He mentioned that farmers had offered to donate wheat, then added that milk prices here were higher than elsewhere.

P. O. Elder, county commissioner, suggested that wheat be bought.

M. B. Hogue, welfare director for the county of Lawrence, told the body that he receives daily 100 requests for aid. He said 60 per cent of the 100 requests come from residents of New Castle.

Too Many Organizations

It was stated that approximately $4,000 was expended by the mayor's committee for relief last winter.

McQuiddy praised the mayor's relief committee, stating it had been fair and had done good work.

Mayor Gillespie said that he believed there are too many organizations handling relief and Councilman Genkinger said, "there are too many fingers in the pie."

Councilman Genkinger recited statistics to the effect that in an investigation in New York it was found only 15 per cent of money collected or subscribed had gone to charity.

Councilman Reeves remarked that in the city of Baltimore the relaying of city employes is being advocated. He said the proposed plan is to have one employe lay off a day a month and an unemployed man do his work.

"Why not get the representatives of all the organizations and the officials of the community chest to meet with us here?" asked Genkinger.

The amounts several organizations received from the community chest were discussed.

Mayor Gillespie said that he had told the community chest that if the chest took over the care of the needy the subscriptions would be larger.

Councilman Genkinger followed with a motion directing the mayor to invite all of the welfare organizations and the community chest to send representatives to meet with the men who discussed relief today.

Brooklyn Team Suffers Slump

Cardinals Take Two From Faltering Dodgers As Cubs Also Keep Pace With Two

INDIANS-YANKS DIVIDE GAMES

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Wilbert Robinson, for 18 years manager of the Brooklyn Robins, stood today at the crossroads, the red light against him and clouds just chuck full of grief all round.

Robinson's boys were supposed to have started their great drive for the National League pennant on Wednesday but instead they fell apart like a Japanese puzzle and it looked this morning as though all the king's horses and men could never put them together again. In fact any idea of mending the Brooklyn machine this season was quite forgotten as the city over the bridge clamored for Robbie's head.

The sad business all came about when the St. Louis Cardinals proved too good and set down the Robins twice, 5 to 0 and 8 to 5. Jess Haines pitched the shutout opener in which the flock looked like Tom Thumb trying to trip Primo Carnera.

Cubs Win Two.

The Chicago Cubs whipped the Phillies twice and moved into second place over the New York Giants, eight and one-half games behind the leading St. Louis gang. Blake weakened in the tenth inning of the opener when the Bruins scored five runs to roll it away, 7 to 3. Root was the winning hurler. Cuyler, with four safeties, led a hit attack that took the finale, 12 to 1.

Mel Ott swung for two four-basers for the Giants but Hubbell walked men when he should have fanned them and Pittsburgh won 6 to 4. Ott also got a homer in the vesper, which the New Yorkers copped 9 to 0 with Bill Walker hurling the horse-collaring ball.

Mark Koenig was one of the day's outstanding heroes, punching a double off George Earnshaw as a pinch hitter to drive in the run that won, 7 to 6, for Detroit over the champion Athletics.

Koenig's hit scored Rogell, who had also doubled, in the twelfth inning.

Indians-Yanks Split.

Chapman and J. Sewell each blasted out four hits as the New York Yankees pummeled a trio of Cleveland hurlers to triumph, 18 to 1. The Indians, however, got on their horses in the night cap and scalped the Yanks, 17 to 7 with Averill the big chief in the Cleveland assault.

Vic Frazier gave the Senators only six hits while four Washington hurlers stood helpless under a White Sox batting assault, which gave Chicago a 11 to 1 advantage.

Pitcher Sam Gray of the St. Louis Brownies threw away the ball and the ball game in the ninth, his wild peg permitting Rhyne to score and hand Boston's Red Sox a six to five victory.

Rain stopped the Cincinnati-Boston clash in the National circuit.

GOLF for GIRLS

by GLENNA COLLETT

Women's National Golf Champion.
NUMBER 12

The short chip and pitch shots are tough ones for beginners. In these shots lies the discouragement and constant failure to improve that often causes the novice to consider abandoning the game.

Glenna Collett

The difficulty with these shots is this: They must be played with the wrists. That makes them decidedly difficult for the beginner to execute.

This is true, I believe, because there is no guide for determining just how far back to take the club on the backswing.

Here's how I solved this problem: I gripped the club with the left hand in such a manner that the left thumb was down back of the leather. This grip automatically stops the backswing for, since the club is taken back with the wrists only, the thumb in such a position acts as an irresistible brake. The swing just cannot go any further.

And when you avoid overswinging or wobbling the club you attain a firm left wrist with which to hit.

In our next little golf chat I shall attempt to explain how you may improve your follow through.

Seventh Warders Card Four Games

It was announced today by Nick Cangey, manager of the Mahoning A. A. nine that he has carded four fast games. Tonight at 6:30 o'clock on the E. & A. grounds the Mahoning nine will meet the Wurtemburg aggregation in a regular Independent elimination game.

The Mahoning team eliminated the West Side Civics for the right to meet the Wurtemburg Stars. On Friday night the Seventh Warders will meet the strong West Pittsburg nine of the Lawrence County league on the E. and A. grounds. This game starts at 6:30 o'clock.

Saturday afternoon's attraction on the E. and A. grounds will find the Mahoning A. A. team battling the Aliquippa A. C. nine at 3:30 o'clock. On Sunday the Mahoning teams plays Maplevale at Petersburg, Ohio.

Sacred Heart A. C. Beats Ellwood Team

The Sacred Heart A. C. defeated an Ellwood mushball team on Genkinger field Wednesday, the score being 5 to 4. The game was one of the best witnessed this season, with both teams fighting hard. The schedule for today calls for mushball games between the Whites and Greens and on Friday between the Reds and Blues, teams in the Sacred Heart mushball league.

Citizens Lumber Topple Oak A. C.

The Citizens Lumber team of the Class B mushball league toppled the Oak A. C. 11 to 4 in a mushball game at Harding Field last night. Stewart, W. Kerr, and Micco were the sluggers of the game. Snow pitched a nice game for the winners.

George Trainor Shoots Brilliant 79 To Be Among Leaders In Qualifying

REGIS WOLFF IS MEDALIST WITH 77

George Trainor, New Castle Field Club star golfer and amateur, was among the first six qualifers at the Pittsburgh Field Club course yesterday in the Western Pennsylvania Amateur tourney. Regis Wolff, of Highland Park, was medalist with a 77. Trainor had a 79 which was good enough to tie Watts Gunn, former runner-up to Bobby Jones for the National Open title.

Trainor was paired yesterday with Samuel W. Perry, Jr., of the local field club and Perry finished with a 46-51 for a 97, which failed to qualify.

Plays Herron Today

Trainor goes to the wars today in the start of the Amateur tourney play with the old veteran Dave Herron as his opponent. Trainor is conceded a chance to take the tourney if his putter gets going hot. The local star drives a longer ball than the majority of them. His iron game is good.

R. W. Thompson, of Ellwood City, had a fine 78 yesterday.

The golfers finished as follows:—Regis Wolff, J. Denny St. Clair, R. W. Thompson, Fred Weppner, George Trainor, Sam Parks, Jr., and Watts Gunn. Trainor Gunn, Parks and Weppner had 79s.

The following card for 18 holes was turned in by Trainor—

Par of Course—

League Contests Are Washed Out

Rain Causes Postponement Of Lawrence County League Games Wednesday

Inclement weather caused a postponement of all Lawrence County league games on Wednesday night. The next set of games take place next Saturday afternoon when four tilts will be enacted.

The games Wednesday night will be played later on. On next Saturday one of the most important games of the second half race will be played at Centennial field when the Shenango Pottery team meets the league leading Scarazzo aggregation. The Shenango team is in second place. A win will give the Shenango team a deadlock for first place while a loss will fatten the average of the leaders.

The games Saturday:
North Highland at Hillsville.
Scarazzos at Shenango Pottery.
Wampum at Bessemer.
Brent at Universal Sanitary.
West Pittsburg, idle.

Richest Racing Event Is Today

International News Service Sports Writer

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 13—Weather permitting, the $55,000 Hambletonian Stake, richest and most famous of all harness horse events, will be trotted on W. H. Cane's three-cornered mile track beside the Erie railroad this afternoon. Rain forced a postponement yesterday.

Six three-year olds will start in the race, a much smaller field than had been anticipated. The victor will be the first to win two heats. Nedda Guy, 2:30 1-5, a Bay filley by Guy Axworthy out of Nedda, by Atlantic Express, which will carry the colors of the good time stable, Mr. Cane's organization here, will probably go to the post the favorite.

Keno, 2:05, a big Bay colt by Chester Peter, owned by John M. Berry, of Rome, Ga., is second choice of most of the auction buyers. The other entries, in the order of favoritism are Calumet Bush 2:05½, Charlotte Hanover, 2:04, Calumet Blericka and Clumet Butler, 2:04½.

Today's race, named the Hambletonian stake in honor of a noted trotting horse which lies buried under an imposing monument a few miles from here, is worth $55,729, seventy per cent of which or nearly $40,000 will go to the winner. Twenty percent goes to the second horse and ten per cent to the third. The fourth, fifth and sixth horses will each win $1,000, a sum that will cover the entrance fee. Consequently, the race is almost equal in richness to the Kentucky Derby.

American Golfers Stay In Tourney

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, Aug. 13—Two American golfers today remained in the running for the Canadian amateur golf championship, which is being held over the south course of the Royal Montreal Golf club here.

They are Arthur 'Ducky' Yates, Rochester, N. Y., and Francis W. Ryan, Detroit.

Yates had an easy time in putting out Gordon Taylor, of Montreal, by 5 and 4, while Ryan eliminated T. G. McCarthy, of Montreal, by score of 8 and 6.

The other players making up the quarter—final bracket are all Canadians. They are Fred Wood, of Vancouver; Jack Cameron, of Montreal; Bob Morrison, of Victoria; C. Ross Somerville, of London, Ont., defending champion; Phil Farley and Edwin A. Innes, of Montreal.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

FIGHTERS may come and go but none of them who have fought here has had no better following for the time of service in the ring than Tommy Arnold, a former football player, who has been cavorting for about two years. During that time he has been defeated but twice and there is reason to believe he hopes to get somewhere some day. The only boys to turn the trick against Arnold were Mike Kellar of Cleveland, and Frankie Stelmack, of Cleveland. The battle with Kellar went six rounds and each of the chapters were replete with action. In his scrap with Stelmack, Tommy hit Frankie, an iron man, with everything but the water bucket but in the last two rounds he tired and when Frankie caught Tommy coming in, nailed the southpaw with a right to the jaw that spelled his knockout. Arnold wants to tackle the Stelmack person again and believes if he can win over Paul Kropac, another rugged puncher he will be able to command another bout with Stelmack. Kropac and Arnold clash in a four rounder at the bowl Monday night.

There has been a lot of talk about the coming four round carnival because of two reasons. First, because there are several out-of-town battlers opposed to local boys, the Merriner-Ambrose contest and the slash in prices. Billy Mido tackles Young Scotty, formerly of Pulaski, now of Akron; Clyde Merriner, Akron, meets Schmickey Ambrose, Warren; Willie Stribling and Vito Mangine, this city, will meet in a return as will Bill Donnelli and Homer Gray of New Castle. Ray Ritchie, a classy localite will take on Eddie Elridge who has won six or seven fights in Akron. The aggregate weight of the boys is 1,684 pounds. None of them have drawn main bouts but the four round game here is helping to develop them, and the fans know that when the bell rings in each bout only a knockout will stop the action.

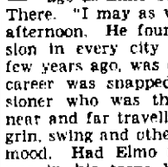

* * * * *

THERE are tennis courts at several of the municapal playgrounds and Boyles field here but none of them attract more players than the tennis courts at Pulaski. The courts at Pulaski were constructed years ago. The boys and girls built the court and it is kept in very good condition. Each afternoon or evening it is in use. Two of the players who give the court a heavy play are Lloyd Mitcheltree and Ralph Ayres. By the way "Corbett" Mitcheltree is the chap who travelled to Beverly Lake with Vic Minteer. They claim the guide they had was a wonder. One of the salmon they caught weighed eleven pounds.

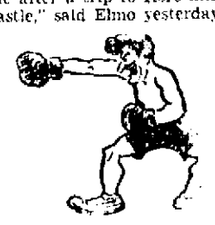

* * * * * *

HENRY GOLDBERG, one of the boys who formerly officiated as a judge at the bowl is now the vice-president of the Reick-McJunkin company with offices at Pittsburgh. He liked boxing. "Goldie" loaned his efforts to every civic movement. He was a good hustler. The place he occupied here is now filled ably by Tommy Blake, one of Goldberg's proteges and like his predecessor Tommy is always willing to go along. He goes for golf and each day finds him teeing off somewhere. Two years ago Tommy officiated as a judge of boxing at some of the shows held here. Blake did not allow the clamor of the crowd to affect him. He called the decisions as he believed they should be called. Right now he's waiting to see Bill Donnelli and Homer Gray settle their fuss Monday night at the bowl.

* * * * * * *

ELMO CLARK, known throughout western Pennsylvania a year or two ago as Elmo The Mighty has arrived home after a trip to Here and There. "I may as well have stayed in New Castle," said Elmo yesterday afternoon. He found that there is a depression in every city he travelled to. Elmo, a few years ago, was quite a scrapper. His ring career was snapped in two by the commissioner who was then in office. Fans from near and far travelled to the bowl to see Elmo grin, swing and otherwise put them in a happy mood. Had Elmo taken to boxing when he was in his teens he might have got somewhere. He could have been taught science. His heart was never under question and the harder the going the more he grinned.

'TWONT be long now until Johnny Kraft's vacation ends and the former son of Pa Newc hustles back to Gotham to resume his labors in the Chase National Bank. Johnny has charge of the investigations, which appears to be quite a job. Johnny played basketball with the Castle Five, Grove City and was on the Columbia university aquatic team. He was born on the South Side and was athletically inclined. He got his first training at the Y and it wasn't long until he was quite an aquatic performer. He also went big for the floor sport. He was also a member of the Loose Nuts and it was out of The News that he stepped into college and now directs 25 men in the Gotham institution.

WONDER what's become of Louie? Not so many months ago Louie was a familar figure at all the ball games and boxing shows in this vicinity. When he visited the bowl he took command of the cards and the fans gave him a welcome every time he stepped into the ring. He's a shrewd baseball bettor and according to those who know him good he has made plenty. We first met Louie in the days of the late Mickey Stambaugh. He hustled records of boxers at Youngstown. He sold programs here when the Union Store had a ball team and any time a person visited Youngstown, Louie had a cheery greeting such as "Hello, New Castle." In the case of fighters, they never had to worry over receiving accounts of the battles in which they appeared. Louie would purchase the newspapers and forward them to the boxers home address. He will probably turn up some of these days.

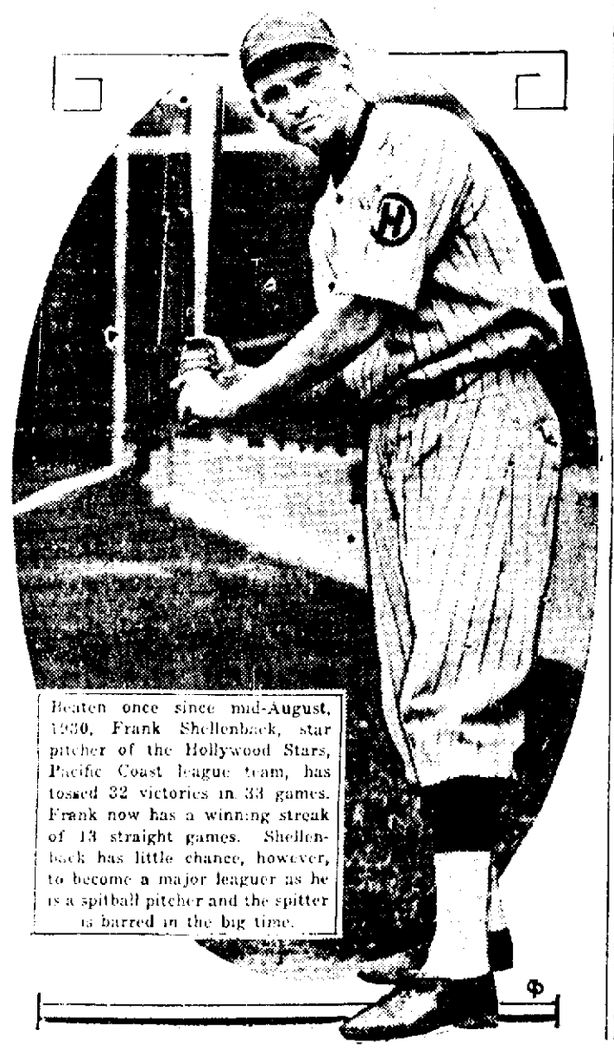

Former Boxer Is Crushed By Auto

WARREN, O., Aug. 13—Floyd Walton, 24, formerly a well-known local boxer, was killed when an automobile he was greasing fell from a rack at a filling station at 103 West Market street. Walton was crushed by the machine, which fell off an automatic hoist.

Correct this sentence: "Now that I'm sound and well," said the man, "I am keeping every vow I made while sick."

HURLER WINS 13 STRAIGHT GAMES

Beaten once since mid-August, 1930, Frank Shellenback, star pitcher of the Hollywood Stars, Pacific Coast league team, has tossed 32 victories in 33 games. Frank now has a winning streak of 13 straight games. Shellenback has little chance, however, to become a major leaguer as he is a spitball pitcher and the spitter is barred in the big time.

Jap Track Star

Suichiro Tsuda, Japanese national marathon champion and the first foreign athlete to arrive for the Olympic games of 1932 at Los Angeles, is shown starting active training. Tsuda will remain in Los Angeles until next August, training and helping prepare for strong Japanese participation in the Olympics. He's Nippon's principal hope in the distance events.

Hollywood Stars Oppose Scarazzo

Unusual Spectacle Takes Place Tonight At Centennial Field

GAME TO START AT 6:15 O'CLOCK

One of the most unusual spectacles of the season will be unveiled tonight at Centennial field when the Scarazzos baseball team, leaders of the Lawrence County league will oppose the Hollywood Movie Stars girls team. The game starts at 6:15 o'clock.

This team is not the Hollywood girls team that appeared here recently. These actresses departed from Hollywood, California, last spring on a country wide tour. Since last spring these girls have made quite a reputation. Their batting average for 76 games reads 370.

This team also contains on its roster several celebrities. Mike O'Donavan a former coach of the New York Giants of the National league coaches the actresses aggregation.

A big crowd is expected to watch this unusual treat tonight. The game starts at 6:15 o'clock.

Three Games In Mushball League

Three games are on tap in the New Castle Mushball league Class A division. The games start at 6:30 o'clock.

E. S. Service vs Lockleys, Washington, Price.

American Can vs Radiators, Radiator, Brooks.

Spencers vs Shenango Tin, Lehigh, Hamilton.

Brent To Play Universal Nine

On Friday night on the Universal Sanitary field the Universals will meet the strong Brent aggregation in a regular Lawrence County League tilt. The game starts at 6:30 o'clock.

This game was scheduled for Saturday afternoon but the managers agreed to move the game up. A fast game is anticipated.

Woman Who Said She Was Trapped In Fire Is Held

Mother Of Two Children Held For Arson By State Police

On April 1, Mrs. Taman Nahas, a Syrian, told a reporter how she was trapped in a smoke-filled second floor room at 512 East Division street at 2 a. m., and while flames roared thru downstairs rooms grasped her two slumbering children and forced them out of a front window while she screamed for help.

Today Mrs. Nahas is free on $2,500 bond presented before Judge Hildebrand to await the September term of court where she will be tried on charges of arson and burning to defraud.

She was arrested by local authorities and William R. Brush, fire marshall of the State Police, who led an investigation into the fire, following the reports of firemen who responded to the blaze that morning that a trunk full of oily clothes had been found in the fire.

The women was given a hearing before a local alderman yesterday. Assistant Fire Chief Stockman, State Policeman Brush and neighbors of the Nahas family on East Division street at the time of the fire, Olga and Anna Zamballi, testified.

At the time of the fire, according to Mrs. Nahas' statement when she was found at the home of a sister, Mrs. Wadie G. Siyufy, 715 Cunningham avenue, Mr. Nahas was in Pittsburgh. The home was completely destroyed, the damage loss at the time being estimated at $3,000 by firemen.

Investigation into the incendiary origin of the blaze was made by local State Policeman Anthony J. Richards, assisted by County Detective Lee. Officer Brush was later sent here to complete the case against the woman.

Officer Brush testified at the hearing on the insurance carried by the Nahases.

Itching Skin

Stop It Instantly.

The minute you apply Peterson's Ointment to that burning, inflamed, eczema tortured skin—its mighty healing power brings blessed relief.

After a few applications, the itching is all gone and your skin is clear and free from eruptions or roughness. It's the one great skin remedy that every druggist is glad to recommend.

Get a large box for only 35 cents at any drugstore—and money back if it isn't the best you ever used. Always keep Peterson's Ointment in the house. Fine for burns, scalds, bruises, sunburn, chafing and aching inflamed feet. There is nothing better for itching eczema and piles.

The Rev. J. F. Lowden of Watertown, N. J., wrote: "I was troubled with heartburn for several years, the attacks rapidly becoming more frequent and severe. I used one bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and believe it has effected permanent freedom from indigestion for me as there has been no return of the trouble for 18 months."

Just deposit with Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. or any leading druggist the purchase price of Dare's—take this palatable elixir as directed and if you don't agree it's the most perfect aid to promote normal, healthy digestion—return empty bottle and your money will be cheerfully refunded. Test costs you nothing if you don't benefit!

NEW CASTLE DRY GOODS CO.

MY NEW YORK
BY JAMES ASWELL

Central Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Flashing down Ninth Avenue last night in a taxi, I glanced at a newly-excavated pit close to Forty-fourth Street—and I realized, with a pang, that Joe was gone.

Joe used to come every Summer and erect his tents in the one vacant lot of the neighborhood. He was a circus man of his own, with fine contempt for such outfits as the combined Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey troupe.

"Why those guys are crazy," he used to say, "to bring a show to town so early in the Spring. Summer is the time—midsummer, I always say."

He had a ferris wheel—midget style—and a merry-go-round; a freak show and plenty of booths for playing games. His crowd was various—some with striped sweaters from Hell's Kitchen, downtown, some with top hats wandered over from the bright-light district. Joe had the best time of them all.

IDEA.

Two nights ago, in the middle of Broadway, I looked up and saw something. Which is unusual, in that flower garden of mad blooms. It was a name—ambling slowly across the 20-foot-high moving sign of the Capitol Theatre. What the name was doesn't matter. Just a name; and that's the point.

The Capitol, in picking names at random from the telephone directory and flashing them for all Broadway to see, has hit upon a very shrewd psychological fact: the deep and poignant yearning of the rank and file, all the Joe Zilches and the Sadie Schlitzes, to see their name in type or, glory of glories, in electric lights on Broadway.

Each night the big sign pages some New Yorker. The person named becomes the Capitol's "guest of the day."

COALS TO NEWCASTLE.

From the time the King and Queen of Siam let it be known that they were ready to give New York the once over, they were besieged by press-agents. Wrestling-match promoters vied with the authorities at Coney Island for the royal pair's attendance. They were invited to theatres, steamships, factories, movie studios, skyscrapers and hotels.

But of the deluge of invitations which descended upon the King, one, I am told, captured his interest more than any other—though he found it necessary to decline. The manager of a theatre in White Plains, N. Y., sent a telegram urging the King to come and take a look at the Hilton Sisters, Siamese twins!

AROUND THE WHEEL.

Let this man's name go unmentioned. If you insist, you may have it for a two-cent stamp; but guessing isn't hard.

He started all this current "master-of-ceremonies" craze in the movie palaces. He was first to lift the orchestra from pit to stage. He ran his salary up to $5,000 weekly in the process.

Now this Romeo of the morning matinees, this wow of the night performances, is breaking in a vaudeville act on the "subway" circuit near New York. There are twelve people in his act and the total salaries don't top $1,800.

W. E. Gentzler, secretary of appointments at Columbia University's employment bureau, had a word to say the other morning about the fate of the college man in these times.

What jobs did he get for freshfaced youngsters clutching their sheepskins and faring forth?

"Oh, many kinds. I have placed 6,000 altogether this year. Life guards, hotel clerks, bus drivers, train butchers, soda jerkers, telephone operators and elevator starters are among them.

"The boys seem content nowadays to take jobs with a future at small pay, rather than seek quick money returns. That is a health sign."

All of which leaves me rather confused. To what is a soda jerker or an elevator starter promoted after a year of faithful service?

But Mr. Gentzler adds that he has also secured positions as psychologists, musicians, tutors for tired business men who want culture in whacking doses, bridge partners on yachts (now there's a position for you!) and translators.

Polish Consulate At Pittsburgh Is Under Protection

Polish Consulate Is Only Few Blocks Away From Bombed Italian Consulate

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13.—City detectives today were ordered to maintain a 24-hour guard at the home of the Polish consul here in anticipation of a possible continuance of the bombing activities which yesterday wrecked the Italian consulate.

Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh ordered the guard following a request from Consul A. M. Ocetkiewicz.

The Polish consulate is only a few blocks distant from the Italian quarters.

"I have received no threats," the Polish consul declared, "but, whenever an incident like that of yesterday occurs it is simply a routine duty of the consul to ask the police to act."

Mrs. Olive Kellner Speaks At Tent

Beaver Falls Minister Will Be The Guest Speaker In The Tent At Tonight's Service

A splendid crowd filled the gospel tent of the First Pentecostal church at the corner of Mill and Friendship streets Wednesday evening when Mrs. Olive Kellner, wife of the pastor, addressed them on "The Ministry of Christ", taking as her text Isaiah 61:1-3.

"Christ came to preach the gospel to the poor; to proclaim liberty to the captives of sin; to give the oil of joy for the morning and the garment of praise for the spirit of happiness. Christ proclaimed the acceptable year of the Lord and the day of vengeance of our God", said Mrs. Kellner, "And now we are living in a period of time when we may be accepted with God, but soon the day of judgement will come, when it will be too late".

This evening Rev. M. R. Searles of Beaver Falls will deliver the sermon. He will be accompanied by a delegation from his church.

Love Changed To Violent Hatred

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The advent of a 16-year-old cousin from a small Pennsylvania town changed her husband's love to violent hatred, Mrs. Herbert E. C. Johnson charges in a suit for divorce on file in Bronx county supreme court today.

After Alice Lunn arrived from Nanty Glo, Pa., Johnson, manifested undue affection for the girl and attempted to strangle his wife when she remonstrated with him, the complainant alleges.

Player Who Hit Ball Causing Boner By Merkle Is Now Mid-West Sheriff

By MURRAY POWERS
ntral Press Sport Correspondent

PORTSMOUTH, O. Aug. 13.—Grim-faced, keen-eyed Sheriff Al Bridwell sits in his office these sweltering baseball days and directs the policing of Scioto county. He's the kind of a sheriff they call "two-gun" man.

His eyes are narrowed like the eyes of a man who has played in thousands of ball games in bright sunlight. His jaw has the aggressive firmness of a fighting diamond athlete. His wrists are strong and powerful like those of a .300 hitter.

Come on, we've given you enough hints. Don't you know this man?

He's Al Bridwell, late of the New York Giants, Boston Braves, Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Federal League club.

It was Al Bridwell who made the hit that rocked a baseball world. The ball that left his bat on a certain hot September afternoon in 1908 became a bomb, the explosion of which precipitated a great baseball storm, a controversy over which old fans still argue.

Bridwell, playing short for the Giants, made the hit which resulted in the now historic Fred Merkle boner.

Let's repeat the incident, familiar to many though it is:

It was the last half of the ninth inning of a game between the Giants and the Cubs, at the Polo grounds, who were battling for the National League pennant. The score was tied. The Giants were at bat. Harry McCormick was on third, Merkle on first. Two men were out. A hit would win the game for the McGrawmen. They got the hit—but they didn't win.

Bridwell came to bat. He hit a sizzling single to center and McCormick raced in with what should have been the winning run. Merkle dashing for second, saw Harry cross the plate and, knowing the game was won, stopped short, turned and galloped for the clubhouse.

Realizing the rules of the game forced Merkle to reach second in safety before the hit could be officially that and not a force-out, Johnny Evers, shrewd Chicago infielder, screamed for the ball, grabbed it and tagged second. Umpire Hank O'Day ruled Merkle was out and the McCormick run did not count. He ordered play resumed.

But the fans had overrun the field and play had to stop. League President Harry Pulliam ordered the game played over, despite protest of the Giants. The Cubs won the play-off and the pennant.

Bridwell alone of all the actors in that baseball drama seems to have become forgotten by the fans. His whereabouts was not generally known until a General Press writer discovered him laying down the law here in Scioto.

From New York in 1912 Bridwell went to the Braves. When an accident put him on the sick list he was traded to the Cubs. He left Chicago for the St. Louis Feds. When the outlaw league blew up, Al went to the Atlanta Southern League club.

The war years found Bridwell doing his bit in a steel plant. In 1919 he returned to baseball, managing the Houston, Texas League, club. He piloted the Rocky Mount, Virginia League club the next year and spent another season piloting the Spartansburg, Sally League, outfit. The next two years found him handling semi-pro nines in New York and Pennsylvania.

Feeling his baseball days were definitely ended after 23 years as player and manager, Bridwell got a job in the checking department of a steel plant. When the opportunity arose he became a member of

Al Bridwell

Sheriff M. J. Caldwell's staff of deputies.

After serving nearly three years as deputy he was raised to the post of sheriff when Caldwell resigned. He has been running that job since.

It's a man-size job being sheriff of any county, but once in a while Al takes time off to wonder what he would have done with that world series money if Merkle had continued on to second and his, Bridwell's, hit had counted.

Carnera's Lawyers Are Hard At Work

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—Primo Carnera's lawyers will try to force the hand of Madison Square Garden today by insisting that the corporation name a definite date and place for the proposed bout between Bootsie and Max Schmeling.

Federal Judge Knox, in setting aside Jimmy Johnston's right to put Carnera and Jack Sharkey into the ring, asked that the Garden put up $60,000 to go as balm for Bootsie's injured feelings should they fail to produce Schmeling.

The original bargain said that the date and place must be named 90 days after September 15.

Pirates-Giants Divide Battles

MELVIN OTT HITS THREE HOME RUNS

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK CITY, Aug. 13.—The Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants divided a double bill here yesterday afternoon. The Pirates took the first game 6 to 4 and the Giants won the second game 9 to 0. Kremer hurled the first game for the Pirates and allowed nine hits but kept them scattered. Grantham and Suhr aided the Pirates with a flock of hits.

In the second game the Pirates were helpless before the left-handed shoots of Walker and had but three hits. Melvin Ott was the slugger of the two games with three home runs, two of them in the first game and one in the second, and he also had a double. Meine and Swetonic pitched for the Pirates in the nightcap.

Ryantown-Grays To Play Tonight

One of the best games of the season is anticipated tonight on the Ryantown field when the New Castle Grays meets the strong Ryantown nine. The game starts at 6:30 o'clock.

Keen rivalry exists between the two aggregations. This is the first of a series of games.

NINE TIGERS WIN

The Nine Tigers baseball team defeated the Polish A. C. 6 to 1, in a game at Glasser Field. The game was a pitchers' battle between Wish and Sanders. Sanders fanning ten men was the feature player of the battle.

DIAMOND A. C. WIN

The Diamond A. C. took a forfeit game from the Austins last night at Castle Field, when the Austins refused to complete the game. Paul Griffiths hurled a fine game for the Diamond A. C., and deserved a victory. J. Rice, F. Rice, and Nolte played good baseball.

SURPRISE HORSE TRAINS TO REPEAT

Jim Dandy, famed "surprise horse" of the 1930 racing season, poses at Saratoga, N. Y., track, with Owner J. B. McKee who has the thoroughbred in training for, perhaps, more surprise feats. Pitted against famed Gallant Fox and Whichone in the Travers Stakes last season, Jim Dandy astounded the turf world by soundly beating the great pair. Odds on him were 100 to one.

Marcellas Play Ellwood Saturday

Local Soft Ball Artists Travel To Ellwood City For Contest

With 27 victories in the ledger the Marcella mushball team will try to extend its winning list on Saturday afternoon when the local soft ball team travels to Ellwood City where it encounters the strong Ellwood City Gables on the Lincoln field.

This game is being played as a feature attraction in connection with an Italian celebration now taking place in the Tube City. Both teams are bitter rivals, no matter what sport it is. In football these two teams played a 7-7 tie. Ellwood City won in basketball, 26-15.

The best mushball team will now be discovered. Fred Marcella of the Marcellas stated this morning that he has signed Ted Turco and Tony Genock. On Friday on the Washington field the Marcellas meet the News Slugs in a league game. Both teams are deadlocked for first place.

Boy Scout News

Troop No. 17

Members of the First Presbyterian Church Boy Scout Troop No. 17 will meet at the church on Friday evening, August 14th, 1931 at 7:30 o'clock. Scoutmaster Ed. Schmid will be in charge of the meeting. This is the first regular weekly meeting of the Fall and all members are requested to be present to help plan the Fall activities of the troop.

Troop No. 6

The regular weekly meetings of Croton M. E. Church Boy Scout Troop No. 6 will start Friday evening, August 14th, at 7:30 in the church. Scoutmaster George McCracken and his assistants will be in charge of the meeting. A corn roast will be the featured event of the meeting. Plans for the troop's fall activities will be made and all scouts are requested to be present.

When the North Carolina American Legion convention was held recently, the state lined up solidly behind Stevens. He is married, 25 years old, and served in France with the 318th machine gun battalion of the 81st Division.

Marcellas Win Over Gordons, 7-6

Isabella's home run with Turco on base in the tenth inning resulted in a 7-6 victory for the Marcella mushball team over the strong Gordon A. C. at Taggart field on Wednesday.

The victory was No. 27 of the present season for the South Siders. In the eighth frame the Marcellas crossed the plate for one run to tie the count. Louis Pascarella and Isabella proved the outstanding performers for the winners while Dout, Magewski and Nicholson were the best for the Gordons.

Molesworth Wins Municipal Title

R. W. Molesworth Defeats A. Vitto 2 Up For Class A July Championship Flight

FINE SCORES ARE MADE IN TOURNEY

R. W. Molesworth is the class A champion at the Municipal course for the July elimination flight. Molesworth went out yesterday afternoon and shot a brilliant 79 for 18 holes to be 2 up on A. Vitto, who recorded an 87.

The match was a good one. A gallery of several hundred followed the match. Molesworth shot his best round on the homeward nine, taking 28 strokes against 44 for his opponent. Both men again had tough luck on the tricky No. 11 hole. There were very few birdies recorded.

Eight Receive Prizes.

The following will receive prizes donated by Reynolds, Summers & McCann for their efforts in the tourney: First prizes, R. W. Molesworth, class A champion, and Dave Leonardson, class B champion, second prizes, A. Vitto in class A and Phil Colaluca in class B, third prizes, Hackett Kennedy in class A and W. Genkinger in class B, fourth prizes, Tucker Nolan and class A and Dr. W. V. Massaro in class B.

Walter "Hub" Hart, manager of the Municipal course, and Mose Mancine, caddy-master, had charge of the tournament, which was most successful.

Cuban President Leaves Havana On Unannounced Trip

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Aug. 13. — President Gerardo Machado, whose regime is threatened by a revolt of increasing seriousness, left Havana unexpectedly today for an unknown destination.

The chief executive travelled in his private railway car "Yosemite," guarded by a detachment of forty picked soldiers.

Ready for Ring Comeback

All set to answer the gong again after six years' absence from the ring, Benny Leonard, who retired undefeated lightweight champion of the world, is pictured above at Stillman's gym in New York where he has been quietly getting into condition for a come-back. The lure of the ring has been too much for Leonard, regarded as the greatest boxer of his weight in the history of pugilism, and under the banner of the astute Jack Kearns he will make his reappearance on the resined canvass in a short time to go after the welter, middle and light heavyweight titles.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Oils Advance As Railroads Slump

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—With the exception of a small number of the Rails and Specialties, the active stocks pushed ahead to slightly higher prices in a dull and featureless market this morning, the Oils responded with higher prices to the adoption by the Texas legislature of the Governor's Crude Oil production measure, which is expected to stop the wasteful flow of oil from the new wells. Steel and Electrical stocks regained a good portion of yesterday's closing declines.

Cotton rose $2 a bale in Liverpool and $1.25 in New York in response to the farm board's proposal for ploughing in of 4,000,000 bales of Cotton on the southern fields and the with-holding of 3,000,000 bales more from the 1931 market. Wheat, Corn and other commodities were under moderate selling pressure.

New York Central led the reaction in the rails, and lost about 2 points at 69¾. The first half-year's report showed a net income of only 90 cents a share for the stock of the road, against $4.63 in the same period last year. Atchison, Union Pacific and other leading rails dropped off a point on the average.

The active oils advanced nearly a point on the average, following reports of the posting of higher prices for Crude Oil in East Texas. The new Socony-Vacuum reached its record high at 18⅞, as Standard of New Jersey rose a point to 38½. Radio was a leader in the low-priced specialties and sold in good volume above 19¼. Underwood Elliot Fisher advanced 3 points to 43 in anticipation of favorable dividend news and U. S. Steel sold up more than a point at 88⅞. All sections of the Industrial and Utility stocks were firm but quiet as the noon period approached, but railroad bonds continued to sag.

PLAYS FIRST WOMAN PRESIDENT

Mary Young

In a new play which is aimed to aid the furtherance of the peace movement, Mary Young, Broadway star, plays the part of the first woman president of the United States. The play, "The Woman of Destiny," is to be presented for the first time the latter part of August at Provincetown, Mass. It is said to interest, also, leading protagonists for getting women into high office.

tents had but recently been poured out. A quart bottle of a liquid used in thinning the cement, and highly inflammable, was also found. Indications were that this material had been scattered over the cement.

Ignites Quickly

It is said that when this cement and thinner are poured out of the containers fumes are generated, and that these are quickly set off by a match or fire. The rooms indicated that they had been filled with the fumes when the explosion occurred, as the paper was charred and the rooms were blackened. There were two beds in one room and one in another, but the bedclothing did not catch fire. The fire seemed to have been around the woodwork of the stairway.

In the dining room there was an electric iron. This iron was sitting on a table and was attached to an electric light above. The iron was hot when the firemen arrived, indicating that the electricity had been turned on. It is believed that the man, whose evident intention was to fire the house, had turned on the electricity, expecting the iron to get hot and cause an explosion after he had left the house. Just what did cause the explosion is not known. It is surmised that the man may have struck a match after saturating the rooms, not realizing that the fumes would rise so rapidly.

Not Killed Instantly.

The man does not appear to have been killed instantly. Indications were that he must have been in the stairway or near the stairway door in the dining room when the explosion occurred. This theory is borne out by the fact that the couch on which he was found, was not singed.

While the investigation was in progress Chief Lynn picked up $22.10 on the floor. Part of this money was found in the dining room. There was a $10 bill in one place, two $5 bills in another, two $1 bills and 10 cents in another, all in different places. The paper money was singed but held together. Whether it was blown out of the man's pocket, or whether he had it in his hand at the time of the explosion, is not known. Near a front window of the living room there was found a bundle of men's clothing, tied with a rope. The man's cap, light gray, was also found near the window. It is supposed that following the explosion he ran into the front room, approached the window, turned and slumped down on the sofa.

Wrong Identification.

The house in which the fire occurred belongs to Dominick Pagley of Montgomery avenue. Mr. Pagley has a shoe shop on North Mill street. Until last spring Dominick lived with his father, Louis Pagley, in the house. His uncle, Harry Pagley, also lived with them. Last spring Dominick got married and left. Louis Pagley went to the old country recently. Harry Pagley had been living in the house alone and taking care of it for the past month.

When Dominick Pagley arrived at the scene of the fire last night someone said to him that his uncle Harry had been burned alive. Dominick looked at the body and believed it to be that of his uncle. The face was burned black, and the features could not be readily distinguished. Others who saw the body believed it to be that of Harry Pagley and when the body was taken to the Rice morgue it was still believed to be that of Harry Pagley.

This morning when Coroner Caldwell came down to continue his investigation of the case he stopped at the shop of Dominick Pagley, who informed him that his uncle, Harry, had not been burned to death, but had come to his shop this morning. While they were talking Harry put in an appearance. He told the coroner that he had been at the shop of Dominick about 6 o'clock last night. From there he had gone to the home of Jim Petrucci on the south side. Later he had gone to the home of Felix Pagley, where he had stayed all night. Dominick also stated that Harry had been at his shop last night.

Authorities Notified.

Coroner Caldwell notified Sheriff Johnston and County Detective Lee, who with the police began work on the case. They brought Jim Petrucci to the mayor's office and questioned him. He bore out Pagley's story. Dominick Pagley and Harry Pagley were also questioned.

Both were taken to the morgue, but could not identify the body. A number of others also failed. There were still some shreds of clothing on the body and upon tearing them off a bank book and a card of a Pittsburgh attorney was found. The bank book was on the Peoples' National Bank of Rochester, Pa. It was made out in the name of Elizabeth Spagnola, in trust for Mabel Farina. A deposit of $5 had been made on it yesterday.

Coroner Caldwell called up the bank and learned that a man, answering the description of the man who was burned, had deposited $5 yesterday. The bank authorities did not know him, but they knew Elizabeth Spagnola and Miss Mabel Farina. The latter, they said, is a sister of the former.

Go For Miss Farina

Chief of Police C. C. Horner then called up the chief of police at Rochester, and made arrangements for him to locate the address of the young woman.

Sheriff Frank Johnston and County Detective Lee then left for Rochester with the intention of getting the young woman, and bringing her here to see if she can identify the dead man.

The dead man wore a soft, light shirt, blue and red tie, tan colored suit, black Oxford shoes. He had a white gold watch and wore a ring with a ruby setting.

A significant feature of his clothing was the fact that his hands have been covered with rubber gloves, which were partially burned off.

He appeared to be about 35 years of age, hair slightly tinged with gray, and would weigh about 165 pounds.

Damage to the house and contents has not yet been determined. It is said that house and furniture were insured.

Dominick Pagley says that the cans of cement found had been in the house for a long time, as it it used in the shoe repair business in which the Pagley's are engaged.

Authorities are endeavoring to find a clue or motive for the burning of the house.

Oscar Wilde says that a cynic is one who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing.

REMOTE CHANCE FLIERS ARE ALIVE

(International News Service)

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 13.—Although virtually without hope of success, Danish ships and airplanes were still searching for Parker Cramer, American transatlantic flyer, and his Canadian radio operator, today.

The steamer Island Falk and two seaplanes were combing the coast of Jutland in the hope of finding the missing plane in some remote cove. Other steamers on the lookout for the airmen in the North Sea and along the Norwegian coast failed to locate them.

NEGRO AND FORMER CONVICT HELD FOR "TORCH" MURDERS

slowly but surely toward a solution of the atrocious crime.

Nine new suspects were arrested today in the now nation-wide manhunt for the "sex slayers."

Four Are Vagrants

Four of the new suspects are vagrants arrested in Cleveland. One of them possessed a road map with an "X" marking the spot where the gruesome cremation of the bodies occurred according to Ohio police. Two negroes were taken into custody at Toledo and a seventh man was arrested at Ypsilanti, not five miles from the murder scene. The latter is a negro.

The owner of the death weapon, according to Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, in charge of the mobilized forces of the law, is a former inmate of the Michigan state prison and a neighbor of Young Lore. His name is known and police have broadcast his description over the radio and every available police channel.

Revolver is Found

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 13—The revolver with which one of the four victims of the sorbid Washtenaw County "Torch" murders was killed is in the possession of police, it was revealed for the first time here today. Authorities declared that the owner of the gun is known and that his arrest and the subsequent solution to the gruesome killings is only a matter of hours.

The weapon, a 38 caliber Ivor-Johnson, was the same weapon which the "sex slayers" used to snuff out the life of young Harry Lore when the high school boy attempted to protect his pretty girl companions from assault, according to ballistic experts.

One Youth Shot

Lore was the only one of the party of four shot. The others, Thos. Wheatley, 16, Vivian Gold 15, and Anna May Harrison 17, were beaten to death with heavy clubs before all of their bodies were soaked in gasoline and set afire in their parked sedan on a lonely "lover's" lane near here.

With the finding of the rusted and antiquated revolver, medical authorities at the University of Michigan announced that they would use X-rays to search for more bullets in the mutilated bodies of the four youngsters. The gun had been fired several times police said. Only 2 bullets were found in Lore's body and the possibility loomed that the others may also have been shot. Cremation of the bodies erased any outward signs of bullet wounds.

Stranger Hunted

Meanwhile the intense police hunt by the mobilized forces of the state police and two counties was directed at the "ragged and unkempt" stranger who was seen with the little party of four a short time before the blazing sedan with its ghastly human freight was found.

Confirmation of the "last supper" story told by Norman England, a young waiter at a Milan, Michigan, restaurant, was given today by Thos. Goodrich, night marshall at the little town. Goodrich said that he too had witnessed the entrance of the two girls and their boy friends into the restaurant. They were accompanied by a "tall dark and stooped-shouldered" stranger, he said.

Arrest Expected

Ann Arbor, Mich, Aug. 13—Michigan's law enforcement agencies, spurred on by new clues, continued their concerted drive today to solve the torch murder of two Ypsilanti high school boys and their companions.

That an "important arrest" was expected momentarily was the statement of Sheriff Jacob Andres.

This arrest, he said, would be the ragged, mysterious "fifth guest" on the theater party which early Tuesday ended in horrible death for the young couples.

Another arrest promised by the sheriff was that of Jackson Keene, brother of Paul and Lawrence Keene, who are held on suspicion. The brothers in custody were apprehended at their shanty which is not far from the place where the murder victims were found.

In compliance with an order by Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, Attorney General Paul Voorhies was here today to aid in the investigation.

All resources of the state were pledged by Voorhies, who placed the case under the jurisdiction of Wayne county, where, on a lonely "lovers' lane" the bodies of the youths and their companions were discovered in a blazing automobile.

Ford Sends Men

Henry Ford showed his interest in running down the murderer when he sent Harry Bennett, his chief investigator, and five aides to Ann Arbor to assist the state authorities.

One hundred state troopers were today seeking two young men who drove up to a gasoline station near the murder scene shortly after the crime had been committed.

Martin Swetlick, attendant at the station, said they had been "in a great hurry". He said one of the men was stocky, the other tall, and that both were about 25.

The ragged "fifth guest" who was with the murder victims—Harry Lore, 16; Thomas Wheatley, 17; Anna Mae Harrison, 17, and Vivian Gold, 17—when they stopped at a restaurant near Milan, Mich., was described by Norman England, a waiter.

The stranger, whose arrest is anticipated, was a big fellow, England said, who wore a gray cap and sweater and talked mostly to Lore. The party ate in the restaurant less than three hours before the blazing car was discovered.

Purse Is Found

This man was described as the "key" to the mystery by Sheriff Andres.

Another development yesterday was the finding of a blood-spattered white purse six miles from the scene of the slayings, at a place in vogue for "petting parties".

Discovery of the purse caused authorities to believe the victims were murdered at that spot and that the bodies were subsequently transferred to the place where they were cremated in the blazing automobile.

A wrist watch which belonged to Vivian Gold was being sought. It evidently had been torn from her wrist after she was killed.

Cleveland Police Active

Cleveland, O., Aug. 13.—Police of this city today entered the probe into the "torch" murder of two Cleveland girls and their companions at Ypsilanti, Mich., with the arrest of a suspect who was picked up here on vagrancy charges.

The man, who had been hitchhiking on a truck with five other men, had in his possession a road map on which Ypsilanti and the road where the bodies were found was marked with an "X", police said.

The suspect answered all questions asked him except those in which the murders were mentioned, according to authorities. Five companions of the man told police they had just arrived here from Michigan when an officer stopped the truck.

cilman Clayton Reeves and adopted unanimously.

When the representatives convened in city hall J. K. McQuiddy acted as spokesman for the Trades and Labor assembly and the Building council. He said his committee desired to meet with the city and council officials to find out if another committee, similar to the Mayor's Relief committee of last winter could not be appointed and form plans for operation.

McQuiddy declared unemployment has increased. He said more men are idle in June than in January. He said he feared the situation this winter would be worse than last winter. He said the time has arrived for the formation of a committee which could devise ways and means of furnishing relief to the needy.

He spoke of the questionairre filled out by the unemployed last winter. He said the question "Are you a taxpayer?" should be included, if another questionairre is issued. He maintained that a taxpayer should be given first relief. He said that Americans, native or naturalized should be given preference by the committee.

Favor Same Plan

Councilman Louis Genkinger declared there should be a centralized welfare bureau to prevent overlapping as much as possible. He said there are people who are in need who will not ask for it owing to pride.

Mayor Gillespie said the mayor's relief committee did good work while the body operated. He also stated he recently had met with the Community chest officials and suggested one body handle the relief.

The mayor said that before the mayor's relief committee's work was ended a central clearing house had been established and Orville Potter, one of the officials told of relief furnished by the body.

He said he could not offer any plans better than the one which was followed by the committee. He said it was difficult to get the right people to conduct investigations.

He alleged there had been a lack of co-operation on the part of some welfare organizations. He expressed the opinion that the community chest should co-operate locally to aid charity.

Potter said individual giving should not be discouraged. He mentioned that farmers had offered to donate wheat, then added that milk prices here were higher than elsewhere.

P. O. Elder, county commissioner, suggested that wheat be bought.

M. B. Hogue, welfare director for the county of Lawrence, told the body that he receives daily 100 requests for aid. He said 60 per cent of the 100 requests come from residents of New Castle.

Too Many Organizations

It was stated that approximately $4,000 was expended by the mayor's committee for relief last winter.

McQuiddy praised the mayor's relief committee, stating it had been fair and had done good work.

Mayor Gillespie said that he believed there are too many organizations handling relief and Councilman Genkinger said, "there are too many fingers in the pie."

Councilman Genkinger recited statistics to the effect that in an investigation in New York it was found only 15 per cent of money collected or subscribed had gone to charity.

Councilman Reeves remarked that in the city of Baltimore the relaying of city employes is being advocated. He said the proposed plan is to have one employe lay off a day a month and an unemployed man do his work.

"Why not get the representatives of all the organizations and the officials of the community chest to meet with us here?" asked Genkinger.

The amounts several organizations received from the community chest were discussed.

Mayor Gillespie said that he had told the community chest that if the chest took over the care of the needy the subscriptions would be larger.

Councilman Genkinger followed with a motion directing the mayor to invite all of the welfare organizations and the community chest to send representatives to meet with the men who discussed relief today.

LARGE NUMBER DOG LICENSES ISSUED

County Treasurer Adda M. Smiley today announced that 3111 dog licenses have been issued up to date. This is greater than the number issued at the same time last year but there are still many dogs in the county for which licenses should be secured.

Woman Who Said She Was Trapped In Fire Is Held

Mother Of Two Children Held For Arson By State Police

On April 1, Mrs. Taman Nahas, a Syrian, told a reporter how she was trapped in a smoke-filled second floor room at 512 East Division street at 2 a. m., and while flames roared thru downstairs rooms grasped her two slumbering children and forced them out of a front window while she screamed for help.

Today Mrs. Nahas is free on $2,500 bond presented before Judge Hildebrand to await the September term of court where she will be tried on charges of arson and burning to defraud.

She was arrested by local authorities and William R. Brush, fire marshall of the State Police, who led an investigation into the fire, following the reports of firemen who responded to the blaze that morning that a trunk full of oily clothes had been found in the fire.

The women was given a hearing before a local alderman yesterday. Assistant Fire Chief Stockman, State Policeman Brush and neighbors of the Nahas family on East Division street at the time of the fire, Olga and Anna Zamballi, testified.

At the time of the fire, according to Mrs. Nahas' statement when she was found at the home of a sister, Mrs. Wadie G. Siyufy, 715 Cunningham avenue, Mr. Nahas was in Pittsburgh. The home was completely destroyed, the damage loss at the time being estimated at $3,000 by firemen.

Investigation into the incendiary origin of the blaze was made by local State Policeman Anthony J. Richards, assisted by County Detective Lee. Officer Brush was later sent here to complete the case against the woman.

Officer Brush testified at the hearing on the insurance carried by the Nahases.

BY JAMES ASWELL

Central Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Flashing down Ninth Avenue last night in a taxi, I glanced at a newly-excavated pit close to Forty-fourth Street—and I realized, with a pang, that Joe was gone.

Joe used to come every Summer and erect his tents in the one vacant lot of the neighborhood. He was a circus man of his own, with fine contempt for such outfits as the combined Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey troupe.

"Why those guys are crazy," he used to say, "to bring a show to town so early in the Spring. Summer is the time—midsummer, I always say."

He had a ferris wheel—midget style—and a merry-go-round; a freak show and plenty of booths for playing games. His crowd was various—some with striped sweaters from Hell's Kitchen, downtown, some with top hats wandered over from the bright-light district. Joe had the best time of them all.

IDEA.

Two nights ago, in the middle of Broadway, I looked up and saw something. Which is unusual, in that flower garden of mad blooms. It was a name—ambling slowly across the 20-foot-high moving sign of the Capitol Theatre. What the name was doesn't matter. Just a name; and that's the point.

The Capitol, in picking names at random from the telephone directory and flashing them for all Broadway to see, has hit upon a very shrewd psychological fact: the deep and poignant yearning of the rank and file, all the Joe Zilches and the Sadie Schlitzes, to see their name in type or, glory of glories, in electric lights on Broadway.

Each night the big sign pages some New Yorker. The person named becomes the Capitol's "guest of the day."

COALS TO NEWCASTLE.

From the time the King and Queen of Siam let it be known that they were ready to give New York the once over, they were besieged by press-agents. Wrestling-match promoters vied with the authorities at Coney Island for the royal pair's attendance. They were invited to theatres, steamships, factories, movie studios, skyscrapers and hotels.

But of the deluge of invitations which descended upon the King, one I am told, captured his interest more than any other—though he found it necessary to decline. The manager of a theatre in White Plains, N. Y., sent a telegram urging the King to come and take a look at the Hilton Sisters, Siamese twins!

AROUND THE WHEEL.

Let this man's name go unmentioned. If you insist, you may have it for a two-cent stamp; but guessing isn't hard.

He started all this current "master-of-ceremonies" craze in the movie palaces. He was first to lift the orchestra from pit to stage. He ran his salary up to $5,000 weekly in the process.

Now this Romeo of the morning matinees, this wow of the night performances, is breaking in a vaudeville act on the "subway" circuit near New York. There are twelve people in his act and the total salaries don't top $1,800.

W. E. Gentzler, secretary of appointments at Columbia University's employment bureau, had a word to say the other morning about the fate of the college man in these times.

What jobs did he get for freshfaced youngsters clutching their sheepskins and faring forth?

"Oh, many kinds. I have placed 6,000 altogether this year. Life guards, hotel clerks, bus drivers, train butchers, soda jerkers, telephone operators and elevator starters are among them.

"The boys seem content nowadays to take jobs with a future at small pay, rather than seek quick money returns. That is a health sign."

All of which leaves me rather confused. To what is a soda jerker or an elevator starter promoted after a year of faithful service?

But Mr. Gentzler adds that he has also secured positions as psychologists, musicians, tutors for tired business men who want culture in whacking doses, bridge partners on yachts (now there's a position for you!) and translators.

Polish Consulate At Pittsburgh Is Under Protection

Polish Consulate Is Only Few Blocks Away From Bombed Italian Consulate

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13.—City detectives today were ordered to maintain a 24-hour guard at the home of the Polish consul here in anticipation of a possible continuance of the bombing activities which yesterday wrecked the Italian consulate.

Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh ordered the guard following a request from Consul A. M. Ocetkiewicz.

The Polish consulate is only a few blocks distant from the Italian quarters.

"I have received no threats," the Polish consul declared, "but, whenever an incident like that of yesterday occurs it is simply a routine duty of the consul to ask the police to act."

Mrs. Olive Kellner Speaks At Tent

Beaver Falls Minister Will Be The Guest Speaker In The Tent At Tonight's Service

A splendid crowd filled the gospel tent of the First Pentecostal church at the corner of Mill and Friendship streets Wednesday evening when Mrs. Olive Kellner, wife of the pastor, addressed them on "The Ministry of Christ", taking as her text Isaiah 61:1-3.

"Christ came to preach the gospel to the poor; to proclaim liberty to the captives of sin, to give the oil of joy for the morning and the garment of praise for the spirit of happiness. Christ proclaimed the acceptable year of the Lord and the day of vengeance of our God", said Mrs. Kellner, "And now we are living in a period of time when we may be accepted with God, but soon the day of judgement will come, when it will be too late".

This evening Rev. M. R. Searles of Beaver Falls will deliver the sermon. He will be accompanied by a delegation from his church.

Love Changed To Violent Hatred

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The advent of a 16-year-old cousin from a small Pennsylvania town changed her husband's love to violent hatred, Mrs. Herbert E. C. Johnson charges in a suit for divorce on file in Bronx county supreme court today.

After Alice Lunn arrived from Nanty Glo, Pa., Johnson, manifested undue affection for the girl and attempted to strangle his wife when she remonstrated with him, the complainant alleges.
